

INFLUENZA LEAVES THE BLOOD THIN, THE NERVES WEAK

The Danger From the Disease is Seldom Over When the Acute Stage is Passed—Tonic Treatment Strongly Recommended.

Doctors have agreed that Spanish influenza is really a severe form of the grippe which became known in this country a number of years ago under the French name of "la grippe" and which has been epidemic several times since.

The danger from grippe is seldom over when the characteristic symptoms, the fever, the catarrh, the headache and the depression of spirits pass away. The grippe leaves behind it weakened vital powers, thin blood, impaired digestion and oversensitive nerves—a condition that makes the system an easy prey to pneumonia, bronchitis, rheumatism, nervous prostration and even consumption. Too much stress cannot be laid on the importance of strengthening the blood and nerves during convalescence. Until the blood is built up there can be no complete recovery of strength and health.

COULD HARDLY CRAWL ABOUT

Among the many victims of la grippe who proclaim the value of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills is Mr. Amos Kaulback, of Petite Riviere, N. S., who says:—I was taken down with a severe attack of la grippe, or influenza. After a time the early symptoms of the trouble left me, but I did not regain my usual strength, and I had always been a strong man. There were times when I felt I could hardly crawl about, and I was so run down I could scarcely go about my business. I continued taking medicine but it did me no good. Then I found the trouble was affecting my digestion and the disagreeable feeling from this added to my general misery. I was finally advised to take Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I decided to try them. I had only been taking the pills a few weeks when I found my strength returning, my appetite improved, and still continuing the use of the pills a few weeks more found me restored to my old-time vigor. I can most strongly recommend Dr. Williams' Pink Pills to all who have passed through an attack of influenza, as a safe medicine for renewing their strength.

REGAINED FLESH AND STRENGTH
To rebuild the blood, to strengthen the weakened nerves and to get back the lost flesh and strength is the problem of the victim of an attack of influenza. How Mr. Charles Darling of No. 14 Week Street, Bath, Me., accomplished his is best told in his own words.

"My doctor treated me successfully for the grippe," he says, "but he did not seem to help the after-effects of the disease. I had headaches nearly all the time, my strength was nearly spent and I often had to lie down and rest. I was pale and lost in weight and had a dull languid feeling most of the time. My blood was very thin and poor and my stomach troubled me.

"One day I got a box of Dr. Williams' Pink Pills at the drug store and after taking them for about a week I noticed my health was better. My headache was relieved and I was getting stronger. I continued their use and have a better appetite and can eat anything I want. I no longer have that tired feeling, my color is normal and I am gaining in flesh."

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills for Pale People contain just the elements needed to build up the blood and restore the lost color and vitality. New energy circulates through the system with the enriched blood, the heart stops its alarming palpitating, color returns to cheeks and lips. Nothing more is needed except sunlight, good air, proper food and rest.

WEAK AND RUN DOWN

Miss Irene Bootes, Portsmouth, Ont., says:—"I take much pleasure in recommending Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, because I have proved their worth in my own case. Last winter I had a severe attack of la grippe and it left me weak and all run down. I had severe pains in the chest and under the arms, palpitation of the heart and attacks of neuralgia which left me with the feeling that life was scarcely worth living. I was taking doctor's medicine, but it did not help me, and I was much discouraged. I was advised to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and began their use only on the principle that I would try anything that might better my condition. I had only been using the pills a couple of weeks when the pains began to leave me. Gradually my strength returned, my appetite improved, and in a little more than a month I felt my old-time vigor had returned. I am sincerely glad I was persuaded to try Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, and I shall always have a good word to say for them."

HELPED HIM WONDERFULLY

Following an attack of grippe, Mr. William Fielder, of No. 132 First street, Albany, N. Y., suffered from stomach trouble. He says:

"I was very much run down after having the grippe and lost both in weight and strength. My stomach was often sour and was very weak. A dull aching pain in the back of my head caused me much distress. An article in the paper brought my attention to Dr. Williams' Pink Pills and I gave them a trial. Before the first box was finished I felt stronger and kept on with the remedy. I am feeling good, and my stomach is as strong as it ever was. I have gained in weight and strength and no longer suffer from headaches. Dr. Williams' Pink Pills certainly helped me wonderfully and I am glad to recommend them."

GRIP VICTIMS NEED A TONIC

The debility that invariably follows the grippe is not a disease of any one organ. It is a general condition of unfitness. It must be met by a remedy whose good results will be quickly generalized throughout the entire system. In fact, it must be corrected by building up the blood which, when rich and red, carries renewed health and strength to every part of the body.

Dr. Williams' Pink Pills are a tonic, not a stimulant. They build up the blood and not only cure the disastrous after effects of grippe but are also a specific for all troubles due to poor blood, such as anaemia, rheumatism, indigestion, women's ailments, and the generally worn out feeling that affects so many people. You can get these pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

LIEUT. COL. W. A. BISHOP WAS THE GREATEST ACE OF THE WAR; BROUGHT DOWN 72 AIRCRAFT

"It will be news to many Canadians that the four greatest living war aces in the world are Canadians and that their combined record of air victories surpasses that of any four war pilots from any other country. This astonishing information is contained in the first of a series of articles by Major George A. Drew, "Canada's Fighting Airmen", which appears in the January 15 issue of MacLean's Magazine.

In support of his statement, Major Drew cites the official figures of the British, French, American and German authorities, as follows:

CANADIAN
Bishop 72
Collishaw 60
Barker 50
McLaren 48

GERMAN
Richthofen, Manfred 80
Richthofen, Lothar 40
Boeleke 40
Immelman 18

AMERICAN
Rickenbacker 21
Lufberry 17
Vaughn 12
Springs 12

FRENCH
Guynemeyer 53
Navarre 53
Nungesser 53
Fonck 53

Except in the case of Guynemeyer, the French official figures are not available, but as Guynemeyer was the leading French ace, the result of the comparison is not in doubt.

At the end of the war, continues Major Drew, there were more than 30,000 officers in the Royal Flying Corps, and of this number more than one third were Canadians.

A Canadian Ace.

Outstanding among the Canadians, and in fact, outstanding among all the Allied airmen, was Lieutenant-Colonel W. A. Bishop, V. C., D. S. O., and Bar M. C., D. F. C., Chevalier of the Legion of Honor, Croix de Guerre with Palm. Of him Major Drew says:

"Among the fighting airmen of the Allied armies Bishop stands supreme. There is no reason for false modesty about it. His official demonstrates this fact to all the world. It is something to be shouted from the housetops; not whispered quietly among ourselves. Perhaps the reason for our silence has been that Bishop is, fortunately, still very much alive. But surely death is not a condition of our honoring bravery. While Canadians of the post-war generation have been reading of the legendary air heroes of France and Germany—to say nothing of the United States they know little or nothing of our own.

"Bishop's record of seventy-two victories stands well above that of any other Allied airman. Who is there to question it? Ball, the greatest English pilot was killed by Lothar von Richthofen just after his record had passed the fifty mark. Guynemeyer, the French ace of aces, whose name is engraved on the walls of the Pantheon and in the hearts of most living Frenchmen, met his death when his victories had reached fifty-three. Rickenbacker, the leading American, had twenty-one.

"Nor was it in total victories alone that Bishop was their superior. On May 25, 1917, Guynemeyer destroyed four machines. In the course of a valdictory delivered after the airman's death, Paul Deschanel, afterwards President of France, in speaking of this event said: 'He surpassed himself and achieved the most memorable of his many victories. He destroyed four of the enemy battle-planes in a single day. This exploit unique in the annals of military aviation, won for him the officers' cross of the Legion of Honor.' Henri Bordeaux in 'Guynemeyer, King of the Air,' referring to the same event said: 'Could it be possible? Had Guynemeyer really succeeded four times? Four machines brought down in one day by one pilot was what no infantryman, gunner, pioneer, territorial, Annamite or Senegalese had ever seen.' Thus did the French regard Guynemeyer's achievement, and yet within a few months Bishop had not only equalled but surpassed this exploit by bringing down five German machines in a single day. "Bishop was far ahead of any American aviator, although his first fight as a pilot came just a few days before the United States declared war. In fact, his individual total of seventy-two is ten more than the combined total of the four leading Americans.

Germany's Red Knight.

"Only one man challenged Bishop's record and that was Baron Manfred von Richthofen, the Red Knight of Germany, with eighty victories officially recognized. He was the flower of the German flying corps, the idol of the whole nation and by long odds their greatest ace. Yet without in any way detracting from his record as a great fighter, a sportsman and a gentleman, it is necessary, if the facts are to be understood, to point out the vast difference in the circumstances under which he and Bishop fought. Whereas Richthofen scarcely ever fought alone, Bishop's greatest successes were achieved in solitary flights. Then, too, nearly all of the fighting during the time of Richthofen's and Bishop's activities was carried on well behind the German lines.

"This had two important effects. In the first place, there could not fail to be uncertainty at times as to which pilot had fired the fatal shots when a whole squadron attacked a single machine, pouring thousands of bullets from their twin Spandau guns. Where such doubt existed, it was only natural that the leader of the squadron should receive the credit, particularly when he was as famous as Richthofen had become. In the second place, the fact that nearly all the fighting took place behind the German lines had a very important bearing on the results.

If a British machine was forced down for any reason during a fight, it had little chance of reaching its own lines. If it landed in German territory it would be counted as a victory for the German officer engaged. A German machine might be forced to land under precisely similar circumstances, but when the fight had been over its own

Awful Pimples On Face and Neck For Four Years

Mrs. Mary Rail, Eganville, Ont., writes:—"I am writing to tell you that I suffered terribly with awful pimples, all over my face and neck, for four years. I had tried everything, but got no relief until one day a friend told me about and advised me to use it. I used four bottles and my face is now completely clear of pimples."

territory it would land well within its own lines. An examination of Richthofen's record shows several machines forced to land but not destroyed which were counted as victories. On the other hand, Bishop forced many German machines to land on their own side. These were not counted as victories."

ASPIRIN

The whole world knows Aspirin as an effective antidote for pain. But it's just as important to know that there is only one genuine Aspirin. The name Bayer is on every tablet, and on the box. If the name Bayer appears, it's genuine; and if it doesn't, it is not! Headaches are dispelled by Aspirin. So are colds, and the pain that goes with them; even neuralgia, neuritis, and rheumatism promptly relieved. Get Aspirin—at any drugstore—with proven directions.

Physicians prescribe Aspirin;
it does NOT affect the heart

Aspirin is the trade mark (registered in Canada) indicating Bayer Manufacture. While it is well known that Aspirin means Bayer manufacture, to assure the public against imitation, the Tablets will be stamped with their "Bayer Cross" trademark.
