HIGH PRICES NOT JUSTIFIED BY SHORTAGE OF SUPPLY

President Wilson Delivers an Address to Congress—Says Profitteering Must Cease in the United States—The Retailers are in Part to Blame for the High Prices—The World Must Pay for Wastage of War.

Washington, D. C. August 8.—At dressing congress today and proposing remedies to check the high cost of living, President Wilson declared that existing laws were inadequate and that high prices were not justified by shortage of supply, present or prospective, but were created in many cases "artificially and deliberately" by "vicious practices."

The president recommended that the food control act be extended to peace time operation and that congress exclude from interstate as well as interstate shipments of goods which did not comply with its provisions.

The president also recommended that the food law be provided with a substantial penalty for profiteering and that a cold storage law be enacted modelled after the law in New Jersey by which a time limit be placed on cold storage. He also recommended that all goods released from cold storage be marked with the price prevailing when they went into storage.

Further the president recommended a federal licensing system for corporations engaged in interstate commerce which would embody regulations to insure competitive selling. He also urged prompt passage of the law pending to control securities issues.

Wants Peace Treaty Ratified

Making an appeal for ratification of the peace treaty to turn the country from a war basis the president said: "There can be no peace so long as our whole financial and economic system is on a war basis."

"A process has set in," the president told congress, "which is likely unless something is done, to push prices and rents and the whole cost of living and yet higher in a vicious cyclone, to which there is no logical or natural end."

"Some of the methods by which these prices are produced are already illegal, some of them criminal and those who employ them will be energetically proceeded against. But others have not yet been brought under the law and should be dealt with at once by legislation."

Demands for increases of wages, accompanying the rising costs of living, the president said were justified. "If there be no other means of enabling men to live.

in the hands of the government, the president said, would be sold and hoards of food in private hands would be forced out under the existing provisions of the food control law.

The normal operation of the laws of supply and demand, the president said had been set at naught in the cases of many necessary commodities. He cited the figures of the federal trade commission showing rising prices in the face of greater stocks of food than were on hand in the country a year ago.

The pending bill to regulate securities issues, the president referred to as a "measure which would do much to stop speculation and to prevent the fraudulent methods of promotion."

Appeal to Merchants

Besides asking for the remedies he proposed the president called on congress and the public to deal with the subject deliberately. He appealed to merchants and others to deal fairly with the people and to housewives to exercise "a greater vigilance, a more thoughtful economic programme."

Leaders of organized labor, the president said, he was sure, "will presently yield to a second sober thought and like the great mass of their associates think and act like Americans.
Strikes, undertaken at this time the President said, would only make matters worse and he expressed his confidence that the labor men would realize it.

The President warned Congress, however, that no complete and immediate remedy was to be found in legislation or immediate action. Processes of supply and demand would not operate of themselves while the country was neither at peace nor war.

"There can be no confidence in industry, no calculable basis for credits no confident buying or systematic selling, no certain prospect of employment, no normal restoration of business, no hopeful attempt at reconstruction or the proper reassembling of the dislocated elements of enterprise until peace has been established."

The President concluded with the reminder that the peace treaty should be speedily ratified.

Some Blame on Retailers

Speaking of retail prices the President said:

"There can be no little doubt that retailers are in part, some times in large part, responsible for exorbitant price-es."

It was practicable, the President said to supply the public through established governmental agencies and through publicity with information on which it might judge what profits should be. Congress should provide necessary funds for these agencies, the President said.

The world, of course, the President reminded Congress, must pay for the vast wastage of the year and take the results of feed fields turned to battle grounds. At the same time it must help Europe back to her normal state.

"We, and we alone, hold the world steady," said the President. "It is in this supreme crisis, this crisis for all mankind, that America must prove her mettle."

A CAN OPENER! YE GODS.

Suisun, Cal., Aug. 8.—Miss Winnifred Jones of Suisun, a domestic science teacher, attached to a canteen in France, writes San Francisco friends that it's no joke to find a substitute for an "exhausted" can opener.

She says that she has worn out several jack knives, axes, hatchets and wire cutters and declares that the absence of a can opener when several divisions of our doughboys are hanging around waiting to entrain for home is a serious situation.

"When I get home," writes Miss Jones, "I will have a can opener in every room."

REGAINS VOICE BY TICKLE

Laporte, Ind., Aug. 6.—William Pah-rman, who recently was discharged from overseas service, and who returned home a short time ago, lost his voice yesterday in an unexplained manner. Physicians who attended Pahrman were at a loss to explain the strange phenomenon, which later resulted in the recovery of his speech.
Margaret Kuberna, age seven, childishly tickled Pahrman under the chin producing an unusual sensation, which caused the relaxation of the muscles controlling the larynx.

go on to decay for the small initial cost of a can of paint? You can-any other proposition. Don't delay, save decay, buy a can of paint to-
