

Ford ONE-TON TRUCK

COUNTRY-WIDE interest and comment have followed the recent appearance on the market of the new Ford One-Ton truck.

It is now possible to get a serviceable commercial car of one-ton carrying capacity that also embodies the desirable qualities of Ford sturdy construction and low up-keep expense.

The Ford passenger car has proved itself the most economical and serviceable automobile in the world. And this latest Ford model differs from the standard Ford chassis only in being constructed for heavy-duty service.

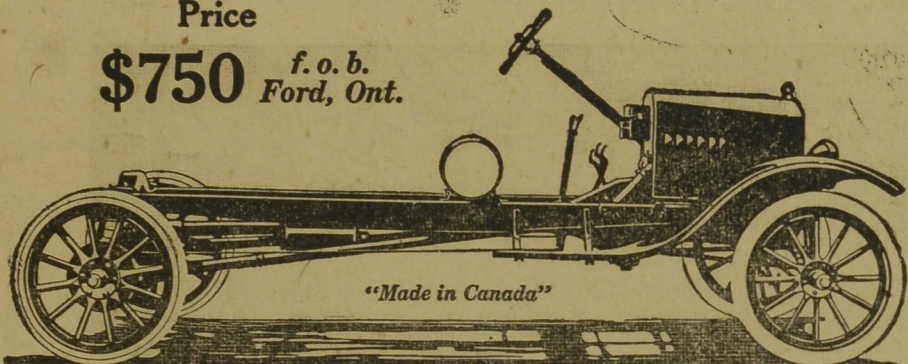

The frame is built of heavy steel, and the wheel base has been lengthened to 124 inches. A worm drive is used, and rear wheels are equipped with solid tires. Front tires are pneumatic. The standard Ford motor, transmission and ignition are embodied in the truck.

The Ford truck is supplied as a chassis only. This allows the purchaser to equip his car with any style of commercial body to suit the individual requirements of his business. It is an easy matter to get this equipment, for many of the leading body builders of Canada already have developed standard bodies of the various styles, made specially to fit the Ford truck.

Ford service has contributed in no small way to the reputation of the Ford car for day-in-and-day-out dependability. This same universally satisfactory service is available to owners of Ford trucks—an important thing to consider.

Realizing that a Ford model of the popular one-ton capacity would find immediate favor, this new truck is announced. Don't fail to see it on exhibit at the Ford service station in your town.

MEDICAL HISTORY HAS BEEN MADE BY THE WAR

Director of the Great British Hospital tells of Many Miraculous Cures Among the Soldiers--No New Discoveries or Innovations in Surgical Practice--The Value of Recent Discoveries Proved.

London, Jan. 17. (By Mail).—Not a single medical discovery of great importance has been made since the war began, nor has there been a single great innovation in surgical practice. Most people will find this hard to believe, but Dr. George de Swietochowski, of King's College Hospital, the largest and most modern hospital in the kingdom, says it is so.

"The war," he said today, "has proved the value of many recent medical discoveries and of advanced methods of surgery, but it hasn't taught us anything new. Not until the troubled times of peace will we be able to draw from the war the lessons it has to teach our profession. Now every one of us is too busy applying the knowledge acquired before the war to undertake any patient research."

This is true, he said, of the German medical men as well as the British. The British have a month by month record of the work being done in German hospitals and this record reveals that the German experts have only been able to improve hospital organization and ways of utilizing knowledge already possessed before the war, just as the British have.

"But medical science has proved its value over and over again," said the surgeon. "Nearly all wars of the past have ended not by mutual slaughter, but by disease. Very few wounded survived owing to insufficient knowledge of wound treatment and terrible epidemics sometimes exterminated half or more of the remaining combatants. That can never be said of this war, particularly of the western front."

"Inoculation, vaccination and isolation of contagious cases are saving the world's man power to a remarkable degree. And the longer the war lasts the less reason there is for fearing that the great scourges of the past will reassert themselves. Smallpox, typhoid, cholera and tetanus, the most dreaded of plagues, are well within our control."

"Wounds are now treated successfully whose dimensions, situation and condition would have baffled the greatest operators of a recent past. Moreover, the means employed nowadays are of astonishing simplicity. Absolute cleanliness, complete rest and frequent irrigation of wounds are the principal things. Recovery after a bullet in the heart, a shell fragment in the brain, a machine gun bullet through the neck, is common."

"Physicians have had new problems in plenty, most important of which perhaps has been the effects of modern warfare on the human nervous system. The indescribable force set free by the latest types of explosives has proved to have an injurious effect on the nerves of all nationalities. It is remarkable that the more civilized combatants have been better able to withstand it than the natives of semi-civilized countries."

"Various nerve complaints have been met thus far that are yet to be cleared up. Thus it is still an open question whether some of them are to be regarded as the outcome of an actual damage to the body or whether they are the effect of the horrors of war on the human mind. Cases of miraculous cures are numerous."

"In the days immediately following conclusion of peace there will be opportunity for studying the results achieved. The overwhelming material offered by the war will be incalculable value to future medical and surgical science."

OBSERVED BIRTHDAY OF FORMER FREDERICTON LADY

Mrs. Rosella Barker Although Eighty-four Years of Age, is Still Able to Knit and Sew for the Red Cross and is very Proud of Her Work.

The following concerning a former Fredericton lady is taken from a recent issue of a Saskatoon paper:

The deft fingers of Mrs. Rosella Barker have lost none of their cunning for all the eighty-four summers that have passed over her head. They still obey the dictates of a warm heart and last year fashioned seventy-six pairs of socks for soldiers. Mrs. Barker is the honorary president of the knitting club of Grace church, and my her energy swells the list of Red Cross work that is credited annually to that society.

Mrs. Barker can do such fine needle work that each year since coming to Saskatoon from Fredericton, N. B., in 1913, she has taken prizes in handwork, but it is of her knitting for the men in France that she is most proud.

Mrs. Barker lives with her daughter, Mrs. Wesley Kitchen, Aird street, where on her eighty-fourth birthday on Tuesday, February 12, a number of friends gathered in her honor and presented her with a beautiful sheaf of carnations and snap dragons. A real birthday cake topped with eighty-four blazing candles formed the centerpiece on the pretty tea table presided over by Mrs. Kitchen who was assisted in serving the guests by her daughters Mrs. Fernon Wood and Mrs. Oscar Ballentine.

Mrs. C. M. Hackett composed the following poem dedicated "To a Lady Knitting":

TO A LADY KNITTING

Close beside her western window
Sits a little lady, knitting,
And no queen in song or story,
Throne upon a golden dais,
Crowned and robed in royal splendor,
Ever dared to claim the homage
That is daily freely offered
To the little lady, sitting
In her old, soft-cushioned rocker,
Knitting by the western window

Kings and queens themselves and subjects

Of the little lady knitting;
Winter sends his early sunshine
In among the leafy treasures,
Coaxes drowsy buds to blossom
When he sees her bending over them;

Summer comes with bany breezes,
Wafting bird-song and sweet fragrance

From the stretches of the prairies;
Nature nods and pauses, smiling,
When she passes by the window
Of the little lady knitting.

Then the little lady, knitting,
Takes the warmth and takes the fragrance,

Takes the sunshine and the bird-song;

And she binds them to her needles;

And her needles; swift and shining,
Darting in and out and under,

Draw the long, strong thread behind them,

And as round and round they hurry,

STUFFY FEELING ABOUT THE NOSE RELIEVED AT ONCE

Tells How to Cure Hawking and Spitting, and Drive Out Catarrhal Colds

Isn't it miserable to have a stuffed-up feeling in the nostrils—to be scarcely able to draw a full breath. When Catarrh gets in to the nose you're bound to know something is radically wrong.

A dead sure cure, and a simple one to use, is Catarrhazone; you just breathe it—that's all. You see Catarrhazone Inhaler sends healing piney vapors through the nose, throat and lungs, and these antiseptic soothing vapors are death to colds or Catarrh.

Thousands testify every year that nothing ever discovered will cure a cold or help the throat like Catarrhazone. Mr. Everett L. Wasson, of Blair, N. B., writes: "About five years ago I took a cold in the head, and Catarrh set in. It kept increasing by leaps and bounds. I kept putting off getting anything until at last I found I would have to. After trying several things I heard of your remedy, 'Catarrhazone,' and procured a bottle and began using it. I was not long in finding out I had struck the right thing. I am recommending Catarrhazone to all who have Catarrh, etc."

Catarrhazone is the greatest remedy for colds, etc., since people began to have colds. Get the dollar package and let the whole family use it. Medium size 50c.; sample size, 25c. All storekeepers and druggists or The Catarrhazone Co., Buffalo, N. Y., and Kingston, Canada.

Something that means rest and comfort

To the soldier, tired and foot-sore,

Who has braved the charge of battle.

We have come to pay thee homage;

We, too, love thee, and would offer

That lies in thy shining needles;

Hurry round the narrowing circle,

Let the love of friends be added.
