THE SUBMARINE MENACE

The recent submarine raids on the Canadian Atlantic coast prove that Sir Wilfrid Laurier was right when he advocated the construction of a Canadian navy for the protection of our own shores and shipping in time of war. Sir Wilfrid's policy, as unanimously endorsed by Parliament in 1909 called for the construction of fast cruisers and destroyers, types of war craft which would have been of incalculable benefit during the present war. Instead of having our own fleet, we have since the war been dependent for the protection of our coasts on Australian, Japanese and American ships of war. Even at the present moment ships of the U. S. navy are off the Nova Scotia coast searching for German U-boats which have been playing havoc with our fishing fleet. The Halifax Chronicle correctly sizes up the situation when it says:

"We have had ample warning that the German U-boats were coming to this side of the Atlantic. The whole world knew that the much despised and oft-reviled 'Laurier tin-pot ships' were just the type of ships which were most effective in coping with the U-boat. Why were they not built?"

"Hunting the U-boat is not an easy task, but Canadian destroyers based at Halifax, at Canso, at Sydney and at other points, in all human probability would be able to afford practical immunity to our fishing fleets and all our shipping from submarine attacks.

"These Canadian destroyers are not in existence today, because the very essence of the 'unholy alliance' was the abandonment of the policy of a Canadian navy, which Sir Wilfrid Laurier and the Liberal party had initiated.

"We have no desire to indulge in recrimination at this time, but it is proper and necessary that the facts be stated plainly, and that the responsibility for probably the most criminal blunder in the history of Canada should be placed squarely upon the proper shoulders. The need of a Canadian naval force, such as would have been provided had Sir Wilfrid Laurier's wise Canadian and truly Imperial policy been carried out, needs no urging. It is obvious at this very moment to every Nova Scotian who is not blinded by prejudice. The provision of ships for the protection of Canadian vessels and Canadian shores is an imperative duty which the government must undertake without delay. What has happened on the fishing banks off the coast of our province during the past few days has been a tragic but nevertheless complete vindication of the Laurier naval policy. All Canada today knows it.

The opinion that enemy spies are operating in Maine in connection with German submarine activity, was expressed the other day by the Maine Committee on Public Safety. Information received by the committee is said to have disclosed many suspicious circumstances along the coast, and evidence of this nature has been presented to the Federal authorities. The committee urged every member of its organization throughout the state to keep a vigilant lookout for strangers who may be suspected of giving information to the enemy. It is said to have been well established that the time of sailing of vessels must be known to the enemy.

G. M. Bosworth, who has resigned the Vice-presidency of the Canadian Pacific Railway to accept the chairmanship of the company's Ocean Steamship Lines, is one of the best known railroad men in the Dominion. Mr. Bosworth was born in Ogdensburg in 1855 and began his railway career with the Ogdensburg and Lake Champlain Railway away back in 1875. He joined the C. P. R. in 1882, working his way up until he became Vice-president of the road in 1910.

St. John's new steamer, the War Fundy, was successfully launched at Courtenay Bay on Saturday in the presence of a large crowd of people. The War Fundy, which has a tonnage of 2500, enjoys the distinction of being the largest wooden ship ever built in the Maritime Provinces. The next largest was the W. D. Lawrence, a square-rigged ship of 2400 tons, built at Maitland, N. S., some years ago, and the County of Yarmouth, 2200 tons, has third place.

Local Bowlers Win

Violated Game Laws

Moncton Times: A case of game law violation was before Magistrate McDougall in the local court yesterday. A citizen was brought up charged with selling a moose hide out of the season, while the purchaser of the skin was also brought into court charged with the illegal purchase of the same. In both cases the minimum fine of $50 was assessed by the court. Chief Game Warden Gagnon was present in court and laid the information.

THE FIRST LINE OF DEFENSE

Pure blood is the body's first line of defense against disease. Strong, healthy blood neutralizes the poisons of invading germs, or destroy the germs themselves. That is why many people exposed to disease do not contract it. Those whose blood is weak and watery and therefore lacking in defensive powers are most liable to infection. Everybody may observe that healthy, red-blooded people are less liable to colds and the grippe, than pale, bloodless people. It is the bloodless people who tire easily, who are short of breath at slight exertion, who have poor appetites, and who wake up in the morning as tired as when they went to bed. While women and girls chiefly suffer from bloodlessness, the trouble also affects both boys and men. It simply affects girls and women to a greater extent because there is a greater demand upon their blood supply.

To renew and build up the blood there is no remedy can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They tone up the entire system, make the blood rich and red, feed and strengthen starving nerves, increase the appetite, put color in the cheeks, give refreshing sleep and drive away that unnatural tired feeling. Plenty of sunlight and wholesome food will do the rest.

You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills through any dealer in medicine, or by mail at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

A Somewhat Forgotten Asset

IN these hard times, it is necessary to gather together and examine all our assets, and although the Dominion is the lucky possessor of so many natural ones, there are still many which people have not yet realized that they have, and amongst these is the asset of sport and game. It is quite possible for the unimaginative person to say that sport cannot possibly be an asset.

There is hardly any portion of the country that does not satisfy the most enthusiastic fisherman, and further it contains several districts, especially in British Columbia, which have become noted all over the world. A glance at the register of the small lodge at Fish Lake, near Kamloops, will show that people have come from all over the world, and on taking the average it will be found that more people from outside the Province of British Columbia camp there than those who live in it. This lake, it might be mentioned, contains genuine rainbow trout, which are taken practically only on a fly and their gameness is a thing to wonder at. It is not at all uncommon to see a fish jump eight or nine times after it has been hooked. Then there is the Thompson River, which contains, or has the reputation of containing, the largest trout in British Columbia. In this district duck, geese, and when there is no close season, grouse can be killed in quantities that should satisfy the most ardent sportsman. To the south in the hills there are deer and bear, to say nothing of lynx, coyotes, and other such animals.

Then there is the Nelson District, which is the centre of the Kootenay country, and from which place one can reach the celebrated Bonington Pool and Bonington Falls. The fishing here is very good indeed, and the best way to describe its popularity amongst the people of that district is to merely state that the C. P. R. run a special train there on Sunday mornings and evenings. There game here, too, deer are easily obtainable in the surrounding district.

A day's fishing at Campbell River, Vancouver Island, B.C.

Sicamous, too, is another large field for the sportsman. This little settlement, which is the junction for the Okanagan, is situated on the shores of Shuswap Lake, the waters of which contain many kinds and species of fish, and the shores of which are the mecca of many bear hunters, to say nothing of the wild ducks.

The newly completed Kettle Valley Railway has opened an entirely new district for the lover of out of door sports, and one has only to glance at the map and they will see that there are numerous lakes, small rivers and streams, some of which have never been fished. What more could an angler wish for? Game is plentiful here also, more especially round what is known as the Coquihalla Pass and into what is termed the Skagitsett Lake, the country surrounding Skagitsett Lake. This is quite easy of access for the people who live in Vancouver.

The British Columbia coast is noted for its fishing and hunting grounds, and space does not allow of a detailed description, but within a few hours of Vancouver itself there is a field for the mountaineer which is unrivalled, even in the Rocky Mountains. True, the Coast Mountains might not be so high, but for variety and flora they are hard to beat.

On Vancouver Island there is Campbell River, which, apart from its fame as the great fishing ground for the Tyee salmon, is also well-known for its mixed hunting, and it is possible to get fur, feather and fin within a few hours, if not minutes from the small town itself. It was at this place, when fishing in the mouth of the river, that Sir Richard Musgrave took the largest salmon that has ever been taken on the Pacific Coast, and which weighed 72 pounds, and what is more, it was taken on a rod and line. A good specimen of what is possible is shown in the photo which accompanies this short article.

posed. The case arose out of a joy ride that two Calais men took recently to Chamcook, the driver participating to a limited extent, in the festivities of the occasion, the "festivities" having been carried in the pockets of his customers, who are not just at present visiting St. Stephen at anything like frequent intervals.
