THE 36TH FIELD BATTERY MAKING GOOD IN FRANCE

Member of the Artillery Unit Organized in This City Writes Cheery Letter---English Girls Have Captured Some of the Boys.

(Sydney Record.)
A letter received recently from Lieutenant Teed, of the 36th Battery, by one of his friends in Sydney, brought word that E. V. Pledge, a Sydney man with the unit, has been awarded the Military Medal for his work in one of the recent heavy engagements in which the battery displayed a gallant part.

"He is a linesman," says Lieut. Teed "and certainly deserved the reward."
Lieut. Teed not only tells, too, of warm praise given the battery by several generals and other officers of high rank, but he gives interesting bits of personal information in regard to members of the unit. At the time the letter was written, Lieut. A. Livingstone was with the Divisional Pack Train, but was expected to rejoin the 36th at an early date.

The General's Praise.
"We are a great bunch," the officer writes, "and several generals who have looked us over have said 'the best I have ever seen.' Our men are splendid gunners and when it comes to shooting we can do the work. We got great praise for our part in the show and in consequent ones for the next two or three days. The boys certainly worked well and there isn't one I can point out and say 'You didn't do your best.'"

"We have now six guns. The 29th Battery (Guelph) was split up and we got two of their guns and two of their officers—one, J. W. L. Harris, formerly with us.

"Our ball team—Gordon Whitlock is pitcher—is having good success. We are now champions of our brigade. The divisional series comes off on May 24th and we shall put up some game."

Personal Bits.

"William McDonald, Allan's brother, is in this neighborhood, and we hope to be able to get him attached to the 36th. Herbert Spiller is over here too. We can't get him, for his unit won't let him go—he's too valuable a man."

"Did you hear J. J. Lovell is married? He went over to England sick and was married there. There is an unconfirmed report that Wilfred Poirier is also married. He is in England on sick leave. The English girls seem to have our fellows on the string."

Boys in Fine Shape.

"The boys are all feeling fine over here with the beautiful weather, but the winter was very hard on both men and horses, but we came through it all right, and everyone is up to the scratch again and in the best of health and spirits, and game to the last straw."

Lieut. Teed mentions that Sergeant Major Goss is certainly in the right place. He is absolutely king, and the boys will do anything for him."

HOUSES BURNED IN ST. MARYS

Harvey Cook's House Destroyed, John Booker's Premises Suffer from the Flames.

Several mysterious fires occurred in the outskirts of St. Mary's on Saturday and Sunday. On Sunday morning the barn of Mr. Harvey Cook was damaged. Later that morning his dwelling caught fire and was destroyed. Yesterday fire broke out in the barn of Mr. John Booker who lived near the Cook premises. The barn was burned and the flames were communicated to the house which also was damaged. The origin of all three fires is said to be unknown. Mr. Cook is reported to have been insured but Mr. Booker is said to have had no insurance.

St. Mary's firemen went to the scene with chemical extinguishers, the house being outside the water limits.

RETURNED MEN BOARDED TODAY

Being Classified for Re-education—Vocational Training Will be Given Here Shortly.

Representatives of the Great War Veterans' Association met the returned soldiers of Fredericton and vicinity here today, classifying them into different boards. A large number of men were interviewed and boarded by the G. W. V. A. this morning. The board consisted of Lieut. Dawson, vocational officer, Capt. Johnston, C. A. M. C., and Mr. Robinson, secretary of the Returned Soldiers' Association.

Lieut. Dawson, who is a returned soldier was formerly in 8th Field Company, Canadian Engineers. He went through the third battle of Ypres and the Battle of the Somme, being wounded in the latter engagement.

The object of the board is to determine whether a soldier's disabilities received on active service would prevent him from going back to his previous occupation. A man permanently disabled is recommended for a vocational re-education which will fit him to earn a livelihood in some trade or vocation so that on his final discharge he should be able to have as fully good an earning power as before he enlisted. In some cases men have been re-educated and are far better off than if they had not received any disabilities. At the present time there are quite a number of returned men taking the courses in the Maritime Provinces. Some of these are taking business courses in the various business colleges. Others are taking courses in the operation of autos, shoe making, civil service, navigation, machine tool operation, etc. When the convalescent home is opened here in Old Government House vocational training will be given to all the men undergoing convalescence. The vocational training consists of two branches — First, Vocational training to all men convalescing in the convalescent homes.

Second, The re-education of men who are so disabled that they cannot go back to their former work. Men boarded for re-education are kept on under a separate scale of pay and allowance until after their discharge and until they have completed their course in re-education.
