OUTLOOK FOR FREDERICTON DECIDEDLY ENCOURAGING

Within the trading area of Fredericton a mill for the manufacture of hard-wood last blocks will be located at Mullin's Brook, on the Canadian National Railways, twenty-eight miles from the city. An influential English firm, represented by Mr. H. Mobbs of Kettering, G. B. has finally decided to locate at this point after careful survey of other possible sites in the province. Being located in close proximity to hard-wood ridges, for which New Brunswick is noted, the raw material is close at hand. This firm has under consideration the manufacture of furniture and will employ from one to two hundred hands.

In another direction, at Lake George on the Valley Railway twenty miles distant from the city are located extensive Antimony ore deposits. These deposits have been worked for a number of years from time to time, but have been lying idle for two or more years. The American Antimony Smelting Co., Ltd. a Canadian Company has taken over this mine, and will begin immediately to free the mines from water, in order that mining operations may be begun without delay. The company plan the installation of an extensive plant including smelters either at Lake George or some shipping port.

Thirty miles distant are large bituminous coal deposits at Minto, in Sunbury County, with direct rail connection with Fredericton, as well as other provincial points. Several companies are successfully operating some of these deposits. The Canadian Pacific Railway supplies its locomotives in this part of Canada from Minto. Manufacturing plants also use this coal as it has good steaming qualities.

From a residential standpoint this city has much in its favor. Particular attention is called to the central location in the province, its railway service extending in all directions and connecting with two transcontinental lines of railway. It is the educational centre of the province. Here are located the Provincial Normal School, the University of New Brunswick, as well as Business College, High School, and graded schools providing a course of education from the primary grade to the highest degree offered by any University in Canada. There is abundant water supply, chemically pure, and modern sewerage system. The climate is healthful, as is demonstrated by the low death rate. The rate of taxation is moderate.

Commercial travellers would do well to look over the situation from a residential point of view, as the central position in the province makes the city convenient for week ends.

Thirty two passenger trains arrive and leave every day, Sunday excepted. The Board of School Trustees has and is, taking a steady interest in Technical Education, and have classes in operation, covering a number of subjects. Being a centre of a large farming district business in Fredericton is not subject to fluctuations. The growth is not rapid but is in keeping with the industrial expansion. We have no real estate booms, neither do we have depression in prices.

It might also be mentioned that this is one of the outfitting points for hunters and fishermen. A few miles by train brings the sportsmen in touch with his hunting or fishing territory. In conclusion it may be stated that Sir Rider Haggard when on a visit to Canada, remarked "that in all his travels he had never seen a more beautiful city than Fredericton."

HOW BANKS ARE NOW MADE BANDIT PROOF

(Brooklyn Standard Union)

Borrowing a Chicago idea, a bank located in the theatrical section of Manhattan and which keeps open late at night has installed a "pill box." It is a steel cylinder so located that the well-armed occupant can watch every part of the main floor from his elevation and repel venturesome bank robbers.

We thus have an interesting novelty that was born on the fields of France during the latter part of the war and which is now believed to be needed in consequence of the lawlessness of this post-war period. The Germans first thought of the scheme to do away with much of the advanced trench system by building concrete "pill boxes" which were difficult to photograph from overhead and required a direct hit of a field gun to demolish. The name was fastened to them by the English who were no slower to recognize their worth than they were to discern their likeness to the familiar pill-containing box which the druggists hand out.

A wise Chicago banker adopted the idea of this defensive and offensive contrivance for his institution and hearing about it a Manhattan concern has done the same thing. Now, there may never be occasion to fire a shot from the steel box which the bank across the river has erected, but no one need underestimate its worth in case three or four bandits swooped down on the institution and proceeded to demand all the money in sight. The sentinel in the "pill box," armed with a shot-gun and several automatics, could pepper away at the intruders with almost perfect safety to himself. More than that he has within his reach a lever which closes all the bank doors and thus imprisons the robbers. The clerks probably have no liking for this particular feature of the protective scheme.

All financial institutions in this city have thrown extra safeguards around their property during the past twelve months. Outlawry has compelled this action. Conditions may get worse, but they do not have to do so in order to warrant the banks taking new precautions.

Doc Cook announces he is going to fly in an airplane to the North Pole next summer. He visited the place once before if a flight of imagination.
