"REDEMPTION" AT THE GEM

The following words of praise and endorsement were spoken by Rev. T. B. Gregory of the film play "Redemption," being shown at the Gem Theatre today and tomorrow.

"Redemption," the photo-drama founded on the career of Evelyn Nesbit, is a beauty. I say this unhesitatingly—a beauty and a joy. I would not have missed it for a thousand dollars. It did me good through and through and all over. It was a feast for my eyes and a treat for my soul.

An honest confession is good for the soul, and I am going to confess right here that I have not entertained a very exalted opinion of Evelyn Nesbit, but after seeing her in those films I fairly loved her—loved her for what she had suffered and for the victory that she had won over the forces that had tried so hard and so persistently to drag her down to the bottom of the abyss.

You know, for one who has any decency in him at all, it is a joy to be forced to change his opinion for the better. It's a mighty mean, low down sort of man who enjoys thinking evil of people.

After seeing Julius Steger's picture-poem on the life of the once notorious little vaudeville dancing artist, I am free to confess that I admire her immensely, for her unconquerable womanliness, for her deathless mother-love, and for the brave way in which she fought her way up out of hell to the light and joy of the upper regions.

It does one good to see a production like "Redemption." The great majority of us are inclined to look too easily on the dark side. We lack faith in human goodness, in the indestructibility of the little spark in the ashes; and when ugly rumors concerning people come to us we exclaim far too quickly "I told you so."

"Redemption" is an illustration of the fact that things are never as bad as they might be.

Women Everywhere Use Lemon Juice To Beautify Skin

The beauty lotion which is becoming so popular throughout the country is easily prepared by anyone, and a whole quarter pint of it doesn't cost any more than a small jar of the common, ordinary cold creams.

Add the juice of two fresh lemons to three ounces of orchard white and shake well in a bottle. Strain the lemon juice two or three times through a fine cloth so no pulp gets into the lotion, then it will keep fresh for months. Regardless of what price you pay or how highly advertised, there is nothing else really more meritorious in beautifying, softening and clearing the skin. As a tan and blemish remover, also to remove oiliness and sallowness, lemon juice has no rival. Massage it into the face, neck, and arms once or twice each day, and just see if it doesn't bring out the roses and hidden beauty!

Lemons have always been used to bleach the skin, but pure lemon juice is too highly acid, therefore should never be used except in this manner. If properly prepared, this sweetly fragrant lotion will speak for itself. Any drug store will supply the three ounces of orchard white at very little cost, and the grocer will supply the lemons.
