THE JOLLY ROGER.

Commenting on the speech delivered by Hon. Bob Rogers at a Toronto banquet given in his honor last week, the Halifax Chronicle has this to say:

"It may be assumed with confidence that the dinner given to or by—it is not clear which—Robert Rogers, ex-Minister of Public Works, in Toronto last week, was intended to revive the old Tory Party, and it may be assumed with equal confidence that Mr. Rogers believes that he would be a most acceptable leader for that party. He is reported to have said in explanation of his re-entry into politics, 'I have the time and the money, and I love the game.' Like Barkis, he 'is willin', if opportunity offers, 'to play the game.' He is willing to play 'the game' he played in Canada from August 1914 up to the time of the formation of the union government. He is anxious to play the game of politics as he played it in the past, for that is the only game he knows. That being the case, the emblem of the Rogers party can be no other than the 'Jolly Roger,' with its skull and cross-bones signifying piratical political warfare designed to further distract a sorely wounded nation in which every family mourns its dead."

Hon. Bob Rogers is a firm believer in Kaiser methods, and lost no opportunity to put them in practice during the period he held office in the old Borden government. The people of Canada have had quite enough of Rogers, and any party which takes up with him will not be likely to make a very deep impression on the electorate. The day of the crooked politician in Canada is at an end.

THE CROWN PRINCE TALKS.

William Frederick Hohenzollern, former Crown Prince of Germany, in an interview with the Associated Press, makes the following remarkable statement:

"I was convinced early in October, 1914, that we had lost the war. I considered our position hopeless after the battle of the Marne, which we should not have lost if the chiefs of our general staff had not suffered a case of nerves. I tried to persuade the general staff to seek peace then, even at a great sacrifice, going so far as to give up Alsace-Lorraine. But I was told to mind my own business and confine my activities to commanding my armies. I have proof of this."

Quebec Telegraph: If only for sentimental reasons, it is a happy occurrence, this, of reaching the Victory Loan objective set for Quebec. First reports stated that Quebec had failed by a hundred thousand dollars or so in reaching the seven millions at which this district aimed, but later returns show that our grand total is equivalent to seven millions, belated subscriptions having been omitted from first reports. Quebec then has completely met her quota and done her duty splendidly to the Victory Loan. It is a matter for deep gratification and pride in Quebec. We have shown in this Victory Loan the spirit that speaks for progress. We have swung forward in the right direction. It is a promise for our future.

Chatham World: The Montreal Herald is the last of a long list of Canadian newspapers to go under in consequence of the increased cost of publication entailed by the war. Only one New Brunswick paper has suspended so far, but the publishers of others are working only for the benefit of the public and not for any profit they get out of the business.

The enquiry into the notorious potato transaction will be resumed by Commissioner McQueen at St. John tomorrow. While the people of the province have been shocked by the disclosures made at this enquiry, it is pretty well understood that the whole story has not yet been told.

Mr. Cawthra Mulock, a Toronto millionaire stockbroker and son of Sir William Mulock, died in New York on Sunday from influenza. He was one of Toronto's foremost business men and was a director of a number of corporations.

Cable advices have been received by the Militia Department to the effect that arrangements are being made to send back to Canada a large number of officers whose services can be disposed of.

SUPT. OF NURSES HAS JOINED THE HOSPITAL STAFF

 Superintendent's Report

In her report Miss Sansom, the superintendent showed that although the hospital was practically closed for about two weeks on account of the illness of nearly all the nursing staff, fifty-nine patients were treated. During the closure Miss Sansom, and her assistant Miss Hanson, and "Doc" Kelly, were all that were able to wear their boots. It was then that graduates and the ladies of the city and vicinity came to the hospital's assistance. As before stated one of the bright two-year students, Miss Alice Belyea, succumbed to the prevailing epidemic.

Supt. of Nurses

The staff of the hospital has been strengthened by the arrival of Miss Ruth M. Vail, who a few months ago was appointed superintendent of nurses. Miss Vail, is a graduate of Providence Rhode Island Hospital, Providence City Hospital (contagious) Providence Lying-in Hospital. She is a registered nurse of Rhode Island, and comes highly recommended.

During the month members of the nursing staff have responded to two emergency obstetrical cases and one surgical call outside the hospital.

Upon her request, the superintendent has been authorized to arrange for the nurses a short course in dietetics, and also in massage.

Donations

The hospital received the following gifts:

From D. J. Griffiths, Stanley, one barrel apples, one bbl. potatoes, one bbl. turnips; Mrs. Wm. Sansom, Nashwaaksis, one doz. tumblers jelly; Mrs. James Saunders, half doz. jelly. For nurses' table—From Mrs. Harry Jewett, two dishes custard, one loaf brown bread; Mr. Kennedy, freezer of ice cream; Mr. Geo. Y. Dibblee, large box apples.

Death of Coun. Pickard

President Crockett referred to the recent death of Mr. D. E. Pickard, the much respected representative of York Municipality on the Hospital Trustee Board. His presence at the future meetings of this Board will be missed. A record of the interest he manifested in the hospital was placed on the Minutes, and the Secretary-Treasurer instructed to convey to Mrs. Pickard the sympathy of the Trustees in her bereavement.

Some Changes

Some changes were considered affecting the internal management of the hospital, which the superintendent may shortly bring into operation. Other projected by-laws are being held in abeyance until the new building is erected. In order to at once check the monthly expenditures it is proposed to erect a laundry in connection with
