HOT WEATHER DRINKS

Pour into a tall glass three or four fingers of grape juice, add the juice of two limes and a slice of the peel; fill the glass with water to taste—a sparkling water is preferable—and serve ice cold. Grape juice and lemonade make a good combination.

Ginger ale and cold tea punch is a novel drink that is very good. Sweeten half a pitcher of cold tea, add juice of a lemon and several sprigs of mint. Keep on ice, and at last minute pour in a bottle of ginger ale. This should not stand before serving, as ginger ale will lose sparkle.

Iced cafe au lait is another drink. To make it properly it should be carefully blended mixing coffee and milk well together and sweetening to taste. It is better to use a sugar syrup to sweeten it. Leave on ice until ready to serve and then add little thick cream to each glass and enough cracked ice to fill glass. For sweeter varieties of soft drinks, milk shakes and fruit syrups may be used. To make a milk shake fill a glass two-thirds full of milk; sweeten it to taste with any fruit syrup or with a little of some strained preserve, if you have no syrup. Fill glass with cracked ice and shake together until mixed.

Fruit syrups can be made from strawberries, raspberries, cherries or currants. Cook a quart of fruit with a pint of water until well softened then strain and press out the juice through a heavy cloth. When cold, sweeten and dilute to taste, and serve preferably in tall glasses filled with cracked ice.

FOOD BOARD FLASHES FOR FEMINE FOLK

See that there are no masculine loafers around. Maybe you do not know it, but there is now a law which makes it punishable to be a loafer. If you know any man that the police authorities seem to have missed, and who in plain Canadian is "bumming," report him immediately. Every man is needed on the farms and every woman should make it her duty to see that the anti-loafer order is enforced by the police. It's time for every Canadian to work—and to work with might and main.

Doctoring Your Plants.

Sometimes plants need a little doctoring, just as human beings do. They have a tendency to catch diseases that cause them to wilt and die. Occasionally the outside evidence of disease is lacking and the plants die quickly; others, again, dry up and die by slow degrees. To the first class belong the tomato, cucumber and musk-melon, and to the latter the potato and bean. The wilt diseases are caused by bacteria which work inside the plant and clog it up so that it chokes. The only remedy is to pull up the wilted plants and burn them. Before pulling them up, however, you should be quite sure that the wilting is not caused by dry weather or by a worm in the stem of the plant near the ground. The other diseases are called fungus diseases. They are really caused by tiny invisible plants which are parasites living upon the larger plants. They show up in the form of discolored spots or portions of leaves or stems which die and dry off. These diseases can only be prevented or controlled by spraying.

PASSED AWAY AT SOLDIERS' HOME

The death of George S. McLauchlan is reported from the Soldiers' Home at Togus, Me. He leaves a wife and two children at Woodstock. The deceased was well known in Hartland, having in 1904 succeeded Fred H. Stevens in the proprietorship of the Hartland Advertiser. Later he published here a little paper called the Chat. He was burned out in the fire of 1907 and afterward worked as a printer on the Sentinel, Mars Hill View, Fort Fairfield Review, and lastly published a paper of his own at Van Buren. He was a veteran of the Philippine war, and was a bandsman of ability. Many friends here will regret to hear of his death and will sympathize with his bereft family. (Mr. McLauchlan was a native of Fredericton, and many friends here will regret to learn of his death.)

*You pay the same war tax
on a pound of cheap, poor tea
that you pay on Red Rose.*

*In other words you pay 10¢ war
tax on a cheap tea which will make perhaps 150 cups to the pound and you pay the same 10¢ tax on a pound of Red Rose which easily makes about 250
cups.*

*You will find today more
value, more economy, more
real satisfaction in Red Rose Tea
than ever before.*

It is truly a war time tea.

SOLDIERS SING ON EVE OF BATTLE

(New York Sun)

With the Americans in Picardy,
June 12—

"I wonder who's kissing her now,
I wonder who's taching her how."

They are in the gathering darkness
just outside the window of the billet
the soldiers who are singing this. It is in Picardy, just back of the great battle line and on the road these same soldiers must hold to turn the German armies back from Paris.

A nightingale adds its song. The air
is heavy with the smell of apple blossoms.
The buds on the trees are rapidly taking the form of leaves.

Along the crooked little street that is the "backbone" on which the low,
quaint little houses of the village are
built come other boys from home.

"I wonder who's buying the wine,
For the lips that I used to call mine."

No Drug Store Here

The song goes on. These other boys join the group. It is like a gathering of neighborhood pals at the corner
drug store to try out a little harmony.
But they are leaning against the cold
stone of an old peaked roof French stable and house.

AT THE GAIETY THEATRE MONDAY AND TUESDAY

The military police waves the traffic of war by, as it is a crossroads and regulations are strict. Caissons, wagons loaded with forage, ammunition
and supplies roll by.
There is an occasional whine of a shell as the enemy artillery begins to limber up, but with more voices joining in the song goes on:
"I wonder if she ever tells him of me,
I wonder who's kissing her now."
The singing drifts to "Good night, Ladies." The traffic becomes heavier,
the roar of the guns louder, the whine
and burst of shells more frequent.
