

TOOK BRONCHITIS After the Measles.

Measles is a disease that is very hard on children, and it generally leaves the system in such a debilitated condition that it is liable to attacks of some other trouble. One of the most common of these is bronchitis, which starts with a short, painful, dry cough a feeling of tightness through the chest and difficulty of breathing, accompanied by a wheezing sound from the lungs.

There is a raising of phlegm from the bronchial tubes which is very often streaked with blood.

Bronchitis although not really dangerous, should never be neglected as some serious lung trouble is most liable to follow if it is.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup will loosen the phlegm, soothe and heal the irritated bronchial tubes, and in a short time the bronchitis will disappear.

Mrs. Murdock McLean, Adanac Apts. Winnipeg, Man., writes:—"About two years ago my little girl had bronchitis took them after having the measles. I tried several cough remedies, and oils of all kinds, but they all failed. At last I got Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup. After using three bottles she has never had any sign of it since. I can honestly recommend it as being a grand medicine."

The genuine Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25c. and 50c. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

Gen. Pershing calls for more "singing soldiers," saying that singing is a tremendous aid to morale. After the war, perhaps the world is going to be safe for tenors.

A New York doctor says that wearing chiffon veils protects against influenza. Rude men with whiskers, wearing chiffon veils, would almost justify the influenza attacking mortals.

AMONG THE MISSING, OR THE MYSTERY OF ROSEY, A PET PIG

(Chicago News).

A Town in Central France, Oct. 21.—This is the sad tale of Rosey of company E and how she came to be entered on the casualty list of the regiment as "missing."

Rosey is—or must we say was?—the most charming little wild pig imaginable. Her French name is "sanglier" and she dwelt in the forest, rooting at peace and dreamed of acorns and young sprouts. Then one day a strange company of American forestry engineers invaded the forest and Rosey's life path turned to slop buckets and other undreamed of delicacies.

Rosey and four little brothers and sisters, when captured one day, took the fancy of the cook of company E. Do not think that because he was a cook he had no heart! He desired Rosey's company, not her carcass. He set about training the five, but four of them couldn't seem to learn American ways and soon departed this life. But Rosey learned and lived. She grew tall and plump and loved the cook like a father—so the captain says.

Company E has a big heart, and Rosey was not its only darling. Among the pets they loved and lost were one deer—they thought they had it tamed, but one day some one yelled, and it skipped to the woods and was never seen again—eight dogs, including two "escargot hounds," savage little youngsters whose delight it was to hunt for snails; one fox, which they couldn't name at all, a number of Belgian hares and three baby wildcats.

One morning Rosey, now several months old and strong as her kind, was having a friendly wrestling match with one of the baby wildcats. The cat scratched her a bit too hard and Rosey closed her jaws. Company E buried the remains.

Even this did not seriously impair Rosey's popularity. As she grew in wisdom the cook's affection for her grew also, and he took her wherever he went.

And one day the tragedy occurred. Cook was strolling down the road, chatting with a friend and not paying much attention to Rosey, who was on ahead, nosing for acorns. Suddenly a car whizzed past, then slowed up and stopped. Some one in khaki got out swiftly, seized the unsuspecting Rosey in his arms—Rosey was friendly with every one and made no objections—whisked into the car and was gone. The cook ran after the car, shrieking imprecations, but no one heard him. So Rosey was lost.

But—and this has almost led the cook to mutiny—the car bore the sign of the American general staff. The cook feels that for a general to abduct the darling of an enlisted man—and she with a bell around her neck so that anyone could tell she was somebody's pet—is taking an altogether unfair advantage of his military position. The captain sides with the cook.

SPECKS FLOATING BEFORE HIS EYES

When specks start to float before the eyes, when everything turns black for a few seconds and you feel as if you were going to faint, you may rest assured that your liver is not working properly.

The essential thing to do in all cases where the liver is slow, lazy or torpid, is to stir it up by the use of a medicine that will clear away all the waste and poisonous matter from the system, and prevent as well as cure all the troubles arising from this accumulated mass which has collected in the system.

Keep the bowels open by using Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills and you will have no liver trouble of any kind. They will clear away all the waste and effete matter which has collected and make the liver active and working properly.

Mr. John R. Morrison, Grand River Falls, N.S., writes:—"Several months ago I was troubled with a sour stomach, and had specks floating before my eyes. I took five vials of Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills which cured and cleaned my blood before any length of time. I told my friends about it and they got some, and they, too, find themselves different since they took them. I recommend your pills very highly."

Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills are 25c. a vial at all dealers, or mailed direct on receipt of price by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

It is foolish for a man to boast of being boss in his own house when his wife is present.

Thirteen cent milk can help to popularize itself next month by showing a fine white yellow streak at the top of the bottle.

Soldiers who have rounded up Turkish prisoners vehemently deny that the Turks could have invented the Turkish bath.

We don't hear any bards bursting into song about "brown October ale" this year. Perhaps they can't react to brown October near-ale.

CAN'T LOSE THIS SALESMAN

Lexington, Ky., Nov. 2.—In former years the "lightning rod man" was a public terror, but in one instance at least, affecting a Chicago man, he is succeeded by the washing machine agent. Following is an extract from a letter from France from Capt. Keller, who lived in Chicago until a year ago and is now in the American expeditionary force in France.

"A fellow in Chicago tried hard to sell me an electric washing machine. He was the most pestiferous of salesmen. He camped on my trail for a year before I went to camp. I thought sure I had escaped him. Today, while dressing the wounds of a number of casualties just from the Verdun front I spied a soldier who appeared to be suffering greatly. He was lying on his face, groaning loudly. I hastened to him and turned him on his back. Looking at me, he exclaimed, 'Oh, gee, give me some dope for this pain.' His face was so shot to pieces his own mother would not have recognized him. Nevertheless he recognized me and smiled, exclaiming: 'Hello, captain, ain't you about ready to buy that washing machine?'"

Keller will buy one from him when he comes back.

HAD FIRST CALL.

(Pittsburgh Leader.)

There was a dance on for the men of a certain company who were to leave for France next morning.

Other marines than those about to sail were also on the floor. There was one man who was a mighty good dancer and all the girls liked to dance with him.

There was a very popular girl there too. She had her dance programme

LEMON JUICE TAKES OFF TAN

Girls! Make bleaching lotion if skin is sunburned, tanned or freckled

Squeeze the juice of two lemons into a bottle containing three ounces of Orchard White, shake well, and you have a quarter pint of the best freckle sunburn and tan lotion, and complexion beautifier, at very, very small cost. Your grocer has the lemons and any drug store or toilet counter will supply three ounces of Orchard White for a few cents. Massage this sweetly fragrant lotion into the face, neck arms and hands each day and see how freckles, sunburn, windburn and tan disappear and how clear soft and white the skin becomes. Yes! It is harmless.

full. There wasn't a dance left.

A marine came up. "May I dance with you?" he asked. The young woman said she was sorry, but her programme was full.

"I am sorry too," replied the young man. "I just came into the hall and I did want one dance before I leave for France."

He started to turn away. The soldier who had the dance grabbed him by the shoulder. "You take my dance," he said.

Men of the Maritimes Carry on!

In France our soldier lads fight on. The fact that they have the enemy on the run, far from causing them to slacken, inspires them to redoubled effort.

Canada must maintain at home a similar determination to carry on, until the enemy is beaten to his knees.

Steel, of which we produced a million tons last year in Nova Scotia alone, is still needed in large quantities for our munition factories and our ships. Timber, of which last year the lumbermen of the Maritimes produced immense quantities, is still required for our shipyards. Freight boats, which our Atlantic coast yards are producing on a scale and at a speed never before attempted here, are still a pressing need of our allies.

To keep up the production of these and the other war supplies so vital to Victory, Canada must have an uninterrupted flow of money.

Loans from the Canadian people have financed the huge industrial undertakings which have made Canada an important factor in supplying war material for our fighting men.

And the men of the Maritimes have been generous in their loaning as they have been courageous in their fighting and diligent in their working.

That the splendid traditions of the Maritimes
may be maintained:—
