RICH FARMING COUNTRY IN VICINITY OF PENNIAC

A Mail Representative Gives His Impressions of the Place---The Home of Some Famous Big Game Hunters and Guides
---Mr. James Gibson Has Splendid Farm
---Raising Karakule Sheep

A member of the Mail staff who has been travelling through the counties of York and Sunbury recently visited that beautiful village situated on the banks of the Nashwaak river, a few miles above Marysville, known as Penniac the home of several famous hunters, fishermen and guides. Penniac is a progressive little place, situated on an elevation, mid beautiful and extensive farm lands, a large portion of the surrounding country being in grain, hay, oats and garden produce.

It is a pretty drive from Fredericton up the Valley of the Nashwaak through Devon and Marysville into Penniac. The roads all the way are in good condition. Especially through the Town of Marysville, the road is excellent, probably one of the best stretches of road in York County if not in New Brunswick. It is a credit to the road committee of the Marysville Town Council, who look after that portion of the highway.

It is a grand sight to drive along and see the logs piled up against the piers above Marysville, with men working, breaking jams in order to supply the raftsmen at the mouth of the river, near Barker's Point where a large crew is employed attending to that part of the work, from which place logs are towed to St. John and there manufactured into pulp.

Copenhagen

One of the most beautiful places in Penniac is the home of Mr. James Gibson known as 'Copenhagen' formerly occupied by Rev. W. W. Brewster. It is situated a few rods from the railway station, with the Nashwaak river gleaming through the well developed alder bushes which adorn the high and picturesque bank at the extreme rear of Mr. Gibson's hospitable home. Mr. William West who looks after Mr. Gibson's garden is the right man in the right place and has splendid results in the product of his large gardens. The potatoes, grain and hay are looking better this year than ever and promise large crops. Mr. Gibson also has several fancy beds of beautiful flowers. There are three or four large barns on the premises to shelter Mr. Gibson's well bred cattle and horses. The farm also contains pigs, fowl, and ducks. In the olden days it was at this farm that the Marysville Methodist Sabbath School always held its annual picnic, traveling on the late Alex. Gibson's own Canada Eastern Railway which is now operated as part of the Canadian Government Railways.

A short distance from this farm is the extensive farm of Mr. Clarence N. Goodspeed where there is everything generally to be seen on a farm. Mr. Goodspeed also conducts a store which is located in the centre of the settlement.

Karakule Sheep

A few miles above is a thickly settled part of the country of rich farm land, is the famous Karakule sheep farm of Mr. W. Harry Allen, who has a few of the thoroughbred sheep and lambs in pasture. Mr. Allen this year has gone extensively into farming his hay crop being especially large and of excellent quality. He also raises wheat, oats, buck-wheat, potatoes, beans and other produce on a large scale. During haying season a crew of men is employed to do the work as the farm is a large one. Mr. Allen also has gone extensively into poultry raising and has some fine breeds of which he is very proud. Besides his Penniac farm Mr. Allen has large tracts of forest land on which he has erected sporting camps of which there are several. These are visited each autumn by sportsmen from different parts of the United States and Canada. Some prominent and wealthy men have visited his camps.

Electric Storms

One thing strange about Penniac is that electric storms seem to be more severe in that locality than in any other part, only a few weeks ago while in the midst of pleasure, enjoying a friendly game of base ball a young man, Lee Goodspeed was killed while playing with his team. He was very popular in the community in which he lived. A few days after the tragedy another storm almost as severe accompanied by rain, wind and hail, passed over Penniac doing much damage to the crops. On this occasion the lightning struck the chimney of Thomas Wade's house which is situated on the border of the ball field. Several bricks were knocked off the top of the chimney a large hole made in the roof of the house, a fixture blown from the chimney into one of the rooms, while the covers on the kitchen stove was thrown to the floor by the shock. The lightning then followed the upright from the cellar, running along the beam to another upright which it split to the ground and tore into slivers. The linoleum on the floor was also torn. During the storm Mrs. Wade received a severe shock from which she was a long time recovering. In fact four or five days after it happened she still felt the effects especially in the left arm which was nearest the stove when the house was struck.

Ideal Place

Penniac is an ideal place to spend one's vacation, the people being very sociable, thoughtful and kind hearted. Anybody seeking a day's outing could not do better than visit this pretty place. There is always a longing to return.
