HYMNS OF HATE.

The New York Herald, one of the leading papers of the United States, does not believe in drawing a fine distinction between the German military leaders and the German people, but believes, and rightly, that they are all tarred with the same stick. In a recent issue, in referring to the fighting spirit of the American boys in France, it says:

"They hate the Germans because they know that although they are soldiers in the sense that they are part of a military organization and in uniform, they also are cut-throats who murder women and children and do so with genuine gusto, because it is safer than attacking an armed enemy. Nor have our boys in the trenches any fine-spun theories as to there being any difference between the German government and the German people. They know that a people that celebrates the sinking of the Lusitania with the ringing of bells, displays of flags, holidays in the schools and other festivities is just as cruel as the government that ordered the vessel sunk and that it is just as much to be hated."

"They know, too, that there is yet to be heard a protest from the German people against the barbarities practiced by their armies and their navy, including the killing of nurses and wounded in hospitals, the sinking of Red Cross ships and the ruthless murder of unarmed civilians."

"The French and the English had to have lessons in hate. Early in the war an officer of the German navy who had been taken prisoner and was aboard a British warship bound for an English port, was given the courtesy of the officers' mess. He appreciated the favor and was expressing his regret that he could do nothing in return. Then up piped a young midshipman and, wholly unconscious of the humor in what he was about to request, said: 'You might sing us The Hymn of Hate. We've heard of it, but haven't heard it.'"

"Soon, however, the English and the French learned that there was no treachery, no barbarity, no breach of the rules of civilized warfare that the Germans would not commit in their lust for world dominion. Women and children slain in the streets of London and Paris by bombs dropped by German airmen constituted their first lesson in why to hate. Others were not long in coming."

The "Hymn of Hate," says the Herald, "was written in Germany, to be sung there. But today it is being written in flashes in the sky on the western front and sung by the guns on the Marne. Those guns are American."

BOODLERS MUST DISGORGE.

The Attorney General and Provincial Secretary-Treasurer, acting for the Provincial Government, have made a demand on the Valley Railway boodlers to restore to the provincial treasury certain moneys wrongfully taken in connection with various contracts. Ex-Premier J. K. Flemming has been asked to hand over the sum of $100,000 paid to him by Mr. A. R. Gould at the time the original contract was signed; Mr. W. B. Tennant has been asked to pay back the sum of $133,000 which he secured from the Nova Scotia Construction Company; Mr. Thomas Nagle has been invited to come across to the tune of $20,000. If the money is not paid forthwith, legal proceedings will be instituted.

The people of the province will heartily endorse the action of the government in seeking restitution from the men who defrauded the province in connection with the Valley Railway contracts. The case will at once be proceeded with in the courts and the outcome will be awaited with interest.

The bonds now being offered for sale over the counter by the Provincial Government are being quickly taken up. The bonds are being sold at par and are free from taxation. This means a straight return of six per cent on the investment. In order that large and small investors may be accommodated, they are being offered in denominations ranging from $100 to $1,000.

Pittsburg Leader: Whatever else may happen, the big fact stands out that for the first time in four years the Allied armies are strong enough to offer an offensive movement which may have results to turn the tide of war. Even larger for the moment is the reflection in the American mind that the beginning was made by American men, American guns and American commanders.

Brooklyn Eagle: At last the spell of brute tyranny has been broken! A free world, though still at grips with the enemy amid the battle chaos of Armageddon, can cry 'At last, a light!' Already, despite the known dangers and the knowledge of sacrifices yet to be made, we catch a glimpse of the dawn which must soon give way to the day of complete victory.

Rochester Times: The tide has turned. There is no mistake about that now. We have the Hun on the run and he never again will obtain supremacy. Each passing day makes us stronger in every branch of the service. The outlook is bright. It is glorious. Today we can rejoice and feel absolutely confident that victory will crown our efforts.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

Besides its meatless weeks, Germany is doomed to a fruitless war.

Until the wagon of civilization is out of the mud we must all get behind and push.

Every time the Kaiser leaves the Austrians alone over night they get into trouble.

Just because you don't get what you want, don't jump to the conclusion that you're not going to get what you don't want.

When a man and his wife get along nicely together, all the women of the neighborhood think it's because the wife is boss.

Perhaps the sixty weather experts that the Kaiser has at the front may be able to tell him which way the wind is blowing.

It must make the klown quince peevish to see the way his to-be estate is dwindling away. "Papa," we fancy him exclaiming, "you are to blame for this—you were fool enough to take my advice."

WIFE AND LITTLE BOY

SAVED BY
DR. FOWLER'S
 EXTRACT OF
WILD STRAWBERRY
BOTH HAD DYSENTERY

Dysentery comes on very suddenly and is one of the worst and most dangerous of all bowel troubles. The pains in the bowels become intense, the discharges occur with great rapidity, and are very often accompanied by blood. Unless these discharges are checked the sufferer becomes weak and languid, and very often death ensues. There is only one remedy to use in all cases of dysentery or any other looseness of the bowels, and that is "Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry."

It will cure where all others fail. It has been on the market for 73 years.

Don't accept a cheap substitute and thus endanger your health.

Mr. W. J. Metcalfe, Tofield, Alta., writes: "I wish to state that we have used Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry with good results. I will say that it can't be beat. It saved my wife and little boy, last summer, when they were very low with dysentery. We always have a bottle of it in the house, and would not be without it if it cost five dollars a bottle."

The genuine "Dr. Fowler's" is manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont. Price 35c.

HUN PRISONER GLORIES IN WAR'S AWFUL CRIMES

London, July 25.—Despite their four years of fighting, some of the German prisoners of war still are obsessed by the German idea of conquering the world. That unadulterated Prussianism still exists in the German ranks is the conclusion of one British officer who has interviewed a number of the German prisoners. One of them he describes as an "intelligent university man." The British officer quotes their conversation as follows:

"I do not wish to insult you," said the German, "but you English are wellintentioned fools. We who govern in Germany are not like you; we govern the fools; the fools govern you."

"Your principles are sweeping," replied the Briton. "To come down to practice, what have you to say about the guilt of beginning the war?"

"Guilt?" demanded the German: "it was a glory. I claim it for Germany."

Official View for Fools.

"That is hardly your official view."

"The official view is for the fools."

"But you believe in the Prussian purpose behind all this?" asked the British officer.

"I do, as in nothing else," replied the German. "The Prussian purpose is God. There is no other. Prussia will rend the veil of the temple, but she will destroy to create. Against Prussianism might the world as it exists today will fall in ruins, but Prussia will build a better and more virile world in its place. Strength only will survive. The life of men is naturally a fight. The strongest in force and cunning will live."

"It will be going back to the Flood," said the Briton.

"Prussia is the Flood."

"And when the old world is drowned, virtue and all such weaknesses will go with it?"

Old Virtue Womanish

"The old virtue was womanish," said the prisoner. "The new virtue is strength."

"In that blessed future will war reign triumphant?"

"Life is war—all of life that is healthy. Peace is only striving for mastery with other weapons. That is the law of nature."

"So everyone will fight till everyone is dead?"

"The weakest will go under. They are the disease. The stronger will live; and after that the stronger and stronger, till there is perfect health."

"But it may be that Prussia will keep a few slaves."

"I had had enough of it," the officer concluded. "It was nauseating. But the man was genuine in his beliefs and so obsessed by his elementary notion of virility that it was a waste of time to argue with him. His conceptions were quite definite and not a doubt assailed him. The hideous world of his vision seemed to him a natural and a glorious world."

News of the death at Halifax of Mr. William F. Currie, a former citizen was learned with deep regret by many old friends in this city. Before moving to Halifax twenty years ago Mr. Currie carried on business as a general agent here. He was known as a hustler and was a familiar figure about the streets. His resemblance to his twin brother Allison T. Currie was very striking and many people had difficulty in distinguishing one from the other.

Sheep on Every Hill Side in New Brunswick

The New Brunswick Government through the Department of Agriculture has arranged with the Chartered Banks to help the Farmers -- where assistance is needed -- to buy sheep.

The Department will not only arrange to buy Sheep FOR the Farmers, but will also buy good breeders FROM the Farmers --- in other words, this branch of the Agricultural Department WILL SUPERVISE ALL PURCHASES AND SALES OF SHEEP.

IF A FARMER NEEDS CREDIT TO BUY SHEEP he should consult his local banker who has the necessary forms.

If you cannot buy sheep in your locality, inform the nearest banker who will notify the Agricultural Department, or, better still, notify the Department yourself and say how many Sheep you want.

KEEP YOUR EWE LAMBS

Every Ewe Lamb weighing 80 pounds and over and of reasonable quality, should be retained by farmers for breeding purposes. Sell the males and the inferior females for butcher purposes. If you have more ewe lambs than required, induce your neighbor to purchase.

THE VALUE OF WOOL

Unwashed wool of the best quality brought 80 cents a pound this spring, or about $5.00 a fleece.

SIXTY MILLION SHEEP

Have been lost in Europe since the war started. Wool in enormous quantities is now required to clothe the soldiers. It will take an immense quantity to reclothe the returned men in civilian dress. Prices will likely be high for ten years.

New Brunswick has the pasture, hay, roots and a climate suited to sheep. Every farmer should consider investing in a small flock as a foundation. The first year will give approximately $4.00 worth of wool per sheep; the sheep will cost about $15.00. Is it not a good business proposition?

If you cannot purchase locally, place your order with your banker. Orders will be filled, if possible, in the order filed at this office through the banks.

For further information apply to

J. F. TWEEDDALE,
 Minister of Agriculture.
