THE WAR IS OVER.

The great war which has involved nearly all the nations of Christendom, is at an end.

Prussian militarism has been crushed to the ground. Civilization has been saved and democracy is triumphant.

The official announcement comes from London that the armistice was signed at five o'clock this morning, and that hostilities on all fronts ceased at 11 o'clock today.

Under the terms of the armistice the Germans are to withdraw all their forces from the left bank of the Rhine, surrender part of the navy, including submarines, and immediately release all prisoners of war.

The x-Kaiser, who is now known as plain William Hohenzollern, has fled to Holland, accompanied by his eldest son, the Crown Prince. The despatches say that they entered that country without permission and are looked upon as unwelcome guests. As they are soldiers, the chances are that they will be either sent back to Germany or interned.

The great war broke out on July 28th, 1914, and Great Britain became involved on August 4th, so it has raged a little more than four years and three months. It has been by long odds the most terrible war in the history of the world. The fighting has been carried on on land, on the sea, in the air and under the sea with a fierceness unthinkable before the outbreak of hostilities, and millions of lives have been sacrificed. On the side of the Allies the great struggle has been carried on strictly in accordance with the dictates of humanity. On the side of the enemy the direct opposite has been the case. The laws of God and man have been ruthlessly outraged. Cities and towns have been burned and pillaged, religious edifices ruthlessly destroyed, women and children have been ravaged and murdered, the Red Cross has been disregarded, passenger and hospital ships have been sunk without warning, and a thousand and one of the blackest crimes against civilization have been committed by swash-buckling Huns and applauded by their people at home.

Their armies, routed on all fronts, and with their country in the throes of revolution, the Huns have been compelled to beg for an armistice, which has been granted. The war is over, as under the terms of the armistice it will be impossible for the Huns to resume hostilities. Their cruel teeth have been drawn and they must accept the peace terms the Allies see fit to grant them.

All honor to Great Britain and her faithful Allies, the saviours of civilization.

THE KAISER QUILTS.

The brutal Kaiser has abdicated the throne and now becomes plain Wilhelm Hohenzollern. For days past the leaders of the Socialist-Democratic party have been demanding his abdication, but he steadfastly refused to comply with their demands, hoping that something might turn up that would enable him to tide over the crisis. His hopes were destined to be soon shattered. With a delegation of Huns beseeching Marshal Foch for an armistice, the sailors of the navy in revolt and the whole country in the throes of a revolution, the Kaiser on Saturday saw that the game was up and he reluctantly signed the document vacating the throne of Prussia. At the same time the Crown Prince, probably the best hated man in the world, barring the Kaiser, signed a renunciation of the throne. After abdicating, the Kaiser lost no time in making tracks over the border to the friendly state of Holland, where he will probably remain until called upon by the Allies to pay the penalty for the many barbarous acts which can be laid directly at his door.

It was the Kaiser's exaggerated egotism and dreams of world domination that plunged the world into what has proved to be the most awful war since the dawn of history. He has tried to deny it repeatedly, but could not get away from the fact that he in July, 1914, signed the order for the mobilization of the German army. He also stood sponsor for the terrorism and brigandage carried on by his troops in France, Belgium, Serbia and Montenegro, and he shared and encouraged the joyful pride of his people when his submarine pirates sent to the bottom of the Atlantic the steamship Lusitania, with her precious freight of women and children. Before the bar of international public opinion the Kaiser has been adjudged guilty of the greatest crimes against humanity committed since the crucifixion of our Saviour.

Not since the days of bloody Nero has such a fiend incarnate in the form of a ruler been at large in the world. The responsibility for the great war rests upon his shoulders, and he must be made to pay the penalty for his numerous crimes. Hanging would be too merciful a death for such a depraved specimen of humanity.

PEACE AND PROSPERITY.

Peace and prosperity usually go together—but not always. Industry, powerfully stimulated by war, may collapse after the coming of peace, if measures are not taken to provide against such a possibility.

Peace is eagerly welcomed by Canadians, for we are a peace-loving people. But we make a great mistake if we imagine that peace necessarily implies a continuance of the existing prosperity.

After the dawn of peace, continued prosperity will be our portion in proportion as we make it possible by such measures as the Victory Loan. Let the advances to industry suddenly cease, and the wheels of industry would just as suddenly slow down.

The public must solemnly consider such an eventuality, for the people have the remedy largely in their own hands and can prevent such a calamity by over-subscribing the Victory Loan.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

Tip, Hip, Hoorah!
 HIP! HIP! HOO-RAH!!!
 Shrieks from the throne!
 PEACE but not QUIETNESS.
 Crowns and thrones may perish, etc.
 Ever hear of THE GREAT WAR?
 Ever hear of Wilhelm the Goat?
 Now for songs entitled "After the War is Over."

Every king has his day. Good-night Wilhelm!

Sitting on thrones is becoming more and more certainly a non-essential industry.

In these great times one instinctively asks as the sun declines, "What empire has fallen today?"

If Caesar, Hannibal, Alexander and Napoleon have good seats in the bleachers of eternity, they are beholding a wonderful last half of the ninth inning of a great game.

In its great, freedom loving heart, the world already is rejoicing in the victory of right and the approaching cessation of war, but it frowns severely to keep from being thought emotional.

While one agrees with Dr. F. Crane that one year of life on this planet at this time is worth fifty at any other time, it does not seem to lead to a trade with anybody. Try offering a year and a half.

Will Be Postponed One Day
 Tuesday being proclaimed a public holiday by the Lieutenant Governor, the sittings of the Appeal Court which would begin here tomorrow will be postponed one day. Several attorneys are here to be sworn in.

Crowns on the Flags
 In the sub-district which includes York County crowns have been added to the Victory Loan Honor Flags of the town of Marysville and the Parishes of Bright, Prince William and Dumfries.

Died From Pneumonia
 Joseph Ernest Laurier, aged four years and two months, son of Mr. Edmund J. Cormier of the Provincial Public Works Department, died Saturday of pneumonia. Mr. and Mrs. Cormier have the sympathy of all in their sad bereavement. The parents four brothers and four sisters survive. The funeral took place today.

Two Still Alarms
 Two still alarms of fire were rung in Saturday afternoon and Sunday. On Saturday afternoon the old Star Line warehouse exhibited another slight blaze which was soon put out. On Sunday afternoon the fire department was called out to the residence of Mr. W. A. Walsh, Brunswick Street. An overheated furnace pipe was the cause of the fire. No damage was done.

LOCAL NEWS

Ice Formed Last Night

The water in the City Hall fountain formed last night into a layer of ice. The river also had a layer of ice close to the shore.

Unusual Sight

A most unusual sight was observed this morning after the first news of the signing of an armistice. A blind soldier was seen carrying another who had lost his legs. After learning the real news they went back to hospital.

Burt's Corner Man Killed

Mrs. John Jones of Burt's Corner has been notified that her grandson Private Kenneth Jones has given his life in France. Private Jones enlisted in the 104th Battalion and saw much service. He was a son of Mr. Frederick Jones of Burt's Corner.

Death at South Devon

The death of Mrs. Jane Shanks occurred this morning at her home in South Devon. The deceased was 57 years of age and is survived by her husband and one child. The funeral will take place Wednesday afternoon at two o'clock. Rev. H. H. Ferguson will conduct the service and interment will be made at Sunny Bank Cemetery.

Influenza in Army Camps

Cyril Roberts, son of Rev. Dr. D. W. Roberts has received a letter from his father dated Liverpool, October 19th. Rev. Dr. Roberts was then in Liverpool and he stated that Spanish Influenza had broken out in the American Army Camps in England and at the time of writing the soldiers were prevented from crossing to France. He stated that the disease was a form of bronchial pneumonia and causes a very virulent type of Spanish Influenza.

Had Short Scrap

Two returned soldiers started an argument on Saturday on Regent St. about the various opinions they held regarding domestic matters. As a crowd commenced to collect one returned man asked the other to step into a quiet spot at hand and finish the argument by the Marquis of Queensbury rules. However the other participant knew when he was well off and refused after several criticisms of the other man's style of pugilism.

Services Tonight

There will be a service of Thanksgiving for three quarters of an hour tonight in the Presbyterian, Baptist and Methodist churches of the city beginning at seven o'clock. It is hoped that on this happy day when gratitude to God for the successful issue of the war should be uppermost in every heart the people generally will take this opportunity of engaging in public worship.

Gunner W. Lounsbury Improving
 Mr. and Mrs. John Lounsbury of this city received a cablegram yesterday morning from their son Gunner William Lounsbury which stated that all danger had passed and that his recovery is advancing rapidly. Gunner Lounsbury was in training at Woodstock with the 65th Field Battery and left for encampment at Petawawa. When the battery left for overseas Gr. Lounsbury was one of the draft. After reaching England he became ill with pneumonia and entered the Kimmell Park Military Hospital on October 19th. His many friends in this city will be pleased to learn of his recovery.

Late H. Wilfrid Pickard
 The death occurred last evening of H. Wilfrid Pickard, a well known C. G. R. engineer at his home in Devon after an illness of pneumonia. The deceased is the son of Ald. H. H. Pickard and was thirty-one years of age. He is survived by his father, his wife and two children and by two brothers Partlow of Minto and Harold of Devon. He was a popular member of the L. O. A. and Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers. The funeral took place this afternoon at 2.30 o'clock. Rev. A. D. McLeod conducted the service. Interment was made at Sunny Bank Cemetery.

STOMACH SO BAD THOUGHT HE WOULD DIE CAN EAT ANYTHING NOW

But for indigestion and dyspepsia, many a life might be a pleasant one. The misery which stomach troubles cause the sufferer knows only too well and any one who has suffered knows what joy it would give to be able to eat three good meals a day and not be punished for it after.

Nearly everything that enters a weak stomach acts as an irritant, and even the little that is eaten causes such torture and is digested so imperfectly that it does little good.

Before you can eat heartily, and not pick and choose your food, you must put your stomach right so that it will manufacture its own digestive ferments.

For forty years now Burdock Blood Bitters has been making weak stomachs strong, and permanently curing severe cases of indigestion and dyspepsia that other remedies were powerless to reach.

Mr. H. L. Fairweather, Cumberland Bay, N. B. writes: "I was troubled with my stomach for two years and sometimes was so bad I thought I would die. I tried everything I ever heard tell of, and had medicine from three doctors, but continued to grow worse. One day I read of some wonderful cures made with Burdock Blood Bitters. After taking two bottles, I could eat any kind of food without any bad effects, and by the time I had taken four I was in perfect health."
