CASTORIA

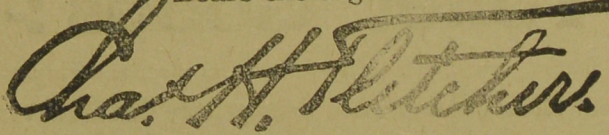

The Kind You Have Always Bought, and which has been in use for over 30 years, has borne the signature of Dr. J. C. Fletcher, and has been made under his personal supervision since its infancy. Allow no one to deceive you in this. All Counterfeits, Imitations, "Just-as-good" are but experiments that trifle with and endanger the health of Infants and Children—Experiments against Experiment.

OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

FANCY BUTTONS ON FOOTWEAR.

One of the novelties of the moment concerns footwear. As long as abbreviated skirts remain in favor—and despite the attempt to lengthen some of the newest skirts many women prefer the ultrashort model—footgear will occupy a prominent and conspicuous place. The very newest thing in boots is a pair of light gray kids with gray suede uppers. The arrangement of the buttons is noteworthy and the scallop is decidedly unique. The buttons are pearl gray with steel centres. Even shoes cannot escape the present craze for buttons. Buttons, buttons everywhere is the motto of the moment, for they are used as decoration on suits, handbags, gowns and even on hats in some instances. When in doubt as to a trimming for any new accessory to your wardrobe choose buttons and you are sure to be in vogue.

BLOUSES IN "MIDDY" STYLE.

The blouse which slips on over the head is above all charming on the girl in her teens. Those made of velveteen or satin are worn with a serge tailored skirt have very little decoration—a braid in which a few metal threads are interwoven or wcrsted embroidery motifs set at spaced intervals or some simple hand embroidery done in cross stitch. These follow the low round neck, the drop shoulder seam and the hem, which is about five inches below the hip.

DRESS YOUR HAIR LOOSELY.

Keep your hat off as much as possible. Hair cannot lie too easily or loosely for its own well being, any sort of pressure, heat or strain about the head inflicts injury on the finest part of the nervous system. Pulling the hair up too tightly from the back of the head and ears will cause the glands of the neck to swell in an ugly and uncomfortable fashion. Notice what a relief it is to take all your hairpins out and let your hair hang loosely for a few hours. With an easy, natural and artistic hair dressing, nervousness and headaches will be to a great extent eliminated.

Slants of Humor

NO BLUFF

Robert Henri, the New York artist, told a Whistler story at the Art Students' League.

"There was no pose about whistler," he said. "Whistler had no side.

"Once in a Paris class he was conducting he did not like the red back-ground to a study he had commenced and so he covered it with brown.

"But the red showed through, so he scraped out the brown and put gray in its place.

"Still the red showed. He took up his palette knife and began to scrape afresh, saying to a student who was reverently watching him:

"I suppose you know what I'm trying for here?"

"Oh, yes, sir!" exclaimed the student.

"Well, it's more than I do," said Whistler, and, seizing his hat, he made off."

The good people of the church gave the poor children of the parish a bountiful dinner and the delight of the youngsters was much more manifest than their table manners. One little fellow was discovered clutching a jam jar in one fist and a lump of pudding in the other. He was reproved for his breach of etiquette and took the reproach very meekly. But a moment later he turned to the diner next to him and remarked regretfully. "The trouble about these here table manners is that they was invented by somebody who wasn't never really hungry!"

"Now, boys, I have a few questions in fractions to ask," said the teacher. "Suppose I have a piece of beefsteak and cut it into sixteen pieces, what would those pieces be called?"

"Sixteenths," answered one boy after meditating a moment.

"Very good. And when the sixteenths were cut in half, what would they be?"

There was silence in the class; but presently a little boy at the foot put up his hand.

"Do you know, Johnny?"

"Hash!" answered Johnny, confidently.

"Just as a clergyman was about to enter the pulpit to conduct the service a couple from a near by town presented themselves making known their anxiety to be married as quickly as possible. The clergyman, an extremely methodical man, replied that he could not oblige at that moment, but immediately upon the conclusion of the service he would take pleasure in making them man and wife.

So, after demurring, the couple seated themselves in the rear of the church. When the minister had finished his remarks he cleared his throat and made the following announcement: "The parties who are to be joined in matrimony will present themselves at the chancel immediately after the singing of hymn 425. 'Mistaken Souls That Dream of Heaven.'"

A man never knows how much he values an umbrella or a woman until he sees some other man calmly walking off with one or the other.

PRESIDENT WON AGAIN.

Close Contest Among Curlers on New Year's Day.

The President's rinks scored another victory on the final round of the President vs. Vice-President match at the Curling Rink on New Year's Day. The play was close, the President's rinks finally winning, 68 to 66. In the last rink which finished, Skip F. P. Hatt lost to Skip H. E. Fowler by 7 points, which victory for the Vice-President went a long way toward making the contest close.

The score by skips was as follows:

A PLEASING SURPRISE.

If you are sore and aching from a sprain, strain, burns, bruises, or muscular rheumatism, it is extremely pleasing to learn, after you have secured something advertised to relieve your particular affliction, that not only have you obtained a preparation that is excellent for external use, but also one you can safely and unhesitatingly take inwardly for coughs, colds, sore throat, cramps, chills, etc., if necessary to have its soothing and healing qualities go direct to the seat of an internal trouble. Most liniments for example, have only one value—external use—but in the case, say, of the well known Johnson's Anodyne Liniment, the double value—internal and external use—is there. This splendid preparation, from the prescription of an erstwhile old family physician, has been humanity's staunch friend for over 100 years, and its great army of users, thankful for its wonderful virtue, feel that Johnson's Anodyne Liniment—the double value liniment—is "an angel in disguise."

It isn't the bitter things a husband and wife say to one another that make married life so dreary; it's those long and terrible evenings of total silence when neither of them can think of anything to say.

A genius is a man who can do almost anything but make a living and keep up his reputation for being a genius.
