TOOK GIRL IN AUTO FOR DEER

Portland, Me., Dec. 6 — Mrs. Raymond C. Burbank, aged twenty years, the bride of only a few months of a soldier at Camp Devens, Mass., was in a critical condition tonight at a hospital as the result of two bullet wounds she received late Friday when she was riding in an automobile with her husband and parents between Parsonsfield her home, and Springvale.

According to York county officers, a party of four hunters, one from Lynn, Mass., and three from Kennebunk, did the shooting supposing they were firing at a deer. Four shots were fired at the automobile, one penetrating Mrs. Burbank's right ankle and another entering her thigh. Mr. Burbank was hit in the ankle sustaining a slight flesh wound and another bullet struck the machine. Mr. Burbank returned to Camp Devens today.

The Kennebunk hunters told the officers that they started two deer near where the shooting was done and supposed they were firing at them. The wounds were inflicted by a .35 calibre rifle ball. There were two such rifles in the party one carried by a Kennebunk man and the other by the Lynn man. The Maine man denies that he fired at all. An officer will go to Lynn tomorrow to question the hunter in that city.

To The Electors Of York-Sunbury

I wish to state that I am strongly in favor of Canada doing all she possibly can to bring this war to a victorious end.

That I believe Canada's best effort calls for whole-hearted co-ordination of all our resources. Not life alone—make the rich men help too.

That the policy of Conscription of human life ONLY, which does not attempt to conscript wealth, resources or the services of any person other than those who come within the age limit, is manifestly unjust, and should not be enforced WITHOUT THE CONSENT OF THE PEOPLE.

It is no answer to say "We must have conscription or quit." Australia rejected conscription and Australia did not "quit," but has done, and is doing, MORE under the voluntary system than Canada has done, in proportion to population.

I advocate better treatment and better pay for our heroic soldiers. We should abolish party and graft in the army and pay the private at least an ordinary workman's pay, which would be $2.50 per day.

I believe the government should make adequate provision for the dependents of soldiers enlisted for overseas, as will remove the necessity for raising money by public subscription for their support, and prompt action taken to put the soldiers and their dependents beyond the possibility of want, after public subscriptions have ceased and the glamor and excitement of war have worn away.

The Government voted down a resolution to the above effect. The country has experienced a succession of waves of hysterical efforts, such as the Machine Gun Campaign, the Patriotic Fund Campaign and now the Conscription Issue.

Lloyd George recently said shipping was the most pressing need of the Allies.

The Allies are short 500,000,000 bushels of wheat and must get it from North America, which only normally exports 200,000,000 bushels.

I maintain the most efficient way to win the war is to give better treatment and a square deal to the soldiers and dependents and to co-operate intelligently with our Allies to the fullest extent possible in MEN and MONEY, FOOD and SHIPS, MUNITIONS and LABOR.

Upon these principles I ask your support.

Yours faithfully,

NELSON W. BROWN.

WHAT WE OWE TO SOLDIERS.

(London Daily Telegraph.)

The men who fought at Neuve Chapelle, at Loos, in Gallipoli, in Mesopotamia, at Salonika, and on the Somme and those who are now slowly clearing the Germans off the last ridges near Ypres, are of the same true brotherhood with the men who fought at Mons, at the Marne and on the Aisne. Shame on us if we allow any hardships that may fall upon us this coming winter to cause us to forget for an instant what we owe to them!

PLAYING POLITICS.

(Guelph Mercury.)

One reason for such a display of disloyalty as was manifest at the Premier's meeting on Saturday night is that until now both political parties have been playing for the pro-German vote. The movement has grown bolder as time went on. It should have been stamped out when it first showed its ugly head, by internment, imprisonment and every other means necessary to that end.

If you are discouraged by reading war news, take a look at a war map. That you will find confusing. It will convince you that the enemy will never be able to get anywhere through it.

War prevented the popularization of the bustle in France. And yet there are pacifists.

PARTIAL LIST OF VICTIMS OF HALIFAX DISASTER

Mamie Walsh, Campbell Road, missing; Frank Walsh, D.A.R., missing; Edna Walsh, missing; Mrs. Michael Ryan, Barrington street, missing; aCrman McCall, employee at drydock, missing; Frank Keating, employee at Pier 8, Richmond, and two colored children, Frank and Russell, 4 years and 13 months respectively, living at Needham street, missing; Mrs. Cornelius McTierney, East Young street, dead.

Old Rockhead.

Rockhead prison lost the roof from the main building but no one was seriously injured. There were some miraculous escapes as well as appalling disasters as is always the case at such times, but the pall that hangs over Halifax will not be lifted in many months. Every effort was soon bent to providing shelter and succor for the injured and homeless. Every available building was turned into a shelter house or hospital. The Academy of Music was one of the first big buildings to post the notice "Free Shelter Here." The headquarters of the terminals construction company and the big sheds on their piers were soon being hastily equipped for hospital purposes. Everywhere people whose homes were intact made room for those who had no homes and all day long the work of removing the dead and wounded went on. Hundreds of bodies lie in temporary morgues awaiting recognition and burial. Whole families are wiped out; parents are left childless and children have been made orphans.

Harrowing Tales.

All day and night the agonizing search for the missing went on. Rescuers tell harrowing tales of their experiences. Houses in most instances simply settled down, story on story, crushing everything into one awful mass. Though the inmates had been only on the second floor it was necessary to remove the wreckage layer by layer beginning at the roof and working down. One party of soldiers worked with almost superhuman strength and energy for an hour and a half to release a young girl pinned under such debris whose moans urged them to still greater efforts. Just as they lifted the last of the mass from her, her spirit fled and it was merely a body they lifted out. Passengers on the ferryboat near the Dartmouth side felt the concussion from the water even before it was felt in the air. Glass crashed in and passengers were cut and bruised. Reports say that not only were windows and doors in every part of the city shattered, but as far as Lawrencetown houses suffered severely. Dartmouth had perhaps fewer casualties than might have been expected, but there are enough to sadden the homes there.

Those who cannot find their loved ones in any of the hospitals are holding to the hope that their families may be among those who were put aboard the trains and carried to towns along the line, some going even as far as Truro. It has been impossible to get all the names of the missing. Families have been scattered and because of the lack of communication there is no immediate means of bringing the scattered families together. For that reason the civic authorities suggested through the press that anybody housing anyone separated from his or her family should give the name to the press. Such names will be published and the process of reunion thus greatly facilitated.

Cotton Mill Wrecked.

Mr. R. D. Smith, secretary of the Dominion Textile Company, reports the wreckage of the mill but no serious casualties among the employees, excepting possibly one young girl in the office who was very badly cut by

What is Crushed Coffee?

Briefly, Crushed Coffee is coffee that has had the beans crushed between steel rollers with just enough pressure exerted to break the beans into clean, even grains from which the bitter chaff and dust are easily separated by air suction—

Resulting in a coffee so pure that no egg is needed to settle it. Red Rose Coffee is as easy to make as Red Rose Tea, and its flavor, aroma and smoothness are a delight as compared with the ordinary ground coffees.

Sold only in double-sealed air-tight cans to keep it good.

The same price as it was three years ago.

THE AD. AND THE MAN.

By James J. Montague.

He saw the ad from day to day
And muttered: "I aery it;
The stuff may be just what they say,
But I'm not going to buy it."
As time wore on he made remarks
It would not do to mention,
For he was mad because that ad
Was forced on his attention.

But in a week, or two, or three,
He said: "There's no denying,
The way that ad gets hold of me,
The stuff may be worth trying."
For just about a fortnight more
He dared mere words to win him,
And then the ad completely had
Aroused the spender in him.

Next day he drifted in a store
And quietly expended
A few big iron dollars for
The stuff the ad commended.
He found it filled a long-felt need
Its excellence surprised him,
And now he's glad because the ad
So deftly hypnotized him.
