IT MIGHT BE DONE

Speaking at a dinner, Congressman Louis B. Goodall of Maine referred to those who hesitate in giving a positive opinion, and contributed this little anecdote.

In New England there was a man who would never commit himself on any question. Time and time again attempts were made to compel him to take a stand, but to no avail. One day two of his friends decided to make another attempt.

"Bill," said one of the men in the noncommittal man's presence, "a traveller told me that he once saw a buffalo climb twenty feet into a tree to get some grapes."

"What's that?" exclaimed the other. "A buffalo climb a tree! Say, Jim," he continued turning to the noncommittal one, "what do you think of a story like that?"

"I don't know," replied Jim, "but there's no telling what a buffalo might do if he wanted grapes."

PRIVATE DANNY TELLS OF HIS WAR EXPERIENCE

(Chicago News)

Well who do you suppose showed up today? Yep, you're right—it was ole Sandy Splits who got lost from our troop train four days ago.

We had all just got to sleep last night in our fine little loft above the cow stable when somebody begun hollering and dancing around in his hob nailed army shoes. Then somebody lit a candle and sure enough there was Sandy, all dusty and worn looking but as happy as a buck private with a new Crow dey Ger pinned on his chest.

"I'm back! I'm back! I'm back!" he begun shouting and then somebody threw a shoe at him and the big time commenced.

Well after we had wrestled around there on the floor for about 5 minutes we all sat down on our bunks and somebody who didn't know no better brought out a fresh package of American cigarettes and we all lit up and then made Sandy tell what all had happened to him during the four days that he was gone.

"Well you remember when I left our train on the siding there and went down the road to help out that girl who was herding all them sheep and goats—"

"Goats?" Joe Jordan said.

"No I guess I was the only goat around there," Sandy said, laughing.

"Anyway, that train pulled out too quick for me and there I was left with the most beautiful woman in France with all them sheep and lambs. Well when she saw how I had missed my train she begun crying and I told her in French not to cry and then pretty soon she quit and we sat down there in the grass along side of the road and she give me half her supper and we had a long talk partly in French and partly in English and—"

"She was talking the French part and you was talking the English part eh, Sandy?" Fat interrupted then.

"No, we understood each other perfectly," Sandy went on. "Say she was a beautiful girl, absolutely unspoiled. Honest, I don't believe that girl ever had a pair of shoes on in her whole life. And I kept thinking what a wonderful thing it would be to settle down and marry a fine little girl like that and have her tend your sheep for you all day and I just started to ask her what she thought about it when a train come along slow and I run out and got on it. * * * Well, I was so excited about this girl that I didn't notice it was going the wrong way until after it had got dark, and then we didn't make no stops for a long time.

"Well finally I got off and then caught another train in the other direction and I rode on that for a few hours. Then when I saw that wasn't going to get me anywhere I got off'n that and got on another train and when the conductors would come around for a ticket I would say, 'I no comprehend.' And then I would ride on that train until I got tired and then I would take another.

"Well I done that for four days and tonight I was riding through headquarters town down here when I seen that friend of Joe's who is an orderly or something, and I knew I was getting near, so I jumped off—and I been walking ever since, and here I am.

"Gee, its fine to get back home after travelling a lot." FRAZIER HUNT.

UNCONSCIOUS HUMOR OF WIVES OF SOLDIERS

One of the duties of the officials of the War Risk Insurance Board at Washington is investigation into the complaints of women who, for one reason or another, have failed to receive their husbands' pay from the U.S. Government. These women know quite well what they want, but often have unconventional ways of expressing themselves. The following are bona fide extracts culled by a lady whose duty it is to examine such letters of complaint.

"I ain't received no pay since my husband has gone from no where."

"My husband has gone away from crystal palace. He got a few days fur low and has been on the mind sweepers."

"We have your letter. I am his grandfather and grandmother. He was born and brot up in this house according to your instructions."

"You have changed my little boy to a girl. Will it make any difference?"

"Will you please send my money as soon as possible as I am walking the streets of Boston like a bloody pauper. I do not receive my husband's pay. I will be obliged to live an immortal life."

"Please let me know if John has put in his application for a wife and child."

"You have taken my man to fite and he was the best I ever had. Now you will have to support me or if you don't who in Hell will?"

"My Bill has been put in charge of a spittoon (platoon). Will I get more pay now?"

WHAT NEXT TO EXPECT IN PALESTINE

(Minneapolis Journal) . . . . .

The approach of colder weather has called attention again to the armies in Palestine, where "renewed activity has just been reported. Little has been heard of late of the Palestine campaign and the reason is not far to seek. The hot season has been prevalent there and little could be done. After taking Jerusalem and driving the Turks from the immediate region north of the city the fighting subsided and both sides awaited the return of cooler weather.

The Turks at least did, but there has been stern activity back of the British lines. The railroad to Egypt has been improved and strengthened the bridge across the Suez canal has been completed and abundant supplies have been forwarded from Egypt and doubtless from India.

Criticism of Great Britain has been voiced for conducting what has been called this "side issue" campaign, instead of concentrating on the Western front. But the British are wise and they look ahead. Besides, much of the material and many of the men for this campaign comes from the East, and could not easily reach the Western front.

And in this connection a recent dispatch from Copenhagen states that the British Embassy there has sent an "official letter" to the Central Zionist Bureau, the world organization of Jews, which is located in Copenhagen inviting it to make known its attitude toward the participation of a Jewish State in a possible League of Nations.

Taken in conjunction with the Palestine campaign this is a significant feature of the news, indicating, as it does, the apparent intention of the British Government to help set up a Jewish State in the old Promised Land, whose star is now shining brighter than it has for many centuries with the hope of a new promise.

It is almost as easy to make a girl believe she can sing as it is to make her believe she is handsome.

C.P.R. Directors in the West

R. R. Angus,

Sir Herbert Holt,

Lord Shaughnessy, President C. P. R.

Sir Edmund Osler,

W. D. Matthews,

C. R. Hosmer,

Sir Augustus Nanton, Senator F. L. Beique,

E. W. Beatty, K.C.,

ALTHOUGH Montreal is the headquarters of the C. P. R., the interests of the railway lie just as much in the West as in the East, if not more so, and the train which carries the President on his annual inspection trip always carries with it a strong contingent of directors. The names of the directors who accompanied Lord Shaughnessy this year give an indication of the ramifications of the interests which are allied to the great transportation system, for these directors are all powerful also in the world of banks, of light, heat and power, or pulp and paper, of steel, or foundries, of bridge building, of the milling industry, of textiles, of shipping and of insurance. They are representative also leading citizens of Toronto, Winnipeg and Victoria, B.C., and the French-Canadian element is admirably represented in Senator Beique, the President of the Banque d'Hochelega. The Senator was not actually a traveller on the special directors' train this year, for he was already in Vancouver on a trip of his own when that train left for the West. Mr. R. B. Angus is the doyen of the directors, but in spite of his years his is one of the most active brains controlling the destinies of the C. P. R. At the age of eighty-four he went on a trip round the world, and since that he has been twice across the continent. The great Angus Shops at Montreal are named after him, and the present outstanding position of the Bank of Montreal in the world's finance is due in no small degree to his foresight and ability. Sir Herbert Holt was identified with the early construction of the C. P. R., so far back as 1883. The Royal Bank under his presidency has made phenomenal progress, while he is the moving spirit behind some of the most important power development schemes in Canada. Mr. C. R. Hosmer began life as a telegraph operator, and at one time was manager of the C. P. R. Telegraphs. He still is closely identified with several telegraph and cable companies, but in 1899 extended his interests, so that he is now president of the Ogilvie Flour Mills and is a director of the Bank of Montreal, the Royal Trust Company, the Dominion Textile Company, the Laurentide Paper Company, and many other such representative Canadian undertakings.

Mr. W. D. Matthews is one of the leading financiers of Toronto. He was long engaged in the grain trade, and has been president of the Toronto Corn Exchange and chairman of the Eastern Grain Standard Board. As president of the great Consolidated Mining and Smelting Company of Trail, B.C., he is particularly interested now in mining development.

Sir Edmund Osler is also a citizen of Toronto. As president of the Dominion Bank and head of one of the most powerful brokerage firms in Canada, his financial advice is of great value to the C. P. R.

Sir Augustus Nanton came to Winnipeg in 1884 and remained there to become the leading financial authority in the West. Like Sir Herbert Holt, he has taken a strong interest in the Canadian Patriotic Fund.

Mr. E. W. Beatty, K.C., in addition to being a director is also the legal vice-president of the railway.

The advent of so distinguished a party of visitors naturally created great interest at the cities where the special train made a stop. The itinerary selected has enabled these directors to see not only the country traversed by the Main Line of the C. P. R., but also the more northern areas of the three Prairie Provinces. In this way they have obtained a comprehensive idea of crop conditions in Canada's great West—conditions which are on the whole very satisfactory in spite of rather unfavorable climatic conditions in early summer.
