MESSAGE TO YOUNG MEN.

"After a long life I shall remind you that already many problems rise before you; problems of race division, problems of creed differences, problems of economic conflict, problems of national duty and national aspiration. Let me tell you that for the solution of these problems you have a safe guide, an unfailing light, if you remember that faith is better than doubt, and love is better than hate.

"Banish doubt and hate from your life. Let your souls be ever open to the strong promptings of faith and the gentle influence of brotherly love. Be adamant against the haughty; be gentle and kind to the weak. Let your aim and your purpose, in good report or in ill, in victory or in defeat, be so to live, so to strive, so to serve as to do your part to raise the standard of life to higher and better spheres."—Sir Wilfrid Laurier at London, Ont.

WHO IS TO BLAME?

The Mail has lately been in receipt of numerous complaints from country subscribers to the effect that they do not get their papers as promptly as they should, or with anything like regularity. Some subscribers to the Daily Mail say that after receiving no paper for three days, then all three will come at once. Subscribers to the Semi-Weekly Mail are of course entitled to two papers each week, but they say they get one more often than they do two, while some weeks they get none at all. This sort of thing is naturally very annoying to subscribers, and they cannot be blamed for lodging a complaint. The papers are sent regularly from this office, with the subscribers' names plainly printed thereon, and if the postal service is what it ought to be there is nothing to hinder them from reaching their destination. We propose to take steps with a view to remedying the evil, which is a source of so much annoyance to many of our subscribers, as well as to the publishers, and in the meantime we would request those who do not receive their papers promptly or regularly to report the matter in writing to the office of publication. The Mail pays postage on papers which it sends through the post office, and it is entitled to the same service which is given to other newspapers. And what is more, we propose to have it. We would especially request subscribers living in districts which have a free delivery, who have trouble in getting their paper, to report the matter to us.

READY FOR PEACE.

The special correspondent at Amsterdam of the Petit Parisien, quotes a great Frankfurt banker, whose name he says is very well known in Paris and London, and who said:

"We shall never conquer our enemies. We were deceived as to the attitude of Italy and Roumania as much as we were in regard to England and Belgium. We were formidably deceived as to the strength of resistance and moral unity of France, and deceived as to the attitude of neutrals, especially the United States, who today hate Germany more than any enemy country does. All our foreign ministers, all our ambassadors have lied to us.

"Fortunately we had a good army. It has spared us many miseries, and without it we should have been finished. As it is, we are too ill to recover, for where shall we get money? That is the insoluble question for Germany. Tomorrow she will be ruined financially.

"We should know, in the first place, whether the Allies are disposed to talk. If they are, we should be disposed to join a conference at an early date at The Hague, under the auspices of Queen Wilhelmina. Germany is ready to make sacrifices, because she sees that unless she does humiliate herself nothing will happen. If, on the other hand, the Allies are not disposed to talk, an internal revolution will be the result, for the German people have had enough.

"That is the whole secret of the situation. The Kaiser, in spite of his divine right, must reckon with his people. For thirty months he has let butchery loose, and this is the end of it all. This war has caused us to advance a century in two years, and that is the only benefit we shall get out of it."

This is candid talk. If the truth were known, the German people have had enough of their war lord's madness.

Halifax Chronicle: Some people who are so eager to point the finger of scorn at Quebec and to insinuate that its people are disloyal, are not quite so solicitous or so censorious with regard to the German section of Ontario. But the events in Kitchener, where the pro-German element which have been campaigning and scheming to have the name of Berlin restored to that city, should make them think. If the disturbance which occurred in Kitchener had taken place in Quebec, there are certain newspapers which would be working up tremendous "sensations" over it. Yet nothing has occurred in Quebec to impeach the loyalty of the great mass of its people. The "patriots" who are so highly concerned about Quebec should give some attention to the German problem of Ontario. The fact that one is a Liberal province and the other the very citadel of Toryism surely will not influence them.

The "business like provincial government" last year spent the sum of $70,548 on road repairs, and coolly added the amount to the public debt of the province. A farmer who would mortgage his farm to enable him to build a road to the woods in order to get out his winter's supply of fire wood would be regarded by his neighbors as a bonehead. Yet his action would be just as praiseworthy and businesslike as that of a government which would put a plaster on the property of the province in order to provide the money for road repairs.

An Ottawa despatch to the Standard says that Hon. Albert Seigney, Speaker of the House, is likely to be appointed Postmaster General in the Borden cabinet. Hon. Mr. Seigney is one of the leaders of the Quebec Nationalist group.

Through Our Sieve

Any kind of advice is good as long as you don't try to follow it.

The hardest work some men do is to invent excuses to keep them from exerting themselves.

Once in a while you meet a bright woman who successfully boasts of the skeleton in her closet.

Grass widow: The angel whom a man loved, the human being he married, and the she-devil he divorced.

Some men are like roosters; they let their wives do all the work and they do all the crowing.

Some men are born small, some shrink, and some others never find out how small they really are.

A fashion writer has discovered that even in the Stone Age women demanded furs. They needed them.

It is difficult to say which is the greater optimist, the man who takes a drink the moment his headache has worn off, or the woman who marries again the day after her divorce.

The great comfort in being married to a man is that you don't have to sit up all evening and be pleasant to him; the great tragedy is that he feels the same way about you.

WORLDLY WISDOM.

One never knows how foolish some men can act until they break into the new father class.

Did you ever hear of a woman's giving to charity the money she had saved to buy a new bonnet?

When one girl meets another she invariably repeats the conversation she had with the last young man she met.

YOU'RE BILIOUS! LET "CASCARETS" LIVE!
LIVER AND BOWELS

Don't Stay Headachy, Constipated, Sick, With Breath Bad and Stomach Sour.

Get a 10-cent box now. You men and women who can't get feeling right— who have headache, coated tongue, bad taste and foul breath, dizziness, can't sleep, are bilious, nervous and upset, bothered with a sick, gassy, disordered stomach, or have a bad cold.

Are you keeping your bowels clean with Cascarets, or merely forcing a passageway every few days with salts, cathartic pills or castor oil?

Cascarets work while you sleep; cleanse the stomach, remove the sour, undigested, fermenting food and foul gases; take the excess bile from the liver and carry out of the system all the constipated waste matter and poison in the bowels.

A Cascaret tonight will straighten you out by morning—a ten-cent box from any drug store will keep your stomach sweet, liver and bowels regular and head clear for months. Don't forget the children. They love Cascarets because they taste good—never gripe or sicken.

Atkins Tells Reason Why He Wrote Down the Names of Manufacturers.

(Farm and Family.)

Atkins walked up to the counter in the store at the cross roads and began to write out rather hurriedly on a slip of paper the things he wished to take home with him. A farmer who lived in his neighborhood watched him with keen interest. At length he asked:

"I notice that when you write down axe, whetstones, axle grease and even hog oil, you write down the name of the brand or firm that manufactures the article."

"Sure I do, don't you do that?" "Oh, of course, I do for a lot of things but then for just plain everyday things I don't. What makes you take all that extra trouble, Atkins?"

"Because I want to get my money's worth. I do that because I know exactly what firm stands behind what I buy."

"But how do you figure out what firms are the ones that'll give you the best for your money when you're buying things out here in the country and you haven't seen one of 'em?"

"Easy as can be. You see I always take a thoroughly reliable paper to begin with. I enjoy the readin' matter all right, and I make something of a study of the firms that advertise all the time—see?"

"But how in the mischief do you know whether the firm that's advertising is on the square with the goods they put on the market?"

"Now that's the point where any number of fellows like you and me fall down. Let me ask you a question or two: Do you believe any firm with a shoddy poor article could afford to spend a lot of money advertisin' year after year?"

"No, I don't believe they could."

"Well, then, if I see a firm advertising in my paper year in and year out, I'm certain they're spendin' lots of hard-earned dollars to get me to try their article. They've got enough sense to know that after they've persuaded me to try that article it's got to be good enough to hold me."

"Yes, I reckon that's about so."

"I know it's so because I've tried it. Whenever you see an ad in a strong farm paper and then you see the firm that used that ad makin' a display in the store window here, you can bank on 'em. You got to remember all the time that advertisin' is a big game that costs big money, and the fellow that's in the game is pretty apt to be a big fellow. You try my scheme and you'll find it works O.K."

KILTIES BAND ON HAND.

(St. John Globe.)

The Honorable J. D. Hazen, accompanied by Director General R. B. Bennett of the National Service Commission, arrived in their private car attached to the Montreal express, from Ottawa, at noon. Hardly had the two gentlemen stepped on to the platform of the Union Station when the familiar strains of the Scottish bagpipes were heard from the upper end of the depot. The music was rendered by the Kiltie band under Colonel Guthrie, from Fredericton. The band then paraded twice in front of the Minister of Marine and Director General Bennett, after which it gave a short selection standing at attention, which was followed by a parade through the station with the band still playing, to the Hazen car, the car containing Hon. J. D. Hazen, Director General Bennett and Lieut. Col. Guthrie, headed by the bagpipes, continued up Mill and Union streets to Hazen Castle.
