A GREAT VICTORY.

The glorious news comes from the western front that the German hosts have been driven from their positions south of the Marne with terrible slaughter. It is also announced that Chateau-Thierry has been freed from the enemy's grasp and that a serious break has been made in the enemy's line between Soissons and Rheims. The Huns are reported to be steadily giving ground, although offering stubborn resistance in many sectors.

The counter-offensive against the German peace drive was begun last week by Franco-American troops, later joined by British and Italians. The counter offensive has been carried out on a twenty-five mile front, and latest advices show that the Allies have pushed forward a distance of ten miles. One report states that they have captured at least forty-five thousand prisoners and upwards of three hundred guns.

The victory is one of the most notable achieved by the Allied troops since the beginning of the war. Although the big peace offensive of the Huns has been turned into a fiasco, they are not yet beaten. Simonds and other military writers warn the people against over-confidence, and it is well that their warnings should be heeded. Time, however, is with the Allies. Their lines on the western front are being reinforced by thousands of Americans each week, fresh, vigorous troops eager to get into the fray. In General Foch the Allied forces have a leader who has proved himself to be the greatest military strategist of his time. The soldiers of Great Britain and the United States are proud to serve under such a man. He has the full confidence of the people of the Allied nations, and all their resources in men and money are behind him in the gallant and successful struggle he is making to rid the world of the curse of Prussian militarism.

AMERICA'S WAR AIMS.

Col. Theodore Roosevelt was one of the speakers at the Republican State Convention at Saratoga last week and as was to be expected, devoted considerable attention to matters pertaining to the war. A New York paper reports him as saying:

"Our duty is to win the war. To win it as speedily as possible, but to fight as long as is necessary to win it, and to end it by only one kind of peace, a peace of overwhelming victory, a peace that will guarantee to us and to our allies lasting relief from the threat and horror of German world domination. This is the only kind of peace that will atone to us for the blood that has been shed."

Colonel Roosevelt criticised the national administration for having failed in adequate military preparedness, for not having supplied a sufficient number of troops or enough armament until a full year after we had entered the war and for not having entered the conflict immediately after the sinking of the Lusitania, which he characterized as the "Fort Sumter" of the present war.

The right kind of peace, the peace which America must insist upon, Col. Roosevelt said, was "a peace conditioned upon the complete overthrow of Germany and the removal of all threat of German world dominion." In fighting against disloyalty in America, against all foreign racial solidarity in the country, he declared, "we must treat agitation for a premature or inconclusive peace as treason to the Republic." The German spy, the "alien enemy here at home" and "the even fouler and more despicable American who serves the alien," the Colonel said, should be interned at hard labor or, if caught in a flagrant offence, he should be shot.

"We have played a poor part in the early stages of the world war," the Colonel continued. "Let us make the finishing of the war an American task. By this time next year we ought to have overseas an army as great as the combined armies of France and England, an army of between 3,000,000 and 4,000,000 fighting soldiers on the various fighting fronts, and this, considering replacements and non-combatants, means at least 6,000,000.

On the question of peace the Colonel was very outspoken. Said he: "There must be no peace until Germany is beaten. Belgium must be reinstated and reimbursed, France receive Alsace, Turkey be driven from Europe; Italian Austria must go to Italy and Roumanian-Hungary to Roumania and Armenia must be free; the Jews given Palestine, and the Syrian Christians be protected, with the Poles and other Slav races released from the menace of the German sword. Unless we do all this we shall have failed in making the liberty of well behaved civilized peoples secure, and we shall have shown that our announcement about making the world safe for democracy was an empty boast."

WHEN YOUR COLOR FADES

When a girl—or a woman—finds her color fading, when her cheeks and lips grow pale, and she gets short of breath easily and her heart palpitates after slight exertion, or under the least excitement, it means that she is suffering from anæmia—thin, watery blood. Headache and backache frequently accompany this condition, and nervousness is often present. The remedy for this condition is to build up the blood, and for this purpose there is no medicine can equal Dr. Williams' Pink Pills. They build up and renew the blood, bring brightness to the eyes, color to the cheeks, and a general feeling of renewed health and energy. The only other treatment needed is plenty of sunlight, moderate exercise and good, plain food. The girl or woman who gives this treatment a fair trial will soon find herself enjoying perfect health. You can get Dr. Williams' Pink Pills from any dealer in medicine, or by mail post paid at 50 cents a box or six boxes for $2.50 from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

Butchering in France

A King's County boy with the Canadian Army in France, writes: We are having very fine weather over here. There are lots of refugees on the roads now. They use every kind of conveyance. I saw how the French peasants butcher pigs. Instead of using boiling water for cleansing the skin of bristles they pile a lot of straw on top of it and set fire to it singeing the hair off as one does a fowl.

Sheep on Every Hill Side in New Brunswick

The New Brunswick Government through the Department of Agriculture has arranged with the Chartered Banks to help the Farmers --- where assistance is needed---to buy sheep.

The Department will not only arrange to buy Sheep FOR the Farmers, but will also buy good breeders FROM the Farmers --- in other words, this branch of the Agricultural Department WILL SUPERVISE ALL PURCHASES AND SALES OF SHEEP.

IF A FARMER NEEDS CREDIT TO BUY SHEEP he should consult his local banker who has the necessary forms.

If you cannot buy sheep in your locality, inform the nearest banker who will notify the Agricultural Department, or, better still, notify the Department yourself and say how many Sheep you want.

KEEP YOUR EWE LAMBS

Every Ewe Lamb weighing 80 pounds and over and of reasonable quality, should be retained by farmers for breeding purposes. Sell the males and the inferior females for butcher purposes. If you have more ewe lambs than required, induce your neighbor to purchase.

THE VALUE OF WOOL

Unwashed wool of the best quality brought 80 cents a pound this spring, or about $5.00 a fleece.

SIXTY MILLION SHEEP

Have been lost in Europe since the war started. Wool in enormous quantities is now required to clothe the soldiers. It will take an immense quantity to reclothe the returned men in civilian dress. Prices will likely be high for ten years.

New Brunswick has the pasture, hay, roots and a climate suited to sheep. Every farmer should consider investing in a small flock as a foundation. The first year will give approximately $4.00 worth of wool per sheep; the sheep will cost about $15.00. Is it not a good business proposition?

If you cannot purchase locally, place your order with your banker. Orders will be filled, if possible, in the order filed at this office through the banks.

For further information apply to

J. F. TWEEDDALE,
Minister of Agriculture.
