

FASHIONABLE WEDDING AT ALL SAINT'S CATHEDRAL HALIFAX

Miss Charlotte A. Worrell Daughter of the Archbishop of N. S. Becomes the Wife of N. R. DesBrisay of C. P. R., St. John.

Halifax, N. S., Sept. 18. — It was late twilight last evening when the sanctuary guild of All Saints' Cathedral put the last touch to the dressing of the chancel with flowers for the wedding of Charlotte Austin, youngest daughter of His Grace the Archbishop of Nova Scotia and the late Mrs. Worrell, to Norman Rudolph, son of Mr. and Mrs. C. A. DesBrisay of Bathurst, N. B., district passenger agent of the C. P. R., and without doubt one of the most popular officials in the employ of that company throughout its whole system, as the bride is one of the very sweetest girls in her set.

No invitations were issued, but a very large group in which were noted many of the prominent business men were present to witness the ceremony, in performing which His Grace the Archbishop was assisted by Dean

Llwyd and by Rev. J. L. F. Foster, rector of Hubbard's and brother-in-law of the bride. Mr. Sangar, organist of the church, played the wedding marches.

Miss Worrell entered the church with her brother, Frank Worrell, by whom she was given away. It is no excess of praise to say that no fairer bride has ever knelt at the Cathedral altar. She looked most attractive in a wedding gown of white satin with touches of silver and bridal veil and orange blossoms worn by her mother on her wedding day. Her bouquet was of white roses and lilies of the valley. Tall, slender, most fair, most gentle, of lily-like grace was this bride. Such was the general "verdict."

Bride and groom were unattended. The ceremony over, Mr. and Mrs. DesBrisay drove to Bishop's Lodge, where the group was exclusively a family one, including Mrs. Kirkpatrick of Kingston, sister of the bride; her little son, Master Clare Kirkpatrick; Rev. J. L. F. Foster and Mrs. Foster, Frank Worrell, the two sisters of the groom, Mrs. Loosen of Bathurst, and Mrs. Walker of Winnipeg; Mrs. Turnbull of St. John, who is a guest at Bishop's Lodge; Bruce Burpee and Allen Seymour of the C. P. R. official staff, Montreal, and Dean and Mrs. Llwyd.

Mr. and Mrs. DesBrisay left by the three o'clock train for Quebec, whence they will go to New York. The bride's going away gown was of brown cloth trimmed with fox furs and worn with hat to correspond. The one regret here in connection with the wedding (a very hearty regret) is that their future home will not be in this city but in St. John. The collection of wedding gifts testified conclusively to that—and a quite remarkable collection it was—including the following "presentations" to the groom: From the C. P. R. staffs in St. John and Halifax, a silver tray and coffee urn suitably inscribed; from the staff at the head office in Montreal, a sterling silver tea set and tray; from the management of the Halifax Hotel, a beautiful lamp.

Some men attempt to do a main text stunt on a sideshow ability.

CONSERVATIVE MACHINERY IS ALL PREPARED

Ottawa, Sept. 19.—Conservative senators and members of the House of Commons held their final party caucus of the session this morning. It was a campaign caucus and problems of party political organization for the approaching general election were the main topics of consideration. It is significant in this connection that the Hon. Bob Rogers was accorded a remarkable demonstration said to have overshadowed that which greeted the Premier.

Probably the most significant feature of the gathering was the strong opposition manifested towards permitting Sir Robert Borden to proceed with any cabinet reorganization plans which were to include any Liberals. It is reported that this was put up to the Premier plainly by no less than four of the speakers.

Sir Robert Borden is reported to have taken the position that he would rather relinquish the leadership than have his hands thus tied. He intimated, however, to the malcontents that it was improbable that more than two or three political opponents would be included in the reorganization. He claimed that he should have a free hand to strengthen his cabinet and reminded those protesting that he had given them election machinery and a franchise bill to ensure in so far as possible a return of the Conservative party at the polls. Having done this, he thought the matter of more general and later cabinet reconstruction fusion or "union," could follow.

The suggestion was made in the caucus and received general support, that it would be a good scheme for Conservative candidates already nominated and members of parliament not yet formally re-endorsed, to call new conventions and have themselves re-nominated as "win-the-war" candidates. By this scheme it is thought that a special enthusiasm might be worked up and a special label given to the Borden candidates for the coming election.

It is creditably reported that Premier Borden's last words to the caucus, which broke up with cheers, were these: "We have prepared the machinery for the winning of the election. But that is not enough. It is for each and every one of you here gathered to see to it that that machinery is worked to your own separate advantage."

The caucus broke up with all the members confident that the machinery could be "worked" to splendid advantage.

SERGEANT WAS A TRUE PRUSSIAN

(Saturday Evening Post.)

At a cafe in New York which is much frequented by actors they were talking of German methods as exemplified in this war. Jack Hazard felt moved to tell the following story:

"Only the other day I heard of a very interesting case, which illustrates how careful those fellows are about obeying orders," stated Hazard. "It seems that during the invasion of Belgium a captain in a Prussian regiment got hold of a hundred fresh eggs somewhere; and, wishing to give his faithful soldiers a treat—there was just exactly a hundred men in his company as it happened—he turned the eggs over to the top sergeant and told him to see that every man in the command had an egg for his breakfast next morning."

"But the company cook smashed one of the eggs, and next morning there were only ninety-nine eggs to be distributed among a hundred hungry soldiers. The sergeant was puzzled at first. He knew he had to obey orders; and, being a true German, he meant to do so."

"For a while he didn't know just how to distribute those eggs. Finally he had a wonderful inspiration—a typical Prussian inspiration. It worked all right, too."

Here Hazard paused. "Well, what did the sergeant do?" demanded one of the company. "Killed one of the soldiers!" said Hazard.

THE CRIMINAL CLASS.

(New York World.)

The report of the Illinois bureau of criminal statistics shows that 5 per cent. of the population of the state is arrested annually, and 2 per cent. convicted of crimes and misdemeanors. Approximately 37,000 persons are sent to penal institutions every year and $3,000 pay fines or are placed on probation.

THERE'S NO DOUBT that you get the maximum return for your money when you buy Zam-Buk, because Zam-Buk is all medicine—not 5% medicine and 95% animal fat as ordinary ointments are.

The herbal extracts and vegetable oils of which Zam-Buk is composed are so wonderfully blended and refined that Zam-Buk possesses unusual power of penetration. Instead of remaining on the surface skin, as ordinary ointments do (owing to the amount of coarse animal fat they contain), Zam-Buk literally soaks through until it reaches the "root" of the disease, which is always in the underlying tissues. Then it cures from the "root" up, which is the only thorough and permanent way of curing skin troubles, and is why Zam-Buk succeeds when other treatments fail.

Zam-Buk is best for eczema, pimples, blotches, psoriasis, chronic sores, blood-poisoning, teething rash, boils, piles, cuts, burns and scalds. All dealers or Zam-Buk Co., Toronto. 50c. box, 3 for $1.25.

TREMBLY WILL CONFESS

(Canadian Press direct wire.)

Montreal, Sept. 19.—Joseph Tremblay, who was committed to jail last week by Judge Saint Cyr because he refused to answer certain questions put to him by the crown counsel in the case of Elie Lalumiere, at whose hearing on a charge of stealing dynamite Tremblay was called as a witness, intimated to the judge today that, now that Monette is in custody, he may answer questions asked of him in court. The hearing was postponed till tomorrow because of the absence of Crown Counsel Pelissier. The judge ruled that Tremblay's confession, which was published a few days ago, is admitted as part of the court record.

You don't like the cheap tea you are using. Do you?

Before the war so increased the cost of living, many people used to drink better tea than they are now using.

Perhaps, this is true in your case?

Of course, you are not drinking poor tea because you like it, but because you think it necessary to save money.

But are you really saving anything?

Cheap, common teas only make about 150 cups to the pound. You are lucky if you can stretch them out to 185 or 200.

On the other hand, Red Rose Tea easily makes 250 cups. It goes further because of its fine quality, consisting chiefly of Assam teas, the richest and strongest in the world.

You may almost doubt if so many cups of tea can be made from a pound of even such good tea as Red Rose, but you can readily prove the economy of Red Rose without waiting for a package to be used up. Just use a few leaves less of Red Rose for a brewing than you use of common tea—the result we are sure will please and surprise you.

THE PRICE OF HOMAGE

ONCE when King Edward VII. paid a visit to Sheffield, all the fires in factories and plants were allowed to die out. Not a wheel in Sheffield turned for twenty-four hours. The primary object of this was to lift the pall of smoke that hovers over that wonderful steel-producing city, and to ensure, as far as man was able, a bright day and a blue sky for an auspicious occasion. It was Sheffield's expression of respect.

BUT the action was unique—it was unprecedented—it was unthought of that those hundreds of mighty furnaces, raging night and day, and those seething boilers, with quivering valves, should ever be allowed to cool. This extinguishing of fires cost Sheffield hundreds of thousands of dollars—the price of the effort to get back again to high-power efficiency.

SOME business men in Canada pay an unwitting homage, not to a king, but to a superstition—the superstition that hot weather justifies letting the fires of business energy go out. They stop Advertising in the Summer months. By paying homage to tradition, custom, superstition, they have allowed Summer to become their "dull" season. You know how dull it can be when you don't advertise. Do you know how brisk it can be made by Advertising? Do you realize how much momentum you now lose in the Summer that must be regained in the Fall?

DON'T LET YOUR ADVERTISING FIRES DIE OUT THIS SUMMER.
