EXPERIENCE OF ONCE BEING AN HEIRESS

(Chicago News)

"I see where a young lady got a surprise handed to her in the shape of a fortune for about sixty millions," said the janitor's wife. "And she's only a young girl at that, they say. The chances are she's so young she won't realize what an awful burden is on her shoulders from now on. Being an heiress, I mean."

"I was a heiress once and I can put myself in that other girl's place and know how it feels. I wish I could get out to see that girl. I could give her a few tips on being an heiress and put her wise to a lot of good stuff she don't know she's up against."

"How I came to being a heiress myself was like this: My uncle Louie died when I was about as old as this girl and he left me the money. For a month I got congratulations from all over the world where I had a friend and the people in our town used to point me out as a novelty."

"It was all fine to me at first and I was having the time of my life until a bunch of sharks heard 'bout my coin. When any one becomes a heiress those crooks must spread the good news around or else how could they know I had that money? I began to be pestered by all kinds of fellows selling phony stocks and bonds and picture enlargements. My father nearly went insane chasing them."

"Then my mail began to increase. From getting a postal card once a month it changed so that I had our poor old postman doubling up with letters for me. It seems that when a girl becomes a heiress nearly every single gent in the world writes her a letter of proposal and tells her how kind he'll treat her all her life. And they say it isn't the money they're thinking about—it's love."

"I got so that I wished Uncle Louie had left his fortune to start a dog pound or something. Every young man in town began to try to get acquainted with me. Except Oswald, who became my husband. There was one lad that didn't care for money and liked me for myself alone."

"Even at that Oswald had to suffer on account of marrying me as was a heiress. As soon as we got married"

Notice of Assignment and Meeting of Creditors.

NOTICE is hereby given, that Samuel B. Hatheway, of Kingsclear, in the County of York and Province of New Brunswick, Farmer, on the 11th day of February, A. D. 1919, and pursuant to the provisions of Chapter 141 of the Consolidated Statutes of New Brunswick, 1903, intitled respecting assignments and preferences of insolvent persons, and amending acts, did make a general assignment of all his personal property which may be seized and sold under execution, and of all his real estate, credits and effects for the benefit of his creditors to the undersigned John B. Hawthorne, Sheriff of the County of York, and also that a meeting of the creditors of the said Samuel B. Hatheway will be held in the office (County Court House here) of the said Sheriff, on MONDAY, the 24th day of February at 11 o'clock in the forenoon, for the purpose of appointing inspectors and the giving of directions with reference to the disposal of the said estate and the transaction of such other matters as may properly come before said meeting.

And notice is further given that the creditors of the said Samuel B. Hatheway are required to file their claims, properly proven, with the undersigned assignee, within three months of the date of this notice, unless further time be allowed by a judge of the Supreme or County Court, and all claims not so filed within the time limited, or such further time (if any) as may be allowed by such judge shall be as wholly barred from any right to share in the proceeds of such estate as if no such claims existed, but without prejudice to the liability of the debtor therefor.

Dated in the City of Fredericton this 11th day of February, A. D. 1919.

Assignee.

A Tribute to the Hardest Worked Merchants in Our Country

HAVE you ever considered the important part played by the grocer in our daily life?

From early morn and often until late at night the grocer keeps open for our convenience.

Whether we want a 5-cent bar of soap, a package of tea or a sack of potatoes he is there to serve us—and with a cheerful "thank you".

You trade with him almost every day. You look upon him as a friend. He treats your children kindly when you send them to the store.

When sickness, accident or unemployment occurs, it is the big-hearted grocer who supplies the home with the necessities of life and often waits a long time for his money.

He has had many trials during the past four years. Government regulations have hampered his business. Goods have been difficult to procure. Help scarce. Profits small. He sells on a closer margin of profit than probably any other line of retail trade.

For nearly twenty-five years, the T. H. Estabrooks Company has been distributing millions of pounds of Red Rose Tea through the grocers of Canada. Our relations with them have been very intimate and very friendly. We, therefore, know something of their difficulties and something of the services they are rendering, which we think deserve recognition and appreciation.

THE PLAN FOR LEAGUE OF NATIONS IS OUTLINED

Full Text of Important Document Read at the Peace Conference by President Wilson—Armaments of Great Britain to be Reduced and Swords May at Last be Beaten Into Plow Shares—How Disputes Between the Nations of the World will be Settled.

Paris, Feb. 14—The executive council of the proposed League of Nations as outlined in the covenant read by President Wilson today will consist of representatives of Great Britain, France, The United States, Italy and Japan, together with representatives of four other states.

The council shall meet as often as is necessary, but at least once a year at whatever place may be designated. Any matter within the sphere of action of the league of affecting the peace of the world will be dealt with.

The following are additional articles of the covenant as submitted to the peace conference by President Wilson.

To Reduce Armaments.

The high contracting parties recognize what did every one in town say but that Oswald married me for my money

"That's why I'd like to get in touch with any other heiress, who has had a lot of coin wished on her. I could save her a lot of trouble, and it wouldn't cost her a cent. I just want to be kind to a sister heiress, that's all."

"Let's see," said the grocer's clerk. "How much was it your uncle left you."

"Why, he left me all his money," replied the janitor's wife, "two hundred dollars."

nize the principle that the maintenance of peace will require the reduction of national armaments to the least point consistent with national safety and the enforcement by common action of international obligation, having special regard to the geographical situation and circumstances of each state; and the executive council shall also determine for the consideration and action of the several governments what military equipment and armaments are fair and reasonable in proportion to the scale of forces laid down in the programme of disarmament; and these limits, when adopted, shall not be exceeded without the permission of the executive council.

The high contracting parties undertake in no way to conceal from each other the condition of such of their industries as are capable of being adapted to various purposes or the scale of their armaments, and agree that there shall be full and frank interchange of information as to their military and naval programmes.

"A permanent commission shall be constituted to advise the league of the execution of the provisions of article VIII, and on military and naval questions generally."

External Aggression.

"The high contracting parties shall undertake to respect and preserve against external aggression, the territorial integrity and existing independence of the submission of the disputes. League. In case of any such aggression or in case of any threat or danger of such aggression the executive council shall advise upon the means by which the obligation shall be fulfilled."

"Any war or threat of war, whether immediately affecting any of the high contracting parties or not, is hereby declared a matter of concern to the League, and the high contracting parties reserve the right to take any action that may be deemed wise, and effectual to safeguard the peace of the nations.

"It is hereby also declared and agreed to be friendly right of each of the high contracting parties to draw the attention of the body of delegates or of the executive council to any circumstance affecting international intercourse which the Italians to disturb international peace or the good understanding between nations upon which peace depends."

Settlement of Disputes.

"The high contracting parties agree that should dispute arise between them which cannot be adjusted by the ordinary processes of diplomacy, they will in no case resort to war without previously submitting the questions and matters involved either to arbitration or to enquiry by the executive council and until three months after the award by the arbitrators or a recommendation by a executive council and that they will not even then resort to war as against a member of the league which complies with the award of the arbitrators or the recommendation of the executive council."

"In any case under this article the award of the arbitrators shall be made within a reasonable time, and the recommendation of the executive council shall be made within six months after the submission of the disputes."

Goes to Arbitration.

"The high contracting parties agree that whenever any dispute or difficulty shall arise, between them which they recognize to be suitable for submission to arbitration and which cannot be satisfactorily settled by diplomacy, they will submit the whole matter to arbitration. For this purpose the court of arbitration to which the case is referred shall not be the court agreed on by the parties or stipulated in any convention existing between them. The high contracting parties agree that they will carry out in full good faith any award that may be rendered. In the event of any failure to carry out the award the executive council shall propose what steps can be taken to give effect throughout."

A Permanent Court.

"The executive council shall form plans for the establishment of a permanent court of international justice and this part shall, when established, be competent to hear and determine any matter which the parties recognized as suitable for submission to it for arbitration under the foregoing article."

"If there should arise between states members of the League any dispute likely to lead to rupture, which is not submitted to arbitration as above, the high contracting parties agree that they will refer the matter to the executive council, either party to the dispute may give notice of the existence of the disputes to the secretary general, who will make all necessary arrangements for a full investigation and consideration thereof. For this purpose the parties agree to communicate to the secretary general as promptly as possible, statements of their case with all the relevant facts and papers and the executive council may forthwith direct the publication thereof. Where the efforts of the council lead to the settlement of the disputes a statement shall be published indicating the nature of the dispute and the terms of settlement together with such explanations as may be appropriate. If the dispute has not been settled a report by the council shall be published setting forth with all necessary facts and explanations the recommendations which the council think just and proper for the settlement of the dispute. If the report is unanimously agreed to by the members of the council other than the parties to the dispute, the high contracting parties agree that they will not go to war with any party—which complies with the recommendations and that, if any party shall refuse to comply the council shall propose measures necessary to give effect to the recommendations. If no such unanimous report can be made, it shall be the duty of the maj-

COUGHED. COUGHED ALL NIGHT LONG

Terribly wearing on the system is the cough that comes at night and prevents sleep. Sometimes it is a constant cough, cough that will not be quieted. Sometimes it is a choked-up, stifled feeling that makes breathing difficult, and sleep impossible.

Whatever kind of a cold or cough you have, Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup is the remedy you need to cure it, for the simple reason that this valuable preparation combines all the lung healing virtues of the Norway pine tree with which is combined wild cherry bark, and the soothing, healing and expectorant properties of other excellent herbs and barks.

Miss Margaret Landly, Bristol, P. E. I., writes:—"I am writing to tell you the benefit I have received from Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup."

Last fall I took a severe cough and cold in my head. I was unable to do anything. At night I could not sleep, but cough, cough, all night long. A friend advised me to use Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, and before the second bottle was used, I was entirely cured, and I have found this the best cough medicine I can buy."

Do not accept any other "pine" preparations when you ask for "Dr. Wood's". This remedy has been on the market for a quarter of a century. It is put up in a yellow wrapper; three pine trees the trade mark; price 25c. and 50c. Manufactured only by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.
