COCHRANE LIKELY TO QUIT THE BORDEN GOVERNMENT

Reported that He is Likely to Become Chairman of the Board of Directors of the Canadian Northern Railway—General Mewburn Spoken of for Militia Portfolio—Western Liberals to Confer With Borden

Ottawa, Oct. 5. — While union government plans are held up for two or three days pending the arrival of the western Liberals coming to Ottawa in response to Sir Robert Borden's invitation, backed by the negotiations of Sir Clifford Sifton, the premier is forestalling any conditions they may impose by proceeding to consummate his own idea as to fusion insofar as eastern Canada is concerned. He is arranging for the inclusion in the cabinet of other eastern Liberal fusionists. Today's main development was the interesting announcement from inside sources that Major-General S. C. Mewburn, adjutant-general at headquarters for the past three months, and prior to that head of the home defense force, and assistant adjutant-general for the Toronto military division, is to be taken into the cabinet as minister of militia. General Mewburn has never been definitely identified with politics, but his political predilections are Liberal. It is understood that he is to succeed Sir Edward Kemp, whose occupancy of the portfolio since Sir Sam Hughes left it has been quietly innocuous and without driving force.

Cochrane Going Out.

Sir Edward, it is said, is to be relegated to the position of minister of customs, succeeding Hon. Dr. Reid, who is to move up to the railway department. Hon. Frank Cochrane, according to the latest reports in government circles, has decided to retire from the government to accept the chairmanship of the board of directors of the Canada Northern Railway Company. Under the act passed last session, giving the government complete ownership of the capital stock, the government may appoint the head of the administration of that system. It is reported that Sir William MacKenzie is going to be replaced by Mr. Cochrane, although Sir William will still retain a position on the board of directors and will still be entrusted with the financial end of the system. These changes, it is understood, have been decided upon without waiting for consultation with the western Liberals, who were expected to be the dominant Liberal factor in Sir Robert's proposed union government. They are concurrent with the filling up of all the important and lucrative jobs in the government service for which Conservative M. P's have been scrambling including the recent appointments of Messrs. Jamieson, Boyce, Shepherd and Brabazon, M. P's, the promise of senatorships to half a dozen other Conservative M. P's and the arranging for posts for Hon. Dr. Roche and Hon. T. W. Crothers. The whole process seems hardly in keeping with good faith towards the western men, who have been invited here to consider union government on a basis of equal or nearly equal division between Liberals and Conservatives.

Await Western Liberals.

It had been expected that the conference with the Western Liberals would open today, but this morning only two of them were on hand, namely Hon. J. A. Calder of Saskatchewan and Hon. A. L. Sifton of Alberta. The other leaders from the west, including Premier Martin of Saskatchewan, Premier Brewster of British Columbia and Hon. Messrs. Johnston and Hudson of the Manitoba government with T. A. Crerar and Frank Fowler of Winnipeg are not expected to arrive before Sunday. The negotiations with Premier Borden are in consequence postponed until then. No developments are expected until some time next week.

While Messrs. Calder and Sifton are preserving absolute reticence as to the prospects of any coalition of the Western Liberals with the Borden administration it is learned that before any basis of agreement is attempted they will propose certain conditions upon Sir Robert. These will include an understanding with regard to tariff policy, and a demand that Sir Robert accede to the long preferred request of the west that the natural resources now held by the Dominion be turned over to the use and administration of the provinces. There is no hint yet available as to whether or not the coming negotiations are likely to result in the final consummation of union, or in another disagreement similar to that which concluded the negotiations of August.

Sir Robert Borden is said to be hopeful and prepared to make large concessions to the western men, but his action in taking into the cabinet this week an avowed high tariff man like Hon. C. C. Ballentyne and in continuing to make partisan appointments does not make the course of union any smoother.

The Liberal Leadership.

While things in regard to Sir Robert Borden's cabinet reconstruction are thus in a state of flux, there is a similar condition of uncertainty on the Liberal side as to the leadership and as to Sir Wilfrid Laurier's position in the coming elections. The old chief was at his office in the parliament buildings all day receiving many callers, and answering a flood of letters and telegrams from all parts of the Dominion.

The bulk of his correspondence expressed regret at the news that he was considering the advisability of laying down the burden of leadership. The news sent out from the capital two days ago has apparently stirred Liberalism all over Canada, and Sir Wilfrid today received sterling evidence of the hold which he has on the affections and confidence of his followers in all provinces.

THE AD. AND THE MAN.

By James J. Montague.

He saw the ad from day to day And muttered: "I defy it; The stuff may be just what they say, But I'm not going to buy it." As time wore on he made remarks It would not do to mention, For he was mad because that ad Was forced on his attention.

But in a week, or two, or three, He said: "There's no denying, The way that ad gets hold of me, The stuff may be worth trying." For just about a fortnight more He dared mere words to win him, And then the ad completely had Aroused the spender in him.

Next day he drifted in a store And quietly expended A few big iron dollars for The stuff the ad commended. He found it filled a long-felt need Its excellence surprised him, And now he's glad because the ad So deftly hypnotized him.
