IMPORTANT CAUCUS HELD BY LIBERALS AT OTTAWA

Will Demand That the Cards be Laid on the Table—Information will be Asked as to the National Status of Canada in Regard to Maintaining the Peace of the World—Will Expedite the Work of the Session.

Ottawa, Sept. 3—That the time has come when the cards must be laid on the table by the government as to just what national status Canada now has and what her obligations are with regard to maintaining the peace of the world was the general opinion expressed at a full caucus of Liberal senators and members this afternoon. Although emphasis was laid on the point that the work should be expedited as much as possible it was stated that members should be given ample time to read and digest the treaty before giving approval of the ratification.

The caucus was presided over by John H. Sinclair, member for Guysboro, in the absence of W. H. White, member for Alberta. D. D. Mackenzie, parliamentary leader, explained the object of the caucus at the outset and addresses were made by the new leader of the party, Hon. W. L. Mackenzie King, and the Hon. W. S. Fielding. Both were cheered lustily. Probably a score of the others expressed their views.

At the end of the caucus which lasted three hours, the following brief statement was given out:

There was general unanimity of opinion that the work of the session should be expedited so as to save expenses as much as possible. The general opinion was that the country was entitled to more explicit information from the prime minister upon the obligations contracted by Canada in the League of Nations and that sufficient time should be allowed members to become acquainted with the provisions of the treaty before proceeding with its ratification by parliament.

Position of Grand Trunk

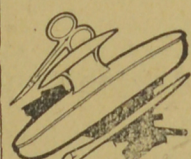

Sir Alfred Smithers, chairman of the Grand Trunk Railway Company is still in Ottawa where he has been for the past three weeks endeavoring to secure from the government "better terms" for this corporation. Judging from some of the remarks credited to members of the government he does not seem to be a very successful or able diplomat. The company has again defaulted in its bonds which in this case are those on which the liability is confined solely to the company, the government not being concerned.

The government is not inclined even if it were able to improve on the offer made to the company last July, which provided for the payment of an annual rental in perpetuity and assuming the liabilities of the road. The company was not satisfied with the sum offered and Sir Alfred is here to see if he can get it increased. He is not likely to do so.

The government is sick of the word "railway" and sickest of all of the Grand Trunk. Moreover the financial position of Canada today is such that it has to be "just before it is generous." The hope of the London office of the company that the government will take the Grand Trunk Pacific and its liabilities off their hands and leave them to carry on with the Grand Trunk which has better prospects of profits is not likely to be entertained for a moment.

Cabinet Changes

sworn in today as minister of public works. He has already completed all the necessary office arrangements necessary to make the change. It is expected that Hon. J. D. Reid, minister of railways and canals, will act as minister of customs once again until the premier can select someone suitable for the position.

It is somewhat of a surprise in Ottawa to have Hon. A. L. Sifton made minister of public works as it was believed that he was destined for the supreme court sooner or later. It is work, however, with which he has had ample opportunity to grow familiar in his varied and successful career. In 1909 he became commissioner of public works in the Haultain administration after being elected to the old North West assembly, resigning it to become chief justice and remaining chief justice of Alberta when that province was created.

When he became premier of Alberta in 1910 one of the portfolios assumed by him was that of minister of public works relinquishing it three years later. On coming to Ottawa in 1917 he was presented with a new field to cultivate in the portfolio of customs, but it may be that he will now begin again on the wider federal sphere the old see-saw between public works and the chief justiceship. This change does not necessitate a bye-election, an important item in the premier's calculations just now. As for customs and inland revenue a vacancy lasting some time will not be so noticeable as it would be to leave public works unfilled.

Hon. J. D. Hazen it is known here, has an offer of a portfolio and may accept. Hon. A. K. MacLean will soon succeed Hon. Sir Geo. Foster as minister of trade and commerce.

Sir Henry Drayton, it is learned, will run in North Toronto.

Hon. N. W. Rowell desires a portfolio with more onerous duties than his position as president of the council and this may be arranged.

Studying the Treaty

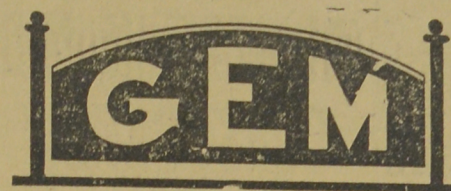

Ottawa, Sept. 3—While adjournment today was ostensibly for the purpose of studying the peace treaty the number of members who employed the holiday in that way was comparatively small. Tonight, at least, was spent in an animated discussion in the smoking room over the far more vital question of how the sessional indemnity is going to work out. Some members who were contemplating a brief holiday found to their horror that by doing so they stood a good chance of dropping about $1,900. W. S. Middleboro, the government whip, was the man who threw the bomb into their midst. The act provides that for every session of the House the indemnity shall be $2,500, and a member shall not be entitled to the full indemnity for less than thirty-two days attendance. His allowance for any less number of days shall be twenty dollars a day; so that by being absent one day he would lose just $1,900. Sundays and holidays however, are included in the thirty-one days, as well as any days when the House is adjourned, such as today.

Some of the members express a certain amount of shame at having the House sit precisely thirty-one days. They think the device would be too apparent, so they suggest that the session either last about six weeks or adjourn for a week during the term, as the senate is now doing, for lack of something to do. There is no lack of unanimity, however, over the question that the full indemnity must be secured so that faithful attendance is assured for the first thirty-one days of the session at least.

The debate on the address was completed in the senate this evening and the address was adopted. The only speaker heard was Senator David who said that he would speak in French because neither the mover nor second-er had used that language.

Case Postponed for Judgment

The returned soldier who came before Police Magistrate Limerick last week charged with drunkenness and resisting arrest and who was remanded until yesterday was given a hearing. Two witnesses called by him were also heard and his case was adjourned until tomorrow morning for judgment. When he appeared a week ago he was fined $8 for being drunk and was faced with the charge of resisting arrest. He was allowed out on $100 bail while he procured witnesses.
