PEOPLE OF THE MIRAMICHI ARE NERVOUS

Chatham Citizen Fears an Attack from U-Boats—Hon. Mr. Carvell Writes a Letter.

(Chatham World)

Mr. F. E. Neale has called the attention of the Government to the apparent unprotected state of the Miramichi from attack by U-boats and the damage that could be done by the blowing up of the wireless and two railway bridges across the river, and has received the following reply which may set at rest the minds of some of our residents who are a little nervous on this score:

Office of the Minister of Public Works of Canada,

Ottawa, July 6, 1918.

Dear Mr. Neale: In reply to your letter of the 4th instant, we have considered all these questions as carefully as we were able for the last five or six months, and a more complete system of coast defence exists today than ordinary people have any idea of. You, of course, realize all our military matters are now largely international and the submarine question on this side of the Atlantic is being very largely looked after from Washington of course in close co-operation with the British and Canadian Naval Force. However, I am forwarding your letter to the Minister of Marine as a gentle reminder may not do any harm.

Sincerely yours,
F. B. CARVELL.

NO SLACKING IN ALLIED EUROPE

(Boston Record.)

"There is no slackerism in all of allied Europe."

Wendell Endicott, of Endicott, Johnson & Co., son of Henry B. Endicott, brings this message from overseas.

"Our men and motors, supplies guns and munitions are all in motion. There has been no slacking there.

"Outside the devastated war zone France is still a garden of fertility, although no Frenchman can be found in farm or field. The world must take off its hat to the women of France. For there has been no slacking there.

"It is a mistake to say that France is all in. What is true is that she is all in it. England has still reserve power. And England, as France, is fighting to the finish. There has been no slacking there."

Mr. Endicott home with his plea for America to back her boys and allies, was selected by Washington authorities as commissioner to make report on soldiers' shoes, gloves, oil skins, etc.

"Speaking of shoes," exclaimed Mr. Endicott, "You ought to see the shoes the Germans are wearing. They prove the scarcity of leather all right. Wooden lifts are used in the heels, and wooden pegs instead of nails. It's tought going—wearing Hun boots.

MUST NOT RELY ON THE WORD OF A BEAST

(Chicago News.)

THE BEAST H-.... ....

Despatches from Washington blandly inform us that the crime of the Llandovery Castle has raised in the composite mind of officialdom a doubt concerning the advisability of trusting the safety of American hospital ships to the assurance of the German Government, and there is talk of asking Germany "point blank" whether our hospital ships, like the happily delayed Comfort are to be allowed to proceed on their mission of mercy in safety. What possible value can there be to German assurances even if one is given? Germany promised to respect the hospital ships of Great Britain—and the Llandovery Castle is not the first that has been sent to the bottom of the sea because of foolish reliance upon the German promise. This war will be won only when it is fully realized that Germany is a Beast and she is dealt with accordingly—on sea as on land. No hospital ship can be safe from German frightfulness. Every hosptal ship sent to sea should go under convoy.

The meanest trick memory plays on us is when we remember we wanted to remember something but can't remember what it is.
