THE TROUBLES THAT ENSUE WHEN THE RENT IS ADVERTISED TOO LOW

(Chicago News)
"There isn't a thing the matter with this place," said the lady who was looking for a house to rent. "Not a thing!"
"Ah, yes, there is," responded the man. "There is bound to be."
"Well, then, what is the matter with it?" inquired the lady.
"Why the rent is too low. Never move into a house where the rent is too low. It is absolutely the worst mistake a person can make.

"Now this house is all right you say. It is the right size and the right shape the neighborhood is O.K. in every way there is the right amount of sun and air and the right number of closets. The kitchen is O. K. and the whole thing fits our furniture exactly, so we won't have to buy a thing or saw the tops off our heirlooms to get them inside. But it is too cheap, and you know it is too cheap.

"If the fellow who owns this house was willing to rent it at this ridiculously low figure we would never have had a chance to see it. All desirable houses are taken before 7 o'clock in the morning, and you may be sure you would have to get up early in the morning to get this place if there wasn't something the matter with it. I'm sure there is some mistake.

"Only just the other day a man told me that through some mistake his house was advertised for $10 a month less than he intended and say the renters didn't do a thing to him! They were taking the place by note and by phone all day Sunday. They assailed him in his home and he had to go away from home and stay away to keep would-be renters from renting that house in spite of him. And when he got back he found all kinds of notes in his letter box and stuffed under his front door, telling him the house was taken and that they were ready to have possession immediately. He was afraid the people would be tearing each other to pieces like wolves. There is always a mistake when the house is right and the rent too cheap.

"If you were to rent this house at the landlord's figure it wouldn't be right and you know it wouldn't be right and you wouldn't be able to keep from worrying about it. You wouldn't be able to sleep for wondering what was wrong.

"What I like to do is to rent a house for more than it's worth. Then there is no occasion for worry. You don't need to be looking for what is wrong with it. You already know. The rent is too high. You can sleep soundly in such a house, one without any mystery attached to it or any haunts such as defective pipes or a paper foundation.

"If this place is too blooming cheap let's not take it. There is solid comfort in paying more rent than a house is worth."

"Come here dear," said the woman who was looking for a house. "Measure this wall for me again so I can see how we will dispose of the furniture."

And the man did.

MIGHT BE WORSE.

(Boston Record.)

An old man in a neighboring city, who was considerable of philosopher in his way, had as one of his favorite sayings the following: "Wal, ef things want as they air, there's no knowing how they would be." Or, in other words, things might be worse. This bit of philosophy is recommended to those affected directly or indirectly by the prevailing epidemic. The Huns might be winning, for example.

In the midst of all the other excitement everybody might begin to edge in a little Christmas shopping.

A few years ago women were crying for a chance to work "just as men do." Now a lot of them are vainly sighing to find a man who will work just as hard as they do.

THE DAY AND THE WORK.

(Edwin Markham.)

To each man is given a day and his work for the day;
And once and no more he is given to travel this way.
And woe if he flies from the task, whatever the odds;
For the task is appointed to him on the scroll of the gods.

There is waiting a work where only his hands can avail;
And so, if he falters, a chord in the music will fail.
He may laugh to the sky, he may lie for an hour in the sun;
But he dare not go hence till the labor appointed is done.

To each man is given a marble to carve for the wall;
A stone that is needed to heighten the beauty of all;
And only his soul has the magic to give it a grace;
And only his hands have the cunning to put it in place.

Yes, the task that is given to each man, no other can do;
So the errand is waiting; it has waited through ages for you.
And now you appear and the Hushed Ones are turning their gaze
To see what you do with your chance in the chamber of days.

AUSTRIAN ARMIES WERE SEPARATED

Italian Headquarters, Nov. 3.—More than a thousand square miles of Italy's invaded provinces have been reconquered in the past week's fighting, but the greatest importance of the daring movement conceived by Gen. Diaz is his success in separating the Austrian army occupying the Monte Grappa and Trentino regions from that on the Venetian plain.

At the same time he is threatening the Austrian contingents holding the section southeast of the Piave, which may be enveloped or cut off by the Italians advancing toward Pordenone. King Victor Emmanuel is always the first to share the danger with his troops. He divides his time between the Monte Grappa region and the section east of the Piave. His appearance always causes outbursts of enthusi-

HOW TO CELEBRATE.

(Boston Record.)

When asked what he would do to celebrate the news of peace—when it arrived—a London householder, after brief thought, said that he would light every gas-jet in his house, switch on all the electric lights and then throw open every blind. Anyone who has spent any time in London during the season of almost nightly bombardments by raiding Zeppelins will appreciate the true meaning of the householder's contemplated celebration.

Paper clothing, now widely used in Germany, is no new thing. Hobos long ago discovered that newspapers wrapped about the body are warmer in winter than an overcoat.

When recognized by his men, they shout to him "Viva, the soldier king!"

When liberated populations, with tears in their eyes, surround his automobile, they shout "Viva our liberator!"

MINARD'S "KING OF PAIN" LINIMENT

The old reliable remedy for rheumatism, neuralgia, sore throat and sprains.

Best Liniment Made

Mr. A. E. LAUNDY, EDMONTON, writes: "I fell from a building and received what the doctor called a very bad sprained ankle, and told me I was not to walk on it for three weeks. I got MINARD'S LINIMENT and in six days I was out to work again. I think it the best liniment made."

Minard's Liniment always gives satisfaction. For any ache or pain. It gives instant relief.

Naturally, Germany is outraged at President Wilson's demand for justice. Justice will ruin the autocrat business.

THE WAR INDUSTRIES OF THE MARITIMES

Shall they lag for want of money?

WHILE the whole of Canada is called upon to produce with feverish activity the food, clothes, shoes and the thousand and one other war needs that must be supplied for Canada's fighting men, it is to these Provinces—the Maritime Provinces—that our armies look for those supplies that are peculiarly the products of New Brunswick, Nova Scotia and Prince Edward Island.

Iron and steel is perhaps the greatest need of all. We have the mines and industries to produce them.

Ships are needed with a need that is imperative and pressing. We are building them.

Timber is needed for those ships and for a hundred war-time uses. Our forests are providing them.

Fish, fruit, hay, potatoes and many other natural products of the Maritimes are in enormous demand. We are supplying them.

These and other Maritime industries have been speeded up—how?

By the energy of our people? Yes, by that and something more.

Our energy would count for naught without money.

And the money to finance these great achievements in production has been provided by Canada's war loans.

Canada must keep up the glorious effort she is making, and for this she must have money—money which she must obtain from her people.

And the men of the Maritimes will supply their share of the needed money. They will eagerly come forward with their applications for Victory Bonds.

Never laggards in war or in work, they will to their utmost, not only to the limit of their resources but to the very limit of their credit.

Issued by Canada's Victory Loan Committee in co-operation with the Minister of Finance of the Dominion of Canada.
