CEREMONY AT SIGNING OF TREATY WAS BRIEF

Premier Clemenceau Issued a Stern Warning to the German Delegates—The Ceremony Had a Dramatic Ending—Lloyd George, Wilson and Clemenceau Given a Great Ovation by the Crowd—General Smuts Signed Under Protest.

Versailles, June 28—World peace was signed and sealed in the historic Hall of Mirrors at Versailles this afternoon, but under circumstances which somewhat dimmed the expectations of those who had worked and fought during long years of war and months of negotiations for its achievement.

The absence of the Chinese delegates who at the last moment were unable to reconcile themselves to the Shantung settlement, and left the eastern empire outside the formal purview of peace, struck the first discordant note in the assembly. A written protest which General Jan Christian Smuts lodged with his signature was another disappointment to the makers of the treaty.

No Reconciliation

But, bulking larger, was the attitude of Germany and the German plenipotentiaries which left them, as evident from the official programme of the day and from the expression of M. Clemenceau, still outside any formal reconciliation and made restoration to regular relations and in course with the Allied nations, dependent not upon the signature of the plenipotentiaries of peace today, but upon ratification by the National Assembly.

Would Have Refused

To M. Clemenceau's stern warning in his opening remarks that they would be expected and held, to observe the treaty provisions loyally completely the German delegates, through Dr. Haniel von Haimhausen, replied after returning to the hotel that had they known they would be treated on a different status after signing than the Allied representatives as shown by their separate exit before the general body of the conference, they never would have signed.

Under the circumstances the general tone of sentiment in the historic sitting was one rather of relief at the uncontrovertible end of hostilities than of complete and unalloyed satisfaction.

Dramatic Close

The ceremony came to a dramatic close—in fact reached its highest pitch—with the wild enthusiastic reception of M. Clemenceau, Mr. Lloyd George and President Wilson by the crowds outside the palace, who ignored or disregarded the minor discords of the day. They tore the three leaders from their escorts and almost carried them bodily in their progress through the chateau grounds to watch the playing of the fountain—a part of the programme which had been designed at a dignified state procession of all the plenipotentiaries.

terms was brief. Premier Clemenceau called the session to order in the Hall of Mirrors of the Chateau of Versailles at 10 o'clock. The signing began when Drs. Hermann Mueller and Johannes Bell, the German signatories, affixed their names. Herr Mueller signed at 3.12 o'clock and Herr Bell at 3.13 o'clock. President Wilson, first of the Allied delegates signed a minute later. At 3.45 o'clock the momentous session was closed. All the diplomats and members of their parties wore conventional civilian clothes. There was a marked lack of gold lace and pageantry. There were few of the fancy uniforms of the middle ages whose traditions and practices are so sternly condemned in the great seal covered document signed today.

A spot of color was made against the sombre background by the French guards. A few selected members of the guard were resplendent in their redplumed silver helmets and red, white and blue uniforms.

The epochal meeting in the Hall of Mirrors began at 3 o'clock. The treaty was signed by Dr. Hermann Mueller at 3.12 o'clock (9.12 New York time) and By Johannes Bell at 3.13 p. m. They were followed by the plenipotentiaries of the United States, Great Britain, France, Italy and Japan. The representatives of the minor powers signed in alphabetical order.

China's delegates did not attend the session declining to sign because they were not permitted to make reservations.

The treaty was deposited on the table in the Hall of Mirrors at 2.10 o'clock this afternoon by William Martin of the French foreign office. It was enclosed in a stamped leather case. Premier Clemenceau entered the palace at 2.20 o'clock.

British Delegates

British delegates were in the following order:

For Canada, Charles J. Dougherty, the minister of justice; Sir George Foster, minister of trade and commerce, and Arthur L. Sifton, minister of customs.

Australia—Premier William Hughes and Sir Gilbert Cook, minister for the navy.

New Zealand—W. F. Massey, prime minister and minister of labor.

Union of South Africa—Premier Botha and Jan Christian Smuts, minister of defence.

India—Edwin S. Montague, secretary for India, and the Maharajah of Bikanir.

Protest by Smuts

General Jan Christian Smuts one of the delegates representing the Union of South Africa signed the treaty under protest. He objected to certain territorial settlements, making a lengthy statement.

General Smuts said that the indemnities stipulated could not be accepted without grave injuries to the industrial revival of Europe. He declared it would be to the interests of the Allied powers to render the stipulations more tolerable and moderate.

In his protest General Smuts declared that there were territorial settlements which he believed would need revision and that there were guarantees provided which he hoped would soon be found out of harmony with the now peaceful temper and unarmed state of the Central Powers. Punishments were also forshadowed, he said, over which a calmer mood might yet prefer to pass the sponge of oblivion.

The protocol was signed by all those who signed the treaty. The Rhine agreement was signed by the Germans, Americans, Belgians, British and French plenipotentiaries.

Cannon Boom

At 3.45 o'clock cannon began to boom, announcing the completion of the ceremonies of the signing. The signing however as a matter of fact was not then completed, as the small nations were still signing in alphabetical order. The proceedings were formally closed at 3.45 o'clock.
