COUNTRY'S WELFARE FIRST.

"I do not want to take up too much of your time upon matters which may be discussed more fully in the near future, and particularly in the Legislature. I am here rather for the purpose of meeting and greeting you, of making the acquaintance of those whom I hope will be my new constituents, than entering into a discussion of public affairs at any length. However, there is one point that I wish to make, the government of which I am Premier intends to give the people of this province a business administration. We are not going to place our own personal interests before the welfare of the country. We are going to take up each and every question upon its merits and not place legislation upon the statute books that will be for the benefit of private individuals and contrary to the public good.—Premier Foster at Grand Falls.

ELOQUENT LAURIER.

Sir Wilfrid's reference to the death of the Duchess of Connaught, in the Commons on April 19th, was brief but finely illustrative of the sensibility and finished eloquence of the great orator: "The members of the House of Commons will, I am sure, avail themselves of this, the first opportunity at their disposal, to express their deep sense of reverence for the memory of the noble lady who for five years was associated with the life of this country. The memory of Her Royal Highness will ever be cherished by the Canadian people, who had learned to appreciate her many noble qualities. Her Royal Highness was of a retiring and unobtrusive disposition. The duties of her office, whether public or private, she carried out in a most admirable manner, never sparing herself so far as her health would permit. Notwithstanding her ill-health, which prevented her during her residence in Canada from participating to the extent she would wish in philanthropic and social duties, the people of Canada had opportunity to appreciate her kindness of heart and her beneficence. It was her fate, as has been observed by my right hon. friend, to have the last years of her life saddened by this terrible war between two countries to which she was bound by close ties. It is written that a daughter will leave the house of her father to follow her husband. This Her Royal Highness did. When she wedded a son of Queen Victoria she was not only wedded to the life of her husband, but also to his country. No one within the wide range of the British Empire could suffer more than she the agony that resulted from this war. Her heart ever beat true to the cause of her adopted country. I hope that our session of today will convey to her husband and to her children some consolation in the knowledge that her memory will ever endure in the hearts of the people of Canada.

The news of the death of Mr. J. W. Hoyt, collector of customs at McAdam, will be learned with the deepest regret by his numerous friends and acquaintances. He was one of the most capable and popular public officials in the province and was universally esteemed. He was looked upon as McAdam's foremost citizen, and during his residence there saw the place grow and develop until it is now the second town in the county of York. His public duties brought him into close contact with all classes of people, to a great many of whom his death will come as a personal loss. The sincere sympathy of all his friends and acquaintances will be extended to the widow and family in their great bereavement.

Senator Henry Corby, of Belleville, Ont., died at Honolulu a few days ago as the result of an attack of appendicitis. He was travelling in search of health at the time death overtook him. The late Mr. Corby represented Hastings in the House of Commons for several years and was called to the Senate in 1912. He carried on business as a distiller for many years, and was a man of wealth.

It is reported in local political circles that Col. H. F. McLeod, M. P., who has been in England almost since the outbreak of the war, will return home next month to make preparations for the approaching Federal election. It is understood that he will seek re-election in York and Sunbury.

The House of Commons on Monday, by a straight party vote of 48 to 20, defeated a motion by Mr. McCoig, Liberal member for West Kent, that tractor engines for farm work be admitted to Canada free of duty.

Evidence that a Federal election may be expected at an early date is shown by the fact that every Tory newspaper in the country has been furnished by the Ottawa Press Bureau with a half-tone cut and autograph signature of Sir Robert Borden.

Britain, at any rate, believes Canada can build ships. Orders have been placed by the Imperial government for the construction of 22 steel vessels, with a total tonnage of 175,000, with Canadian shipyards, while orders for eight others are pending. This will keep all Canadian shipbuilding plants busy until well into 1918. Sir Thos. White gave the information to Parliament. White gave the information to Parliament. Pugsley as to whether the Canadian government had yet taken any steps toward the building of ships.

Toronto Telegram: A special order of nobility for women is now reported to be in process of establishment. Titles cannot reward the service of every truly noble woman. Consequently Canada might be spared the temptations that will afflict this country with too many title-hungry, title-hunting women, just as the country is now afflicted with too many title-hunting, title-hungry men.

Chicago Tribune: America has no intention of fighting a ladies' war. America is going to fight, and when America gets started it is going to fight with more originality, more initiative and more savagery than any nation in the trenches.

Montreal Herald: William J. Bryan has now offered to enlist as a private soldier. Lots of moving picture comedies are in one reel.

Toronto Globe: And will Canada now be an "adjunct" of the United States?

Through Our Sieve

The box of garden tools is the modern treasure chest.

The Kitties are going strong on ceremonial drill.

Hang a few seed catalogue pictures where the garden can see them.

Lots of amateur gardeners will be digging up business soon.

What can be grown most successfully in a shady backyard this year? Burdocks—the same as last year.

If the price of eggs keeps up the hen, not the canary, will be the bird in the gilded cage.

Guatemala, Peru, Chile and China are all coming in while the water's fine.

The way the Patagonians and blond Eskimos are hanging back is getting to be a scandal.

Success in life consists in growing a tomato which really looks like the one on the front cover of the seed catalogue.

And now the nation wants the man who can make two bunches of garden-sass grow where only once bunch of garden-sass grew before.

To call a spade a spade is not enough. Unless you really use one you'd better speak of it respectfully as a garden implement.

HEALTHIEST ONE IN THE FAMILY

No Sign Of Dropsy And Kidney Trouble Since Taking "FRUIT-A-TIVES"

HATTIE WARREN

Port Robinson, Ont., July 8th, 1915.
"We have used 'Fruit-a-tives' in our house for over three years and have always found them a good medicine. Our little girl, Hattie, was troubled with Kidney Disease. The Doctor said she was threatened with Dropsy. Her limbs and body were all swollen and we began to think she could not live. Finally, we decided to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. She began to show improvement after we had given her a few tablets. In a short time, the swelling had all gone down and her flesh began to look more natural. Now she is the healthiest one in the family and has no signs of the old ailment. We can not say too much for 'Fruit-a-tives' and would never be without them."

McADAM LOSES ITS FOREMOST CITIZEN

Mr. J. W. Hoyt, Collector of Customs Passes Away After a Lingerings Illness

Many friends in Fredericton and elsewhere will learn with great regret of the death of Mr. J. Wesley Hoyt, collector of customs, who passed away at his home at McAdam on Thursday. He had been in delicate health for some time, and last summer visited New York and underwent a serious operation. It only gave him temporary relief, however, and of late his health had been steadily failing. The news of his death did not come as a surprise to his relatives and friends.

The late Mr. Hoyt was born in Blissville, Sunbury county, a son of the late William E. and Elizabeth Hoyt, and was 64 years of age. He took a prominent part in the affairs of his native county, for many years representing the parish of Blissville in the municipal council and filling the office of warden of the county most acceptably. For some years he was claims agent of the New Brunswick Railway at the time F. W. Cram was general manager, resigning to enter the Canadian customs service. His tact and ability in filling the McAdam position earned him the reputation of being one of the most efficient officials of the service in Canada.

Mr. Hoyt led an active life and was past master in both the Free Masons and the Orange order. He was a Baptist by religion and always took a deep interest in Sunday school work. He was genial, kind hearted and popular—always a most agreeable companion, and it can well be said he had a host of friends and no enemies. His death will be felt seriously in the town of McAdam, where he has resided for many years.

His wife, who was Miss Lockhart, sister of C. B. Lockhart, collector of customs at St. John, and a cousin of Capt. Read, of this city, survives, with four sons. They are Berton C., of Lethbridge, Alta.; Arthur L., of the customs service, St. John; Romane, at home, and Lieut. William H., now serving in France. He also leaves four sisters and two brothers. The sisters are: Mrs. Harvey Dewitt, of Harvey Station; Mrs. Benjamin Mersereau, of Patterson Settlement; Mrs. James Morgan, of St. John; Mrs. Phoebe Hoyt, of McAdam, and the brothers, Sherman, of St. John, and Jacob, of Hoyt Station.
