QUEBEC'S FOREST POLICY.

The progressive attitude of the Quebec Government toward the conservation of its forest resources is indicated by a recent conference at Quebec between the Minister of Lands and Forests and representatives of the Woodlands and Technical sections of the Canadian Pulp and Paper Association and the Quebec Limit Holders' Association.

The question of the conditions under which denuded Crown Lands might be reforested, through co-operation between the Provincial Government and the limit holders, was also discussed. The pulp and paper companies are particularly concerned with this aspect of the problem, in view of their heavy investments in plant and equipment, which necessitate the adoption of a long-time view point.

Following this meeting, a committee was appointed to prepare definite recommendations to the Provincial Government. This definite recognition of the need for change in present methods of operating timber lands of the province, as well as for a comprehensive programme of reforestation on denuded Crown Lands, is most encouraging.

On the night of November 7th, fire broke out in a large planing mill and sash and door factory at Ottawa. The building has a complete sprinkler system and, though the very inflammable nature of the contents enabled the blaze to reach the roof, the fire inside was quickly extinguished by the sprinklers and without any important damage.

The high price of milk was responsible for a seven-month-old baby being abandoned by its father in the Grand Central Station, New York, on Monday, according to a note found in the child's hat by the police. "Can't afford him, on the price of milk they are charging today," said the note.

A man walked into a Wall Street, N. Y., brokerage house and laid down a stock certificate for 50,000 shares in a Peruvian mining venture. "I paid

4 cents a share for that stock five years ago," said he, "and forgot about it. Is it worth anything?" He almost dropped when told that the stock has a market value of 95 cents a share today. This does not often happen.

Mr. Hill, lockmaster at Buckhorn, Ont., experimented with a pine tree to determine improved growth which may be secured with proper care. Fifteen years ago he pruned all the lower branches off a four-inch white pine sapling, removed other saplings from its vicinity, dug up the earth around it and applied manure to its base. It is now 19 inches in diameter at its base and has a long, clean bole. Thus during the 15 years the growth in diameter has averaged one inch annually.

An Ottawa despatch intimates that Sir Robert Borden will soon resign the Premiership and retire from public life. Sir Robert has held office since the overthrow of the Laurier government in September, 1911. The cares and worries of office have told upon his health and he is anxious to get rid of the burden. The impression seems to prevail in many quarters that after Sir Robert will come "my deluge"

Sir Henry Drayton, Minister of Finance, announces a change of plans regarding a general tariff enquiry, and states that it is now proposed to obtain written statements from all interested to be made the basis for a general public enquiry to be held throughout the country later.
