THE VOICE OF REBELLION

Quoting Fannie Hurst: "Are the fashionmongers going to succeed in reviving the obsolete and ridiculous spectacle of a woman tripping over her train?"

This very direct question is one for women to answer. Left to a man, he would fall back on history and say "yes." Women always have accepted the styles that have been offered them. Fannie Hurst's is the courageous voice of rebellion, but she cannot fight alone and win the war. She will need a formidable army if she is to defeat a dictum that is primarily commercial. The prophets of fashion see profits in the change of styles or there would be mighty few. It has always been so. The thought was expressed by Shakespeare in "Much Ado About Nothing," when one of the characters is made to say: "I see that the fashion wears out more apparel than the man."

But the present controversy is not one for men or newspapers. Their business is to remain neutral. They may have a preference for short or long or medium-length skirts, but it is not for them to become militant. The voice of rebellion is soprano.

THE AMAZING BRAIN

Even the ordinary brain, performing the ordinary functions, impresses us with its amazing capacity. Now and then somebody discovers a human being with a brain so far ahead of the average that we stand in wonderment before the possibilities of development. A Russian girl astonishes professors in Moscow university with one of the most remarkable memories ever discovered. In 15 seconds she worked problems, in her head, that took the professors two hours with pencil and paper. A series of as many as 28 words in several foreign languages were dictated and she repeated them correctly, in the order given, without a mistake.

Some people fear to use the brain, fear to put tasks on the memory, for fear of wearing out their equipment. What they need is mental exercise.

OUTSPEEDING NATURE

R. H. George, Purdee university man, has made a machine for the use of power companies in recording the effects of lightning on their equipment. This machine operates faster than lightning and it can split a second into a million parts. When the lightning flashes the machine starts automatically and takes a picture of what occurs on a power line. It's just another interesting instance to indicate that man can outrun nature when he exercises his ingenuity in high degree.

Six black foxes stolen from a Digby N. S., ranch were valued at $1500. A few years before the opening of the great war, black foxes sold around $10,000 a pair, but at that time the ranches were all company owned and some of them paid paper dividends as high as 100 per cent.

An evening at any formal social function will convince any open-minded person that militant feminist had the gift of prophecy when she predicted years ago that we would some day "see women as the backbone of the Nation."

The love of a good woman is something that passes understanding when one sizes up the object on which it's often wasted and, strangely enough, it often has its humorous side. There's something funny in watching a loving wife try to coddle a hard-boiled egg.

Spring has come in the Antarctic, the sun daily climbs higher in the heavens, soft breezes are blowing, and the Byrd party can look forward to midsummer when the temperature will go clear up to zero.

The Mayor of Lynn, Massachusetts, has decided to let the girls of that town do as they please in the matter of dress. We suspect the Mayor of Lynn has learned a thing or two that has been clarifying.

Roman coins were dug up recently on a British golf course and saw a chap with a mashie, just recently, who appeared to be looking for Chinese money.

Mr. Trotsky, having been refused admission to Germany, Holland, England, Denmark, et al, might try the Byrd Expedition as a last chance.

Auction bridge, it seems, has become too casual. What the experienced player wants now is a hard and fast contract.

One rather pathetic figure, at this juncture, is the stock market casualty trying to locate the friends he deserted on the way up.

For a number of days the ticker was behind the market, but evidently there was something else behind it, too.

Even if love isn't blind it is apparently callous to an audience these days.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

It won't be long until the turkey might as well be a pedestrian.

This seems to be the open season for stocks to hunt their level.

The fire of genius seldom kindles ambition in the young man who has money to burn.

Seems to have become fashionable to report heavy losses in the stock market.

To keep afloat with the times it is necessary to throw a lot of odd ideas overboard.

Forty-two wives claim one Austrian. If all of them were to shoot at him at once it would be just like two or three of them to hit the mark.

In a big town the general public never hears who has had his veriform appendix, gall bladder, tonsils or other minor equipment removed until news of the death appears in the paper.

Many a husband can't understand why his wife is ambitious to own a tea cart. The only thing he thinks it would be useful for is to wheel the ashes out to the alley every Sunday morning.

Hi Slocum wonders if you would say, that those U. N. B. boys that you notice on the street without a hat, were saving on overhead.

Final November Market

Phoenix Square was a chilly place this morning and the vendors were handled up to the ears, and forced to stamp their feet and swing their arms to and fro in true mid-winter fashion. Although this was the last November market, turkeys and geese have failed to make their initial appearance. Chicken were very numerous, however, and were finding ready buyers at 30 cents per pound. Eggs were still hovering about the 60 cents per dozen mark; Butter was going at 40 cents per pound, and meats of all types showed little or no variation in price since last Wednesday.

Fine Skating

Skating on various parts of the Saint John River near this city is splendid of late, and many young people have taken advantage of this excellent condition to enjoy the blade pleasure. Across the river at Nashwaaksis, can be seen numbers of persons skating about at all hours of the day, while on this side, at the up town bathing beach, the skating is also good. Yesterday crowds of children were skating there. The ice at this point is considered well frozen and safe for skating.

Keep Them Happy By Keeping Them Well

It is natural for children to be happy, active and full of fun. When they are fretful, fussy and disinclined to play you may be sure something is wrong. Almost invariably that something lies in the digestive tract.

It is to meet the need for an absolutely safe corrective of childhood ailments that Baby's Own Tablets have been designed. They gently regulate the stomach and bowels and thus drive out constipation and indigestion; break up colds and simple fevers and allay teething pains. Concerning them Mrs. W. D. Forsyth, Dover, N. B., writes:—"I would not be without Baby's Own Tablets as I know of nothing to equal them for fretful, fussy babies who are troubled with colds or sour stomach."

Baby's Own Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BOY BITES A DOG, SO THAT'S NEWS

Kansas City, Nov. 30—According to the most widely accepted definition of news—i. e., "when a dog bites a man it isn't news, but when a man bites a dog it is"—news was created in the kitchen of Max Koppel.

Mr. Koppel was reading his newspaper when mingled wails and yells arose in the rear of the house. Investigation disclosed his four-year-old son, Donald, with teeth sunk firmly in the back of a pet pup. The dog had snapped at Donald and Donald retaliated, a la canine.

"Babe" Ruth Talks
"The Sultan of Swat" George Herman "Babe" Ruth, hero of young America, will talk on baseball and other sports during the Gilbert Sports Revue over the NBC coast to coast system, Sunday afternoon, December 1, at 6.30 o'clock.
