GENUINE DUSKY DIAMOND FROM WOODSTOCK

Saturday Evening Post Writer
Tells of Gallant Service
in France of Miles
Diamond.

The Saturday Evening Post tells this story:

"In August, 1914, the first lot of soldiers left Woodstock, N. B., for Valcartier. Among them, and towering over his comrades as the company marched to the station, was a stalwart negro named Miles Diamond. Now, in those days it was thought by the unthoughtful that the war would soon be over, and some very uncomplimentary remarks were made about the negro soldier by certain youths who should have been beside him. The customary snapshot was taken of the marching company, and Miles stands out in bold relief. He soon became one of the noble 37,000 and survived all the mud and mark of Salisbury Plain and in due season went across the channel. But before leaving Salisbury Plain there was more notoriety coming to Miles. A photographer of the Illustrated London News happened to take a photograph of some Canadians passing on horseback along the flooded streets in Salisbury, and our good Miles was easily recognized as one of the number. When he got to France he wrote back that his first experience under fire was that the "bullet passed him and then he passed the bullet." However, he made a first-class fighting man. The other day there blew into the town a fine, well set up colored man, looking more like a Spaniard than a negro, and it was our old friend Miles. Come back he had with most honorable leave. Never even asked for it, but was called to headquarters and given three months off with his way paid as a reward for his faithful service. He has all the badges which go to show that he served in the main Canadian actions, and that he has not been out of France since he went in. He wears two honorable wounds and a noticeable face scratch when he had unpleasant contact with barbed wire. Asked if he wanted to go back, this manly negro said: "Why not? It's no use leaving a job half finished." And there is not much cheap laughing at Miles today. The "white men" take off their hats to him and the others who are very few, don't say anything. It wouldn't go if they did."

CHILDHOOD CONSTIPATION

Constipation is one of the most common ailments of little ones and unless relieved may become chronic and baby's health for all time become impaired. Nothing can equal Baby's Own Tablets in regulating the bowels. They are a mild, safe laxative, easy to administer and never fail to be effective. Concerning them Mrs. Emile LaChapelle, Terrebonne, Que., writes: "I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my baby who was badly constipated and they quickly relieved him. All mothers should keep a box of these Tablets in the house." The Tablets are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

BREAD AND STONES.

Just the other day
I saw a big, fat,
Overfed person talking
To a slim, bony individual
And lecturing him about
Food conservation.
The little man listened
Patiently until he was
Finished, then he said:
"People who have bay windows
Shouldn't throw stones."

Slants of Humor

CRUEL FATE.

When'er I read the glorious news
From fields where battles rage,
I wish that I could knock a score
Of years off from my age.
It's tough to stand upon the curb
And watch the soldiers go.
It's tough to be so doggone old
You cannot strike a blow.
To sit and wait and boil and fret,
And grouch and curse and hate,
And never get to swat the Hun—
Believe me, boy—some fate.

MIGHT TRY DYNAMITE.

Extract from patriotic speech in a theatre:
"Raise your own gardens, ladies and gentlemen; raise your own gardens." How do you go to work to raise a garden? More light, please.

PASSING THE BUCK.

This one is dug out of the army folk songs by the Christian Science Monitor:
The colonel tells the major
When he wants something done,
And the major tells the captain,
And gets him on the run.
The buck is then passed, respectively, to the first and second lieutenants and the sergeant, then—
The sergeant calls a corporal
To see what he can see,
So the corporal gets a private—
And the one he gets is me!

JOKER IN THE (MOVIE) BILL.

Wonders will never cease.
That is to say, movie wonders.
We have just lamped a subtitle
In a high-class motion picture
Which reads as follows:
"Here indeed is a spot where
The hand of man has never Set foot!"

Pat—What is this daylight saving, anyway?

ETAOO

Mike—Well I'll tell ye. Ye see, it's this way. Ye get up wan hour earlier ivry day; an' ye go t' bed wan hour earlier ivry day an' ye don't know anything about it—ye don't notice it.

Pat—Don't nobody notice it?

Mike—Naw, nobody don't notice it.

Pat—Well, then, what's the use of it?

Mike—I dunno!

A Ford Car Takes the Place of all These Things

WHEN you own a Ford you can do away with many articles that are a source of continuous expense to the man who still drives a horse. For instance, not only your driving-horse and buggy, but the single harness, blankets, whips, currycombs, brushes, horse-shoes, pitch-forks, feed-bins, etc.

In their place you have a speedy, dependable, dignified, roomy Ford Car—complete in itself. It is vastly superior to the narrow, cramped buggy that travels so slowly. And when a Ford is standing idle it does not eat three meals a day, and it requires no "looking after."

A Ford will save you time, trouble, and money. It is the utility car for the busy farmer and his family.
