CANADA FINDS WEALTH OF UNDEVELOPED ABILITY

Returned Men Reveal Great Talent in Vocational Classes of the Military Hospital Commission and Many Lives Are Changed.

Canada is taking count of her undeveloped resources in these days of stress. Not the least of her discoveries has been the wealth of ability and even genius found among the returned soldiers by the officers of the vocational training branch of the Military Hospitals Commission.

The capabilities of the Canadian if he is given a chance seem to have no end. Men who have done the meanest work have returned to civil life to take positions paying fine salaries, and buoyed by the evident good will of the world and its eagerness to give him a chance are looking to even bigger things.

Cases Not Exceptional.

The cases noted in the different vocational training centres in Canada of men who were merely living by odd jobs requiring no training or particular education becoming experts in technical lines are not exceptions. They have been frequent enough to give rise to the rumor that the Government through the Military Hospitals Commission was aiming to put every soldier back into civil life trained to earn a greater wage than he ever did before. This of course is not true although in many instances it works out that way.

The interested co-operation, which the men so disabled as to be unable to follow their pre-war occupations, receive from the vocational officers in choosing new vocations can be measured in the success of the work.
