HOW THE GAME IS PLAYED IN NEW GLASGOW

(New Glasgow Chronicle.)

Possibly it was the proposed vote on the liquor question that stirred up the business on Saturday night. All the local "booteries" were in full operation and at some the crush was so great that the assistance of the police was suggested to form the eager customers in line. They were an impatient gang and demanded service and wanted it quick. At one of the central "leggeriums," three expert bartenders could not cope with the throng and closed early, so heavy was the crush, concluding that enough was as good as a feast, and a little moderation should be exercised. This voluntary closure did not materially lessen the output. Other places were not so modest and the night can be enrolled as one of the wettest.

Time heals all wounds, and with the basketball season ended scabs will soon disappear.

The Western Union May Merge With the Radio Corporation

Such a Report is Now Being Discussed in Financial Circles—The Fact That Stock of Both Companies Went to New High Records Yesterday Lent Credence to the Rumor.

(Special to THE DAILY MAIL by the British United Press.)

NEW YORK, March 9—Negotiations looking toward the possible merger of the Western Union Telegraph and the Radio Corporation of America have been resumed it was reported in financial circles today.

It was understood the Western Union might create a new company or separate its cable business and its telegraph lines to conform with the provisions of the White Act, which regulates communication concerns.

While no confirmation of the reported negotiations could be obtained from either company, the fact that the stock of both concerns went to record highs yesterday lent credence to the rumor that a merger was being discussed.

MAN SHOT IN A PEW AS PASTOR PRAYS

Kulpville, Pa., March 8—A shot from a revolver as the congregation was kneeling and the minister was delivering the closing prayer nearly cost the life of a worshipper in the Towamencin Mennonite Church, near here last night, and startled the congregation.

The service was about to close as a loud report spread through the auditorium. A revolver, said to be in the hands of William Hangey, of Fricks, was accidentally discharged and the bullet ripped through the woodwork of a pew and struck Henry Landes, son of Henry H. Landes, of Souderston, in the back.

Landes, at first only started, did not know he had been hit. Then a burning sensation in his back, just below the line of his hip, caused him to place his hand there. He brought it away covered with blood. Companions aided him to an automobile in which he was rushed to the office of Dr. Russel Keeler, at Harleysville. An X-ray picture revealed a bullet near the spine.

Hangey was one of a group of youths who occupied the next to last row of pews in the church. It is said that Hangey was handling the revolver as the minister was praying and that it was accidentally discharged. The woodwork of the pew checked the bullet and probably saved Landes' life.

Little was known today of the actual events surrounding the shooting as members of the Mennonite faith had little to say concerning the affair. No arrests have been made as members of the faith do not believe in recourse to law. Landes' father said today that he had not taken any legal measures as yet.

Not in Great Demand

While an agitation is being carried on in St. John and elsewhere, to have the angling streams of the province thrown open to the public it is noticeable that only nineteen residents and three non-residents availed themselves of the fishing privileges of the open water of the Restigouche River last season. The number of non residents in 1927 was 10 and last season it fell off to 3, while resident anglers increased from 11 in 1927 to 19 in 1928.

F. G. Bond of Sussex is in the city today.

Consummation of the merger with Victor Talking Machine Company was believed behind the movement in anticipation of expansion in foreign fields through Victor subsidiaries and important economies as a result of the consolidation.

Announcement by Major General James G. Harbord, president of Radio communications business with Western Union was "dead", failed to check buying, although Western Union stock lost practically all of the early $6 advance, after touching $216.50 a record figure.
