URGED A SETTLEMENT OF THE IRISH QUESTION

Is Increasing the Difficulties of Both the British and American Governments in Connection With the War --- Secretary Shortt Declares That Messages Were Being Exchanged Between Ireland and Germany

London, June 25—In the house of commons today Premier Lloyd George urged the need of settling the Irish problem because it was increasing the difficulties not merely of the British government but the difficulties of the United States government in conducting the war.

Ex-Premier Asquith again appealed to the government to refer the Irish question to the dominions conference.

Edward Shortt, chief secretary for Ireland, speaking in the house of commons on the Irish question, said he hoped to satisfy the house that the German plot in Ireland was a real and imminent danger to this country. He said he was satisfied that both the clergy and the Nationalists had used their influence respectively to assist in keeping the peace.

Secretary Shortt, said the government had found that Germany was in touch with Ireland and that not only were messages going to Ireland from a German source but that they were going from Irish sources to Germany.

Munitions From Germany

The collapsible boat in which the man, who is now a prisoner, landed in Ireland from a submarine, Mr. Shortt said, was made of canvas similar to that made at Hanover before the war. Mr. Shortt said the government knew that in a certain port of Germany a large amount of ammunition was loaded to a German submarine and that, moreover submarines had been seen in localities where the destruction of shipping could not have been their object.

Mr. Shortt said that since the premier had announced the governments policy with regard to Ireland circumstances entirely had changed, there being two main causes for the change. The first and most far-reaching cause he said was the discovery of a German plot in Ireland, which he hoped he would be able to satisfy the house was a real and imminent danger to the country. In addition there was the fact that the felling in Ireland against conscription, and the movement which necessarily followed that feeling had been used by the extremists in a physical movement in conjunction with the German plot.

Urged to Help Germans

Mr. Shortt said that Sinn Feiners had been captured in the anti-conscription movement. It had been declared that the German plot was a bogus plot intended to injure Ireland but he regretted to say that there was no need for invention for the plot was a fact. When he and Viscount French went to Ireland, Mr. Shortt continued they found the reappearance of seditious propaganda in the form of poems pamphlets and notices pasted on the walls inciting the people to aid any German force that might land in the country.

"Any straw and fodder taken by the German army," Mr. Shortt said one of the posters read, "will be paid for by Germany."

Mr. Shortt quoted excerpts from many speeches that had been delivered urging illegal drillings for the purpose of assisting Germany, and said the sources of information upon which the government relied to show German intrigue existed both in Ireland and outside had always proved true when tested by subsequent events.

Traced Back to 1911

He said he had traced the activity of German agents in Ireland from 1911 and asserted that at the beginning of the war a pamphlet entitled "Ireland, Germany and the freedom of the seas," had been in circulation in Ireland. It bore evidence of being German printed and for the last three months had begun to reappear in Ireland.

It was here the speaker said the government had found Germany was in touch with Ireland and made reference to the collapsible boat in which the prisoner in the tower had landed.

Sir Edward Carson, the Ulster leader, said that if the premier believed he was justified, in order to carry on the war, in trying to bribe Ireland into conscription thereby incurring a grave political risk breaking a party truce and shattering the foundations of the unionist party, he ought, in taking this desperate course, at least to have determined to go right through with it.

"The Roman Catholic hierarchy," he said, "has gone to lengths in opposing conscription which no civilized modern community ought to tolerate for a moment. If you have to endure all this indignity and humiliation, you are crawling upon your knees to a particular church."

Appeals to Carson

Mr. Lloyd George appealed to Sir Edward Carson to show the same spirit it he displayed two years ago and subsequently "in using his very great abilities and unrivalled influence in Ulster to try to secure some measure looking to the willing assent of the Irish people to Imperial unity."

The government, he said, stood by the policy it had proclaimed on April 9, but in the method of administering it the government must be advised by the men it had entrusted with the administration of Ireland.

OLD TIMERS ARE MISSED

F'ton, N. B., June 24, 1918.

Editor, The Daily Mail,

Dear Sir:—

An interesting piece in your paper a few evenings ago was that pertaining to a few of the old-time "characters" of Fredericton, but I missed the names of "Ginger Turner", and of "Dee-Die", yes, and "Lucy Dennis", also "Charlie Hudlin", as well as others of the fraternity of "celebrities" whose names I cannot remember at the moment of writing.

Contrary to the opinion expressed in the former article in your paper on this highly important matter, I consider that the places of the "departed brethren" have been and still are filled by men of about the same proclivities but naturally somewhat different in general appearance and manner. It would not be fair to publish names of such citizens who after all, we must remember, were "born
