AN UNDESIRABLE FOREIGNER

The sooner Holland ceases to regard Wilhelm Hohenzollern as a "distinguished foreigner" and accords him the treatment which the judgment of the civilized world regards as proper for him, says the Boston Record, the safer that little nation will be from the perils which now beset it.

Wilhelm is, to be sure, a "foreigner" in whatever land he sets his foot. He is a foreigner, an alien, an outlaw and an outcast, a barbarian and a savage, to whom no land that professes and practices the graces of humanity can give friendly refuge today. In that land which was his own he is an alien for to Germany he has brought black ruin, and the monster of grief sits heavily on German shoulders where so short a time ago rode arrogance and ruthless purpose to dominate the world.

Least of all can Holland afford to welcome and regard him as a friend. Holland has not played a greatly heroic part during the war; but we may make allowances for her. Her plight was difficult. Before the war there had been close relations between the Dutch government and the court at Berlin. Caught in the corner of war, her case was desperate from the start. She dared not move. She elected no such sacrifice as did Belgium, perhaps because no such sacrifice was demanded of her. However that may be, fate or choice made for her the role of the lonely neutral in a time when men's minds could not be neutral. Physically she has been spared the horrors of war. Let her beware lest in the bitter aftermath of war she now reap a mocking reward for her isolation during the past four years.

GERMANY'S PRISON CAMPS.

One of the first things to be effected under the terms of the armistice is the release of prisoners of war and interned persons now languishing in German camps, compounds and prisons. The horrors and misery of which they have been the victims under military and junker rule, says the New York Herald, must not be prolonged for an hour longer than can be avoided. The full tale has yet to be told of the gross cruelties and illegal tyrannies to which our own soldiers and civilians as well as those of other countries interned in Germany have been subjected, continues the Herald, and it will constitute one of the most damning indictments not merely of the rulers, but of the race responsible for them. The world has suppressed its full of horrors during the last four years and more, but the task of exposing the brutalities of German prison camps and the condign punishment of the principal criminals must not be shrunk from. There will be difficulty in accomplishing this because of the internal conditions of the country.

Although the sale of live stock at the exhibition grounds yesterday, owing to causes beyond the control of the Agricultural Department, was not as successful as anticipated, it was the means of bringing together a splendid display of horses and cattle. There was little demand for the horses put on sale, but a number of head of pure bred cattle changed hands at good prices. The high price of grain and hay naturally makes it more difficult to sell live stock at the present time than would be the case under ordinary conditions, but the promoters of the sale have no reason to be discouraged. It should and it probably will be made an annual affair. New Brunswick is admirably adapted for the raising of pure bred stock, and there is no reason why the industry should not be greatly developed in the next few years.

The delegates to the interprovincial conference now being held at Ottawa were told yesterday that additional taxation to the amount of $100,000,000 will have to be levied in Canada next year to provide revenue for the expenses of administration. The Federal authorities may find it necessary to further encroach on the provincial field by imposing a tax on land. It looks as if greater production campaigns will be necessary in Canada for years to come.

If the control of their natural resources are handed over by the federal government to the western provinces it is only right that the eastern provinces should receive compensation in the form of an increased subsidy. The Maritime Provinces have contributed generously in men and money to the development of the west and it is about time they were getting something in return.

Some of the opposition organs appear to be delighted over the fact that the recent sale of live stock held under the auspices of the Agricultural Department was not as successful as it might have been. One thing is sure, if the government made a loss in connection with this sale there will be no attempt made to cover it up, as was done in the case of the notorious patriotic potato transaction.

Great Britain's Grand Fleet never did a grander thing than it did yesterday, when it put out into the North Sea and accepted the surrender of seventy-one German ships of war. The surrendered ships will be taken to the Scapa Flow for internment.

President Wilson has signed the emergency agricultural appropriation bill, with its legislative rider providing for national prohibition from July 1st until the American army is demobilized.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

Now that he's married Charlie Chaplin will not be quite so careless with custard pies.

Germany's end should have been expected. She was ruled by efficiency experts.

70,000 PEOPLE

die every year from bronchitis! A large proportion of these could be saved by direct treatment, but in order to heal the bronchial tubes a remedy must be taken which will get there direct. Peps can. Peps is a breathable remedy which goes right to the seat of the trouble—hence its wonderful success in cases of bronchitis.

Dissolve a Pep in your mouth. The medicine contained is turned into vapor and carried by the breath to the bronchial tubes and the minute air passages. The inflamed lining is healed, the pain ended and the cough stopped.

Miss Mary Weston, a graduate nurse living at 457 Victor Ave., Winnipeg, says she owes her health to Peps. She writes: "When I finished my hospital training I was suffering with chronic bronchial trouble, and I was told I would not be able to continue nursing. I used Peps so perseveringly, however, that I was finally entirely cured. I am quite sure that I would not be following my profession to-day if it had not been for Peps."

For asthma, laryngitis, sore throat, coughs, colds and hoarseness Peps are equally invaluable. All dealers, 50c. box.

BOARD OF TRADE EXECUTIVE HAD MUCH BUSINESS

tries following the end of the war. There is absolutely no reason why they should hold such an idea as there is a shortage of raw material for manufacturing also a shortage of food for Europe. There is no question but that all the food produced in the next twelve months will be needed. He further asked the Board of Trade to impress this strongly on the public mind. He expressed himself strongly in favor of a substantial expenditure on the roads and streets of the city for the public good.

Other Matters

Mr. John J. Weddall referred to the unfavorable impression made by the water front on travellers coming up the St. John River. Mr. J. T. Jennings asked the members to take an active part in the readjustment campaign now being waged. The members of the executive were much impressed with the importance of the readjustment campaign referred to and which has to be grappled with immediately. Mr. H. S. Campbell stated that Mr. Wilson, of the Gleaner staff, would like to address the Board of Trade at a further meeting regarding the founding of an employment bureau in the city with reference to returned soldiers. The Board favored the suggestion but took no further action.

Thanks Expressed

A motion was passed expressing thanks of the Board to His Worship Mayor Hanson, for the demonstration of his active interest in the welfare of the city. A resolution was passed by the committee making the president a committee of one, with power to add to its numbers, to take up the matters referred to by the Mayor.
