

NINE BOILS

Kept Coming on Neck, One After the Other.

Anyone who has ever suffered from boils knows how sick and miserable they make you feel.

When you think you are about cured of one, another seems ready to take its place and prolong your wretchedness. All this poulticing and lancing you may do will not cure them and stop more coming.

Boils are simply bad blood bursting out, and the bad blood must be made pure before the boils disappear.

Burdock Blood Bitters is the greatest blood purifier known. It cleanses the system and removes every particle of foul material from the blood, then never another boil comes and the cure is permanent.

Mr. Geo. Ayers, 302 Gloucester St., Ottawa, Ont., writes: "I wish to tell you what I know about your wonderful Burdock Blood Bitters. In the spring I suppose my system needed cleaning out, for I had nine boils come on my neck, one after the other. I quickly got a bottle of B.B.B. and before it was half finished I felt a great change, and it certainly put an end to my boils, otherwise I might have had a lot more. I recommend B.B.B. to all I can, for I know it to be a great remedy."

this gardening stunt through, if he dies in his tracks.

"You got me into it, Arabella Jane he said, yesterday when I begged him on my bended knees to let the old garden slide. Our house was as serene as the garden of Eden before Adam fell beguiled by a woman; life was as sweet and charming as some long dream of summer that haunts a winter night; there was no cloud on our horizon. But you refused to be satisfied and contented. Well, behold your work, woman! Peace no longer waves its white wings in our lowly dwelling. I shall raise our half-dollars worth of garden sass, even though the slavish toil puts me in my grave before my time."

"Every time he hurts himself, and that's pretty often, he comes to the house and charges me with it. Last evening two ladies dropped in to see me about some committee work, and while they were there William came in with a thorn in his finger. He got it pulling weeds in the garden. While I was extracting it he explained to the visitors that he was being slain by inches, working in a garden that was full of pitfalls, snares and gins, and all because I drove him to it through a mistaken idea of patriotism."

"Cheer up," said Mrs. Bingswanger. "The season is very young and he'll get over his peevishness."

THE CURSE OF CAIN IS UPON GERMAN SEAMEN

The Feeling Towards Them by Sailors of the Allied Nations is Fiercer Than the Worst Storm--Foul Murders Committed on the High Seas by the Huns Will Never be Forgotten--S. O. S. Call From Hun Ships Will be Ignored in Future

The following article appeared in the Liverpool Journal of Commerce over the signature of "Nauticus". That it reflects the unanimous sentiment of British seamen there can be no doubt. In reproducing it the Manufacturers' Record says: "What 'Nauticus' says will be the treatment of German sailors should be the treatment of all Germans everywhere on earth, until, in sackcloth and ashes they repent and dedicate their lives to atonement for their Nation's awful crime." Both "Nauticus" and the Manufacturers' Record are right. Dirty, foul, horrible and abominable as the Beasts of the Land are the Beasts of the Sea.

Let there be no mistake about the depth of the feeling against Germany which all decent seamen entertain at this moment. It is fiercer than the worst storm that ever blew and as strong as the trade wind which comes from the southeast.

"There will be strange ships on the waves--vessels flying the flag which has been hidden in canals and backwaters, where dastardly deeds are plotted for close on full four years. They will outwardly look like other ships. To all appearances they will be honest ships, but to every seaman that was not suckled by a German mother, or sired by one of the ravishers of brave Belgium they will be known as Scheussliche Schiffe, or horrible, abominable ships. They may fly the German flag in all its flaunting flashiness, but it will always be foul and bloody even in the pure sunlight of the tropics.

"Against the deep blue sky of summer this flag will look like an old boot on a sacred altar; the very vault of heaven will be stabbed with shame when it swims into the light of day. No one will salute it; no cheery message from cheery heart will greet it as it passes; no eye will be turned upon it from the crow's nest without a curse; it will pass along the silent highways of the world like the murderer of a little child seeking to hide from justice. Dirty, foul, horrible and abominable, red with the blood of innocent women and children and brave men, even the cleansing ozone of Gods great sea will not wash it clean in twice ten thousand years. It will stink in the nostrils of all mankind for ever and ever.

"To a clean, honest sailor the sea is like a mother. The British Seamen Union knows all about the foul murders which have been committed by German seamen, and its members will see that the full price is paid for these awful crimes against humanity. Three so-called peace delegates have been trying to sneak away to America for some time past, but so far they have found it impossible to embark. Why? Simply because the British seamen say 'No'. They would refuse to work a vessel if pacifists and other of like type were on board.

BIG INCREASE IN COAL OUTPUT IS NECESSARY

Philadelphia, Pa., May 28.--The production of coal in the United States for the year beginning April 1 must reach 735,000,000 net tons, J. D. A. Morrow, general director of distribution of the United States Fuel Administration, today told the National Coal Association. This means an increase of 85,000,000 tons over the production for the year 1917, if the war demands of the country are to be met. It is doubtful Mr. Morrow said if the production of anthracite coal can be increased over last year's total of 89,000,000 gross tons. Therefore the entire 85,000,000 tons must come from the bituminous mines.

ALIENS MUST WORK OR FIGHT

Washington, May 28.--Provost Marshal General Crowder's "work or fight" order has been applied to interned enemy aliens by the government and many Germans formerly engaged in business in the large cities of the country soon will be plying hoes and other farm implements in gardens at troop camps, raising vegetables for the soldiers.

"This shows the spirit, and if further evidence were needed it can be found in the recent utterances of J. Havelock Wilson, who has stated in public that the merchant marine masters, engineers, sailors, firemen and deck hands were fully resolved not to carry pacifists across the ocean. In addition to this, the merchant service from the officers down to the cabin boys, have pledged themselves not to salute the German flag in any port abroad, and they will refuse to salute it, or even recognize it, on the high seas.

"The German papers, which undoubtedly reflect the German mind, gloat over the crimes of their U-boats much as a foul murderer gloats over his victims. They take a sort of de-seased pride in such ghastly work. But the feeling of all neutral seamen is against them. Norway, since the outbreak of the war, has lost 745 vessels and 946 sailors through the German butchers, and it may be taken for granted that the result has been a legacy of eternal hate. Spain, Brazil, Uruguay, every nation on earth has suffered at the hands of the Teuton pirates, and the seamen of every nation will make them pay the bill.

"At a large meeting held in Copenhagen some weeks ago, whereat hundreds of officers of the Danish merchant marine were present, it was agreed unanimously that in view of the fact that the German nation had approved of the outrages committed by their U-boats against neutral seamen all association with it was impossible, and it was decided that all intercourse with German seamen must be broken off for a long time to come.

"As far as this country is concerned the punishment of German seamen may safely be left to British seamen. They know exactly what the brutes have done. They know that more than 4,000 British civilian men, women and children have been foully murdered by the German submarines, and they will act accordingly. For generations to come no S. O. S. will be heard when it emanates from a German ship in distress. For the next two or three hundred years German seamen will be known as the sharkmen of the sea, and something of the treatment accorded to captured sharks by fishermen in certain parts of the world will be theirs whenever opportunity affords.

"In every foreign port Germans will be marked men. Every hand will be against them, and they will never see the welcome smile of a friend. In the drinking dens they will drink audibly and slowly, as is their custom, but they will drink alone. No friendly glass of pot will clink or knock merrily against theirs. They will sit apart like colored trash, and even the commonest Lascar will greet them with scorn. In all the world's great harbors they will be known as butchers and murderers--men branded through to their very souls with the mark of Cain. And on all the seas and oceans their ships will be known as Scheussliche Schiffe--low, horrible, and abominable ships!

"Such is the punishment for their dreadful and wicked crimes, and it has been given by the even justice of the whole of the civilized world. Let 'Kulture' take heed of this and tremble for its sons, for in the days to come they will cry out for mercy. But there will be no mercy--seamen never forget and seamen never forgive, and they have looked upon their dead not once, but a hundred times."
