THE HUNS ARE RETREATING BACK TO THE FATHERLAND

British, French and Belgian Armies Are Making It Warm for Them--Ostend the Famous Submarine Base is Now in British Hands --- Lord Milner Says End of Prussianism is in Sight

FIFTH PAGE levJoffIKqf*Nredar ..

New York, Oct. 17.—The Associated Press tonight issued the following: Over a front of forty miles, from the North Sea in Belgium to Lille, in northern France, the Germans are in general retreat before the British, French and Belgian armies. Likewise the enemy is being forced to concede defeat by retrograde movements before the British and Americans south east of Cambrai; under the attacks of the French in the pocket between the Oise and the Serre rivers north of Laon, and by reason of continued strong attacks by the French and Americans in Champagne and along the Meuse river.

Retreat Still Orderly

Nowhere, however, is the enemy in disorder. In Belgian Flanders his steps are being hastened by reason of the swift drives into his lines by the British at Lille just south of the Belgian border, and by the French and Belgians further north, which threaten to compel him to enter Dutch territory and face internment unless he is fleet enough to withdraw out of the entire pocket between the Scheldt river and the sea and reconstitute his line with its right wing resting on Antwerp.

Ostend, one of the famous submarine bases on the sea, is in British hands. Bruges is all but captured, while to the south from the region east of Roulers, the Allied forces are fast driving toward Ghent in an endeavor to seal the western Flanders sack and retain in it large elements of the enemy's forces. Strong opposition is being offered in the Courtrai sector to prevent the Allies from carrying out their manoeuvres to the full. More than a score of additional villages have been liberated by the Allies troops and numerous guns and quantities of stores have been captured.

New Drive South of Cambrai

Southeast of Cambrai over a front of ten miles between Le Cateau and Bohain the British and Americans are delivering a violent attack against the Germans, and at last reports they were meeting with success, although the Germans were savagely resisting with machine guns and infantry and with artillery behind their line.

North of Laon in the sack between the Oise and the Serre rivers the French are endeavoring to drive out the Germans or capture them before they can make their way eastward to Hirson. Here also the enemy is using his machine gunners and artillery to impede the progress of the French, but nevertheless further gains have been recorded.

The greatest resistance of all however, is still being imposed against the efforts of the French and Americans in Champagne and along the Meuse river, where the holding of the line is essential to stave off a general retreat by the Germans all the way from Belgium to the Swiss frontier. The French in Champagne are still fighting hard to capture Reims, but the Germans thus far have been able to hold this important position in their own hands. North of Grand Pre both the French and Americans have made further progress over the difficult ground. Especially severe have been the hardships suffered by the Americans in encompassing the natural fortifications and the attacks by hordes of enemy machine gunners.

Before the Americans, the Germans are giving ground only inch by inch. U-Boats Called Off

Amsterdam, Oct. 17.—The Handelsblad publishes with reserve a report that the German admiralty has issued wireless instructions to all submarines to return to their bases.

End of Prussianism

London, Oct. 17.—Lord Milner, the British secretary of war, interviewed today by the evening Standard, said complete victory was in sight, namely the destruction of the Prussian military machine. All other aims faded into significance beside this aim. Punishment of the men who made the war and were responsible for its crimes; the question of reparation for wrongs and damage done; even territorial readjustments were all secondary to the rendering of Prussianism impotent for evil. If that one aim were achieved all the rest would follow naturally.

British Enter Douai

London, Oct. 17.—British troops entered the town of Douai today, after overcoming the enemy's resistance on the line of the Haute Deule Canal, according to the official statement from the war office tonight. The First British Army encircled and captured Lille the statement adds.

French Progress

With the French Army in France, Oct. 17.—In conjunction with the British First Army, the French attacked this morning over a wide front. The attack is progressing favorably.

The Selle Crossed

London, Oct. 17.—The attack of the British south of Lecateau today, has resulted in an advance of two miles. The manoeuvre is still progressing.

American forces south of Lecateau together with British troops on both sides of them, launched an attack soon after daylight this morning against the badly disorganized but desperately fighting Germans.

After the shells from the British artillery had done their part, the British and Americans stormed forward to the bank of the River Selle and managed to cross the stream, against a hail of machine gun bullets, from the other bank. Some of the men plunged into the muddy stream, while others crossed on pontoons.

The German machine gunners fought to the last and died firing their guns.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

A week without the movies! The first hundred years are the hardest.

Funny how apologetic a man always acts when he has to admit to a pretty girl that he is happily married.

Her husband's little weaknesses make a woman sorry for him; his wife's little weaknesses make a man sorry for himself.

We will give you just one guess as to who is enjoying the "influenza" holidays most, the school boy or the moving picture theatre man?

A fond mother may consider her son the flower of the family—and the neighbors may consider him a blooming idiot.

Almost any married man will freely admit that in the choice of a partner his wife's judgment was superior to his own.
