Will Demand Surrender of Former Emperor William

Important Announcement Made by Bonar Law in a Speech Last Night — A Committee Now Making an Enquiry With a View of Finding Out What the Enemy Will be Able to Pay — The Kaiser in a Gloomy Mood.

LONDON, Dec. 3.—Speaking at Bootle tonight, Chancellor Bonar Law confirmed the statement that the British government had decided to press upon the Allies as strongly as possible that the surrender of former Emperor William should be demanded and that he should stand his trial.

The Chancellor also announced that the government had appointed a committee to examine scientifically into the question of how much the enemy would be able to pay. The government would propose such procedure to the Allies, and he believed it would be adopted. An inter-Allied committee would then inquire into the whole question and decide what amount was obtainable. Steps would then be taken to secure its payment.

THE EX-KAISER IS VERY GLOOMY AND CANNOT BE MADE TO LOOK ON THE BRIGHT SIDE OF THINGS

LONDON, Dec. 4.—William Hohenzollern wears a dejected appearance, according to the Telegraph's correspondent at Amerongen, Holland, who says that he has talked with "someone who has come in much contact with the Kaiser."

This person is quoted as follows: "The former Emperor wore an air of relief when he arrived at Amerongen, but that soon vanished. Even his cheery wife cannot now rouse him from moodiness. The former Empress is really something of a heroine and tries to make her husband look on the bright side of things, but in vain. The distinguished fugitive has terror in his heart."

The correspondent adds that the former Emperor sits at the window writing as though against time, hour after hour, sheet after sheet, often all the forenoon and all the afternoon.

PRESIDENT WILSON OFF TO EUROPE TO ATTEND PEACE CONFERENCE

Embarked at New York This Morning on the Transport George Washington—Looking Forward to the Transatlantic Voyage as a Rest from His Recent Strenuous Labors.

New York, Dec. 4.—Woodrow Wilson, President of the United States, sailed today for Europe to participate as one of five representatives of the United States at the peace conference to be held in France. The transport George Washington got under way at 10.15 a. m.

Admiral Albert Cleaves, head of the cruiser and transport division of the Atlantic fleet, met the President and shook hands with him at the entrance to the gangway of the George Washington. The President and Mrs. Wilson had breakfast alone in the private dining room, which is part of their suite. Later they took a short stroll on the ship's deck and were applauded by persons assembled on the pier.

The President, in high spirits, said he was looking forward to the voyage as a rest—indeed, the first real rest since he assumed office. The George Washington, with its convoy of war vessels will take the southern route, going by way of the Azores in order to avoid the colder temperatures which would be encountered on the northern route.

Prior to the President's departure for Europe it became known today that he goes determined against militarism in any form. The crushing of Prussian militarism was a part of his plan for the future peace of the whole world, the President feels, according to persons who conferred with him on the transport before it sailed.

WILL ASK AMERICANS TO JOIN IN A BOYCOTT ON GERMAN COMMERCE

Executive Counsellor of Seamen's Union of Great Britain Now on a Mission to the United States — Will Urge the Workingmen of the Country to Join in a Seven Years' Boycott of German-Made Goods — Pirates Should be Taught a Lesson—Britain was Fair to German Sailors.

NEW YORK, Dec. 3.—The New York Sun this morning prints the following: The Germans themselves fixed the limit of the seven years' boycott that British seamen have voted to impose, according to Capt. Edward Tupper, executive counsellor of the National Sailors and Seamen's Union of Great Britain and Ireland, who came to the United States on Monday for the purpose of urging the laboring millions of America to join the boycott on German commerce.

"The original boycott was for two years, beginning September 1st, 1917, but the proviso placed an additional penalty of a month's extension of the ban for each crime committed on the high seas thereafter, against international law. German wolves of the sea continued the slaughter of helpless fishermen escaping from trawlers, firing on seamen in lifeboats, and piled up five years of additional punishment before the armistice checked them."

ELEVEN MILLION OF THE LABORING MEN OF GREAT BRITAIN STANDING BEHIND BOYCOTT

Captain Tupper held a conference with the leaders of seamen of this city last night in Father McGrath's Mission in West street, and later lectured in the Broadway Tabernacle.

"Only the Bolshevik of England oppose our boycott, he declared, "and they represent only five per cent. of the working men of the United Kingdom. The other 95 per cent. of British labor is loyal, and that number, comprising about eleven millions, stand back of the boycott."

"We purpose doing three things—officers will not salute the German flag in any port, no Germans will be employed on British ships, and no German cargo will be handled for seven years. And this is our reason: British people have not squealed when men were killed in battle, but when they have been brutally massacred we are fired with a determination that justice be done."

CRUEL PUNISHMENT SUFFERED BY BRITISH SAILORS AT THE HANDS OF THE GERMANS

"Our seamen have suffered cruel punishment. A month before the war fishermen were taken from trawlers and flogged through the streets of a German port. They were returned in exchange of prisoners during the war."

"Captured seamen were placed on the decks of submarines, then the U-boats would dive and drown the men. Lifeboats of missing merchantmen were found riddled with machine gun bullets. One seaman was found with thirty-three bullets in his body."

"The English treated German sailors fairly. No hate was shown. We had several thousands of them to take care of from the beginning of the war, men who worked on British boats but were not British subjects. We gave them all liberties, having them guarded only by boy scouts, until the day the Lusitania was sunk."

"We were to have a concert for them that night and I announced that the concert would be postponed because of the sinking. A few minutes after I left the building they burst in to shouting for Germany and sang their national songs. Then they were turned over to the military authorities."
