OF INTEREST TO WOMEN

POTATO WISDOM

Of course you are eating potatoes.
Everyone is nowadays, because by eating them we need eat less bread and hence we can conserve more wheat.

Here are the points in potato cookery that you ought to put into practice in your kitchen:

Never pare potatoes before they are cooked. This process wastes valuable food substance.

When boiling potatoes start them in their skins in boiling salted water and do not pare until they are done.

If you do pare them before cooking because you want to save time at the end, then save the water and use it for soup.

When baking potatoes select those of a uniform size. This makes them all require the same amount of time in cooking and hence fuel is conserved.

Never let potatoes that have been boiled stand in water after they are done. Drain them immediately, peel and if they have to stand any time cover the dish with a cloth to absorb the moisture from them.

In boiling potatoes for making potato bread they may be peeled and diced before cooking, because the water in which they are boiled may be used for part of the setting in making the bread.

PICNIC RICE COOKIES

Put one tablespoonful milk.
One teaspoonful vanilla flavoring.
One-quarter cupful butter substitute.

One-quarter cupful of sugar.
One-half cupful rice flour.
Into a mixing bowl and work together with a fork till a stiff dough is formed.

Grease a cookie pan.
Divide the dough into balls the size of marbles.

Take one ball into the hand and flatten out until it is very thin. Lay in greased pan.

Repeat till all cookies are in the pan. Be sure that they look neat and even and that they are very thin.

Bake in moderate oven till edges are brown.

Take out and lay on a cloth till cool.

EARLY PULLETS FOR WINTER EGGS

When we take into consideration that the average egg production on the Canadian farm is 75 or 80 eggs per hen and when well managed flocks average 120 to 180 eggs and individual hens even go higher than 300 eggs in the 12 months, it looks as though improvement might be made in the class of stock many keep. In the first place pure-bred stock is best. They should be from a good laying strain. They should be from good healthy parent-age and for winter egg production, pullets only and early pullets should be kept. In an experiment conducted at one of the Branch Experimental Farms where four different ages of birds were in competition for winter egg production, it was found that early pullets produced eggs at an average cost of 16.7 cts. late pullets 28.2 cts; two-year old hens 95.1 cts; three-year old hens $8.76 per dozen. Figures somewhat similar to these could be procured in larger quantities. The early pullet is the only bird that should be kept for winter egg production and it is the winter eggs that pay. A dozen of eggs at Christmas is worth two or three dozen in May or June. Early pullets mean early eggs and early chicks in the spring which of course means early pullets in the fall. As a rule, the pullets that lay earliest are the best layers so that every pullet that lays before Christmas should be marked. They are your best layers. If you are killing off year old hens, do not kill hens that moult late in the fall. They are your best layers and with your best layers should always be mated male birds from good layers. The male is more than half the flock. A male from a good laying strain and especially from a good laying mother will do more to build up the laying quality of the flock than any other one thing. Don't use then for breeding purposes, cockerels whose pedigree you know nothing about.
Better pay a good price and get a good bird.

SUITOR FOUND OUT ANN'S AGE

Los Angeles, Cal. Nov. 2—"How old is Ann?" By answering this ancient riddle, Frank Wurtz of San Di-mas won a bride—Anna Swango, 20 years, 9 months and 3 days old.

They lived on adjoining ranches.
Wurtz carried on his courtship successfully until one day Ann asked:

"Frank, how old is Ann?"

"What's that got to do with our getting married?" he asked peevishly.

"Oh, I just have a hunch," replied the maid. "You guess my age down to the day and I'll marry you. Until then I won't see you."

He asked her parents in vain.

But there are methods and methods.

Somewhat the girl's young brother tipped off the location of the family Bible. And there was the answer—Ann's age right down to the day.

Stake Your ALL On Canada

The war has brought great prosperity to Canada. Millions of dollars in war contracts have come to her doors. Wages were never so high. Money was never so plentiful.

This is not the gift of the gods. It is a prosperity that must be used and conserved for the nation's welfare. No man lives for himself alone.
He must share in the common sacrifice, in the common endeavor to make that nation great in War and in Peace.

Canadians are today asked to loan for Victory, to loan for Continued Prosperity, to loan for Progress in time of peace. They can do this through the purchase of Victory Bonds.

It is everyone's duty to buy Victory Bonds to the full extent of his ability. That is the civilian's part. It is the only way he can recompense those who have fought his battles.

The security offered is Canada. Stake your all on Canada.
