BRIEF BUT USEFUL RECIPES.

Restore Gilt Frames.—Rub with a sponge moistened with turpentine.
Drive Away Ants.—A little quick lime placed in the infested places.
Remove Tar from Cloth.—Rub it well with turpentine till every trace is removed.

Make Leather Waterproof.—Saturate it with castor oil; to stop shoes squeaking, drive a peg into the middle of the sole.

Clean the Hair.—Wash well with a mixture of soft water, 1 pint; sal soda 1 ounce; cream tartar ¼ ounce.
Egg Stains on Spoons.—Rub with common salt.

Clean Gloves.—Pour a little benzine into a basin and wash the gloves in it, rubbing and squeezing them until clean. If much soiled, they must be washed again through clean benzine and rinsed in a fresh supply. Hang in the air to dry.

Clean Hair Brushes.—Dissolve a little soda in warm water and pour in a small amount of ammonia. Hold the brushes with the bristles downward and avoid wetting the back as far as possible; shake until the grease is removed; then rinse in cold water and put in the air to dry.

Remove Mildew from Cloth.—Put a teaspoonful of chloride of lime into a quart of water, strain it twice, then dip the mildewed places in this weak solution and lay in the sun. If not effective the first time repeat.

How to Remove a Rusty Screw.—Apply a red hot iron to the head for applied immediately while the screw is hot.

Cure Mosquito Bites.—Put ten drops of refined carbolic acid into an ounce of rose water; shake well and apply. (If you hold your breath while a mosquito has its bill in you it cannot withdraw it until you breathe again).

Subversion of Democracy Contemplated by Labor Leaders
Who Attempt Dictation in Great Britain—Same Condition Observable in Winnipeg—Ante-Bellum Conditions are Evidently Gone Forever.

(Toronto Star)

All extraordinary action has been taken by certain labor leaders in England, who have served notice on the British Government threatening a strike of all miners, railwaymen, and transport workers unless the Government immediately withdraw British troops from Russia, raise the blockade against Germany, abolish conscription, and release conscientious objectors who are serving terms.

It is stated in a cable that this action was taken by the extremists in the labor movement, and it is a question whether organized labor will approve of such a strike for such purposes.

If the leaders of the miners, railwaymen, and transport workers were to cause a strike in order to tie up the country and so cripple it that the Government would have to submit to the dictation of these labor leaders in its foreign policy towards Russia and Germany, it would simply mean that the strike leaders would be in the governing position, and the seat of authority changed from Downing Street to the strike committee rooms. It would mean that democracy had been superseded by something else—by something else not representative of the whole people of the nation, but only a fraction of the people, who, finding themselves in control of such necessities as coal and transportation, shut down on the people as a whole so that by force and compulsion they could dictate the policy of the nation.

Dictation

Were these strike leaders by this threat of force to succeed in dictating Britain's foreign policy in Russia, and in regard to the blockade of Germany, it could doubtless succeed in any sort of dictation that the wielders of such strikes chose to undertake.

This sort of thing is not trades unionism. Britain's foreign policy cannot very well be dictated by a few men whose only claim to exercise the authority is the force and pressure they can exert on the Government by bringing every train in the country to a standstill. The policy of the nation is the concern of the whole people, and the democratic form of government was devised in order to establish this just principle. There was a time when a few nobles dictated public policy in England, and later there was a time when the nobles and the middle classes ruled. But the basis has been broadened until the whole people are included. Now the attempt is made by the leaders of three branches of labor to dictate policy and rule by means of the force and compulsion that a great strike of the miners, railwaymen, and transport workers would exert.

Overthrow of Democracy

The thing would mean the overthrow of democracy and the setting of it; it would mean the resumption of force as the arbiter; it would mean that force in whichever form it were the stronger for the time-being, that of the strike leader or that of the general of the army, or that of the general of whichever army proved the stronger, would rule and dictate terms until the next force in turn upset him.

The Labor Movement in Canada and England has to consider seriously the nature of the venture into an entirely new field which has been made by those who threaten this strike in England. Mr. Lloyd George recently declared that such a challenge to the sovereignty of the State would have to be opposed by the whole power of the Government. That would be so there, and it would have to be so everywhere, because it would not be
