KEEP CHILDREN WELL

DURING HOT WEATHER

Every mother knows how fatal the hot summer months are to small children. Cholera infantum, diarrhoea, dysentery, colic and stomach troubles are rife at this time and often a precious little life is lost after only a few hours illness. The mother who keeps Baby's Own Tablets in the house feels safe. The occasional use of the Tablets prevent stomach and bowel troubles, or if trouble comes suddenly—as it generally does—the Tablets will bring the baby safely through. They are sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

HON. MacKENZIE KING MADE
HIT AT THE CONVENTION

Introduced Important Resolution on Labor and Had It Inaugurated in the Party Platform—The Liberal Party of Canada the First to Adopt Principles as Dictated at the Peace Conference—Labor Essentially a Question of Government.

(Montreal Star)

Ottawa, Aug. 7.—A resolution on Labor and Capital was put to the Liberal convention by Mackenzie King. It was as follows:

Resolved that the committee recommends that the National Liberal Convention accept in their entirety as a part of the Liberal platform in the spirit they have been framed and in so far as the special circumstances of the country will permit, the terms of the labor convention and general principles associated with the League of Nations and incorporated in the conditions of peace.

HON. GEO. P. GRAHAM.

The methods and principles for regulating labour conditions so set forth in the treaty are as follows:

First—The guiding principle that labour should not be regarded merely as a commodity or article of commerce.

Second—The right of association for all lawful purposes, by the employed as well as by the employers.

Third—The payment to the employed of a wage adequate to maintain a reasonable standard of life as this is understood in their time and country.

Fourth—The adoption of an eight-hour day or a 48-hour week as the standard to be aimed at where it has not already been attained.

Fifth—The adoption of a weekly rest of at least twenty-four hours, which should include Sunday wherever practicable.

Sixth—The abolition of child labour and the imposition of such limitations on the labour of young persons as shall permit the continuation of their education and assure their proper development.

Seventh—The principle that men and women should receive equal remuneration for work of equal value.

Eighth—The standard set by law in each country with respect to the conditions of labour should have due regard to the equitable economic treatment of all workers lawfully resident therein.

Ninth—Each State should make provision for a system of inspection in which women should take part in order to ensure the enforcement of the laws and regulations for the protection of the employed.

And further resolved:

The Labor Planks

1. The introduction into the government of industry of principles of representation whereby labour and the community, as well as capital, may be represented in industrial control and their interests safeguarded and promoted in the shaping of industrial policies.

2. That in so far as may be practicable, having regard for Canada's financial position, an adequate system of insurance against unemployment, sickness, dependence in old age, and other disability which would include old age pensions, widows' pensions and maternity benefits should be instituted by the federal government in conjunction with the government of the several provinces and that on matters pertaining to industrial and social legislation an effort should be made to overcome any question of jurisdiction between the Dominion and Provinces by effective co-operation between the several governments.

3. The representation of labour on federal commissions pertaining to labor matters.

4. Effective legislation for the conservation of human life and health.

5. The representation of labor on the board of directors of the Canadian National Railways.

6. That the system of retraining soldiers, unfitted for their past work because of physical injuries be extended to disabled workers in industry.

7. More effective restriction of Chinese immigration.

8. The Federal incorporation of co-operative associations.

9. The acceptance of the principle of proportional representation.

10. Immediate and drastic action by the government with respect to the high cost of living.

11. Restoration of the control of the executive by Parliament and of Parliament by the people through a discontinuance of government by order-in-council and a just franchise and its exercise under free conditions.

Mackenzie King in opening his address said that in making its decision, the committee had decided that nothing better could be done by them than to follow the lead taken by the members of the Peace Conference with respect to the question of capital and labor. There was indeed the human side to labor problems. He said that the question could not be solved by taking care of one element only of industry and that the problems had broadened much in the past four years until now labor was a matter of competition between industry and industry, locality and locality, continent and continent, and nation and nation. It must be realized he said that humanity did not exist for industry but that industry existed for humanity. He said that the principles and ideals for which men had laid down their lives on the battlefield of Europe proved this beyond a doubt and that on returning to this country they expected to see this idea put into practice.

The working man in this country to day is saying to himself, "Man does not live by bread alone," and they want more than mere wages. It is not enough that they work one day and are out of employment the next and their dependents facing hunger and privation. Therefore, he said, a new industrial plan must be worked out that would give the worker better social conditions, more justice and freedom.

Labor Human Problem

While we realize that the problem of labor is a human problem and many of us recognize this fact we must also recognize that labor is essentially a question of Government. We recognize today that industry is organized at the present time as involving largely two great parties, labor and capital, but there is a third party and that is the community. Labor sought to have some say in the manner in which the industry it was connected was conducted, and while labor would not at this time attempt to dictate the policy of finance or the way in which supplies necessary to the business were to be obtained, nevertheless a voice in working conditions was demanded by the workingman in Canada today.

Referring to the community interest in the question, he said that it was interesting from the standpoint of education, finance, banking facilities transportation, and many other things which made labor and capital together in business successful and without which success could not be attained.

Dealing with the last clause of the resolution he said that the present government, allowed to continue in office, had usurped their rights and had taken away from the electors of Canada many of the privileges that they had hitherto enjoyed. He said that the Tory Government on being continued in office by the tolerance of the people because of war time conditions, they had at once proceeded to give away the treasure of the country entrusted to their care to their party friends and heelers. They had barricaded the entrances of the doors of the House of Commons of the citizens of Canada and in this they had betrayed the trust placed in them by the people.

Mr. King received a wild reception on his rising to speak and a great ovation followed the conclusion of his address. Several of the delegates were heard to shout "the next liberal leader"

MR. ALEXANDER MUNRO

R.R. No. 1, Lorne, Ont.
"For over three years, I was confined to bed with Rheumatism. During that time, I had treatment from a number of doctors, and tried nearly everything I saw advertised to cure Rheumatism, without receiving any benefit.

Finally, I decided to try 'Fruit-a-tives'. Before I had used half a box, I noticed an improvement; the pain was not so severe, and the swelling started to go down.

I continued taking this fruit medicine, improving all the time, and now I can walk about two miles and do light chores about the place."
