Important Bills

$200 per year from each municipality for the instruction and board of each boy and a similar amount would be paid by the province.

The bill was agreed to.

The committee next took up consideration of the bill to amend the Act respecting the education of deaf and deaf mute persons.

HON. MR. BYRNE explained that the province had the right to send deaf mutes to the school at Halifax. The charge made by the institution was originally $82.50 per pupil, but in 1913 it had been increased to $125. Now, as the result of the high cost of living, it was proposed to further increase it to $150. The same rate would be charged the municipalities to which the pupils belonged. The bill was agreed to.

Court Stenographers.

The committee next took up consideration of the bill respecting shorthand reporting in county courts.

HON. MR. BYRNE explained that an Act to provide for shorthand reporting in the County Courts had been passed in 1913, but had not worked out satisfactorily, and it was now proposed to amend it. Under the amended act it is proposed that the party entering a suit shall pay $2.50 to the clerk of the court, and when testimony is to be taken the other party to the suit shall pay in a similar amount, payments to continue daily during the continuance of the trial. The money is to be turned over to the Secretary-Treasurer of the Municipality. It is provided that the stenographer shall be paid $5 per day for attendance when there is no testimony, and when employed in taking evidence the allowance shall be $10 per day. Necessary travelling expenses are to be paid on the certificate of the presiding Judge. It was felt that under the proposed arrangement the work of County Courts would be greatly facilitated and the saving to the Municipalities would more than offset the expense incurred.

MR. BAXTER said he understood from the bill that litigants were to contribute $5 per day and the difference would be made up by the municipalities. He said that it was difficult to procure competent stenographers, and he did not think the standard for county courts should be any lower than that of the Supreme Courts. It was useless to have a stenographer who was insufficiently expert to render the service for which he or she was being paid.

HON. MR. BYRNE said that the work in the two courts, being similar, it was important that the standard should be the same.

MR. BAXTER thought it should be set forth in the bill that the qualification required should be the same as for Supreme Courts.

HON. MR. BYRNE said he would act on the suggestion, and ask that progress be reported.

MR. McGRATH thought the section of the bill which empowered the presiding Judge to enter up a verdict against the party to the suit who failed to pay the shorthand fee was a little too drastic.

HON. MR. BYRNE, replying, said that there was a similar provision in other Acts relating to courts, especially in regard to the jury fund. It might be considered a little harsh by laymen, but no injustice was done.

MR. BAXTER said that since the committee had agreed to the bill amending the Towns Incorporation Act, he had given the matter some further consideration and would suggest that progress be reported. It was important that the Act should not conflict with Federal statutes.

HON. MR. MURRAY moved the reconsideration of the bill and the committee reported progress.

MR. BAXTER said he noticed by an Ottawa despatch that Sir George Foster intended to promote legislation this session fixing the standard of a cord of wood at 128 feet.

HON. MR. ROBINSON presented a petition for the passage of an Act for the incorporation of the Women's Patriotic League of the City of Moncton.

HON. MR. VENIOT rose to a question of privilege. He said he noticed that one of the newspapers which published a report of his remarks on the Highway Act, had stated in the headline that he had pledged himself to have the patrol system in working order in four months. It was impossible for such a thing to be done. What he had said was that, profiting by the experience of the State of Maine, he hoped to have the patrol system in working order in two years.

The House adjourned at 5.10 p.m.

GIRLS! HAVE WAVY, THICK, GLOSSY HAIR FREE FROM DANDRUFF

Save your hair! Double its beauty in a few moments—try this!

If you care for heavy hair, that glistens with beauty and is radiant with life; has an incomparable softness and is fluffy and lustrous, try Danderine.

Just one application doubles the beauty of your hair, besides it immediately dissolves every particle of dandruff; you cannot have nice, heavy, healthy hair if you have dandruff. This destructive scurf robs the hair of its lustre, its strength and its very life, and if not overcome it produces a feverishness and itching of the scalp; the hair roots famish, loosen and die; then the hair falls out fast.

If your hair has been neglected and is thin, faded, dry, scraggy or too oily, get a small bottle of Knowlton's Danderine at any drug store or toilet counter; apply a little as directed and ten minutes after you will say this was the best investment you ever made.

We sincerely believe, regardless of everything else advertised, that if you desire soft, lustrous, beautiful hair and lots of it—no dandruff—no itching scalp and no more falling hair—you must use Knowlton's Danderine. If eventually—why not now?

SCOTCH SETTLEMENT.

Scotch Settlement, Mar. 12. — The weather continues cold and stormy. The roads again are again in bad shape from the recent heavy storm, but we expect the new plow, recently purchased for this section, will soon make them all right again.

Mr. Walter Allen has been quite ill for the past week, but is now slightly improved.

Mrs. Douglas Gay of Kingsclear, has been visiting friends in this place.

Mrs. Emily Haines of Hawkinsville Corner is visiting Mrs. Leslie Sharp. "Auntie" is a very welcome visitor and we hope she may spend several weeks with us.

Mr. and Mrs. Hedley R. Currie and family of Lower Line, Queensbury, spent Saturday and Sunday with Mrs. Currie's mother, Mrs. Maatha Hagerman.

A very pretty home wedding was solemnized on Wednesday the 6th inst., at the home of the bride in this place when Miss Effie A. Haine became the wife of Mr. Fred Kidney, a prosperous farmer of Carleton county. The ceremony was performed by Rev. O. E. Steeves in the presence of about fifty invited guests. The bride was dressed in white satin. She wore a

ANOTHER CASE OF WASTED HEROISM

Harriett Had to Endure That Western Cousin, and Caroline Said It Served Her Right.

(Chicago News.)

"Honest, I do feel sorry for Harriett!" Caroline announced at the dinner table. "It's just awful!"

"H'm!" said the father of the family. "Why this unusual tender sympathy? What's happened to Harriett?"

"She's got a cousin," explained Caroline, "and she has to entertain him for a week while his parents go on east. He is western and everything! Oh, he has table manners and wears white collars—they live on a million acres of land, I guess, and have several automobiles—but he's so western!"

"Well," said the father of the family, "that's what you girls fall all over yourselves paying out good money to see at the movies! Why object to having it on tap right at hand. Instead of sobbing and repining, Harriett ought to issue invitations and have a lariat throwing exhibition right in her own parlor. Maybe she could arrange to have somebody rescued from bandits, too, using the staircase as a mountain range. Why the possibilities—" "It isn't a joke!" declared his child, loftily. "I guess if you had a cousin on your hands who thought that a fox hunt and never heard of a Boston flu sundae, and didn't care which necktie he wore with what—you'd see!"

"Just when Arthur Hunter has be-

NINE BOILS Kept Coming on Neck, One After the Other.

Anyone who has ever suffered from boils knows how sick and miserable they make you feel. When you think you are about cured of one, another seems ready to take its place and prolong your wretchedness. All this poulticing and lancing you may do will not cure them and stop more coming.

Boils are simply bad blood bursting out, and the bad blood must be made pure before the boils disappear.

Burdock Blood Bitters is the greatest blood purifier known. It cleanses the system and removes every particle of foul material from the blood, then never another boil comes and the cure is permanent.

Mr. Geo. Ayers, 302 Gloucester St., Ottawa, Ont., writes: "I wish to tell you what I know about your wonderful Burdock Blood Bitters. In the spring I suppose my system needed cleaning out, for I had nine boils come on my neck, one after the other. I quickly got a bottle of B.B.B. and before it was half finished I felt a great change, and it certainly put an end to my boils, otherwise I might have had a lot more. I recommend B.B.B. to all I can, for I know it to be a great remedy."

gun to call on Harriett lots—and he's so particular! Why, that boy would die if he found a pink-edged handkerchief in his pocket when his socks were green! He is very sensitive to color, because he told Harriett so—and when he called and Harriett had to introduce Reynolds she just suffered!

"Reynolds had on a soft shirt in the evening and his hair was brushed the wrong way and of course Arthur didn't know right away that he has a fine character and can ride any kind of a horse. Harriett said when she saw Arthur's lips twitch and his eyebrows go up the teeniest bit and saw him sort of scrunch down when Reynolds shook hands in that hearty way of his she just hoped a bomb would hit the house or something!"

"And when Arthur took out his gold cigarette case and offered it, Reynolds looked contemptuously at it and said he never touched the things; and when Reynolds passed some gum Arthur just smiled wearily and said gentlemen hadn't used the stuff for years now, no thank you—and it kept getting worse and worse till Harriett—"

"I'm disappointed in Harriett," declared the father of the family, shaking his head. "Here she has all the props for a regular movie and instead of getting to work and making it go she wrings her hands and repines!"

"But what can she do with Reynolds?" demanded his daughter. "He won't go to dances and he's sick of movies and she can't take him shopping or make him knit and she doesn't."

"Well," said the father of the family, "he did the clothes poles are in the way in the back yard and she's sure the police would arrest Reynolds if he rode down a street the same way he's used to riding around the ranch."

"Well," said the father of the family, "I recognize the fact that it might upset the neighbors to have Reynolds do jumps over back fences and lasso ash cans through the air. Likewise no lady peaceably wheeling a baby carriage down the street would relish having a western horseman leap off a roof and just clear her head as he took the pavement. I gather these are samples of what Harriett expects her cousin would be apt to do in order to make himself feel at home and comfy."

"Harriett says he has no use for a girl when he finds she can't ride and nobody here does ride, so she can't make him fall in love with anybody. He is on her hands every minute and she is afraid Arthur will get tired of it and stop coming. She couldn't stand that, because all the other girls would be tickled to pieces. He is the most exclusive boy in the crowd and Harriett couldn't sleep the time he first said he was coming to call on her. She said she never expected anything as wonderful as that to happen to her."

"Jehosaphat!" exploded the father of the family. "I never heard such nonsense. I'm for the western lad every time! And I bet he hates it as much as Harriett does!"

"You don't understand it at all!" cried Caroline. "Harriett is perfectly noble about it! She is going to give a real party for Reynolds and he's got to wear his Tuxedo and take a girl out to supper and be polite and everything! Harriett says it's time 'he learned a few things!'"

"My hat!" sighed her father. "I did not dream Harriett was capable of such refined cruelty and fieldish revenge! I hope she loses her pet Arthur to pay her up, I do!"

Caroline coughed. "Well," she admitted, "Arthur's beginning to act as though he liked me, so maybe she will! It really would serve her right, wouldn't it?"
