THE VALEDITORY ADDRESS AT UNIVERSITY ENCAENIA

Mr. A. C. Edgecombe, a Returned Soldier, Says Farewell for the Graduating Class—The Class History Reviewed in an Interesting Manner—A Fitting Allusion to the Great War and Canada's Part in the Conflict.

Mr. A. C. Edgecombe in his Valedictory at the U. N. B. Encaenia on behalf of the class of 1919 said:

Your Honor, Mr. President and Gentlemen of the Senate, Mr. President and Members of the Associated Alumni, Mr. Chancellor and Members of the Faculty, Fellow-Students, Ladies and Gentlemen:

This Encaenia Day of 1919 brings again in the history of this University the passing from its precincts of still another graduating class. Four years have rolled by since first this class assembled in these halls. Our college life has been one of moral, mental and physical training, fitting us for a future of achievement. Today marks the end of our initial preparation and we step out to join our foster-brothers who are carrying on the work of the world. Today we stand upon the shore ready and eager to set out upon the sea of life. Today our past and future seem to blend. We have long looked forward to this Encaenia and our ideal has been at last attained. For four years we have been students, even so shall we be students tomorrow in the exacting college of the wide world, where every hour will present its problems to be solved, even as they have accosted us within these walls. For all life is a school, a preparation, a purpose; nor could we now pass current in a higher college, if we had not undergone the tedium of education in this lower one.

Yet, it is with no ordinary emotion that we leave these halls for the last time. The old associations and friendships are not lightly severed. Fond memories rush upon us and for a moment we would fain linger and prolong our stay where we have passed so many of the happiest days of our lives. But the call of the untried world attracts us onward, the lure of the future is upon us, and we turn our faces forward to pursue our destinies through the beaten and untried paths of life.

MR. A. CLARENCE EDGECOMBE,
The Valedictorian.

The class that graduates today has a future o'er-flowing with opportunities. Our country is just recovering from the stagnation and demoralization of the war, lately brought to so successful a close. Opportunity is knocking at our country's door. It is we that shall share in the fruits; let us then be ambitious for success, for, "one without ambition is like a bird without wings; he can never soar in the heights above, but must walk like a weakling, unnoticed by the world." It is more true men and women that our Canada wants; it is character and individuality that our country waits for. We want the new Canada to be great and strong in virtue and integrity—that she may maintain the good will and admiration of all the world, that good will and admiration which were so greatly augmented by her achievements in the war just completed. Let us remember that the character of a nation is the reflection of that of her people. But the future is unfathomable,—what part we shall take in this great national work none can tell.

The Class History

As a valedictorian of the class of 1919, precedent dictates that I relate briefly the history of our Class. Four years we have lingered within these walls, tasting of joys and sorrows, but happily a preponderance of the former.
The achievements of our Class in the lecture room and playground were as good as the average,—and better than many.

It was one Autumn day in 1915 that thirty blithe youths and maidens, with curiosity in their hearts for the anticipated joys of college life, climbed the hill which ably supported the assertion that the road to learning was anything but smooth. In spite of the sinister warnings so artistically adorning the trees by the pathway of the terrors that awaited us above, the curiosity of our youth urged us on, and for the first time as a Class we entered our new home, through the medium of the back door. The next night the Sophomores entertained us informally, as in the manner of their kind and we learned that the pleasure of being a Freshman at U. N. B. had its limitations.

We were also questionably honored by being the last class favored with the bright-hued bow-ties.

Active interest was shown by our class in all college societies and functions and the veridancy, characteristic of Freshman classes, gradually disappeared. It was during our first year that the College Officers' Training Corps was given its birth and which has been so ably carried on all through our course by Dr. MacDonald and Professor Cameron.

As Sophomores our class numbered twenty-four, we having lost ten and gained four new classmates. On us as Sophomores fell the duty of guiding the incoming Freshmen along the straight and narrow path,—though in this respect we were somewhat handicapped; due to the abolition of recognized initiation, our well-meant display of authority lacked backing. That our efforts were not without avail, however, is testified by the efficiency of the present Junior Class.

We entered our Junior year with ranks sadly depleted. All the male members of our class, who were physically able to do so, had voluntarily shouldered a musket and enlisted for overseas. All that were left of the grand old class of 1919 were three ladies and six men,—and still another enlisted during the Fall term. The year was indeed a hard one for U. N.
B. from a variety of causes, but the reaction was soon to come. Upon entering our Junior year, responsibilities began to devolve upon us. There was awakening within us the truer meaning of our duties as a student.

The End of the War

But it is to the past year we must point with pride. When we returned to resume our work, at the college we had learned to love and respect, ambition, energy,—above all Victory itself—seemed to pervade the whole atmosphere! The victorious Allies were sweeping back the foe; the tide had turned; the strain was over; the dawn had come. At last the ranks of our student body had ceased to decrease.
It must have been very gratifying to our Chancellor and Senate to know that their "carrying on" through two years of adverse conditions was more than justified. The first of U. N. B.'s gallant sons returned from foreign service and resumed their studies. The ranks of our class were augmented by two of these men at the beginning of the year and by two more before the completion of the term. With so many of her sons returning, U. N. B. seemed to be supplied with an incentive to activity, and the ending of the war enabled us to make a start to bring back somewhat on a pre-war basis, the college functions. Our annual "Con" extinct since 1914, was this year our means of entertaining the friends and relatives of graduates and under-grad-

CURE THAT COUGH TODAY WITHOUT MEDICINE

Easily Done by Breathing in the Healing Fumes of Catarrhozone.

No medicine brings such prompt relief, exerts such an invigorating influence, or so thoroughly and speedily cures throat troubles as "Catarrho-zone." Doctors, hospitals, sanitariums —all say that for those who suffer from changeable weather, for those who are predisposed to catarrh, lung trouble, deafness, or bronchitis, no treatment is so indispensable as "Catarrhozone."

For certain cure, for relief in an hour, use Catarrhozone, the only direct, breathable medicine. Two months' treatment guaranteed, price $1; smaller size 50c, sample size 25c, at all dealers everywhere.

It was unanimously considered very successful.

In athletics, mainly confined to basketball, we think we have had a successful year. He think, we do not know; for the real value of sport is such that no measure for it has been devised. The idea of the early Greeks the first to practise the manly contests, was one of harmony and order.
Athletic games were valuable in cultivating the habits of a virtuous disposition, and in building up a healthy body—necessary attribute to a strong mind. The palm of victory was to approach and encourage an active interest. But he who can reckon the success of an athletic season by the mere weighing of victories against defeats makes a mistake; the value can only be reckoned in terms of character. We think we have the right spirit at U.
N. B.—the spirit of co-operation.

Our Debating Society had a most successful year. The Saturday night debates were very well attended and from the standard shown by the under-graduates in the forum, U. N.
B.'s success in this most important branch is assured for several seasons ahead. It is true we lost the debate with Mount A., but for our opponents it was a hard won victory.

Mock Trial and Mock Parliament were held very successfully. For the first time our ladies were given the privilege of seats upon the floors of the House, and added much interest to the proceedings thereby.

The College Monthly has been well managed and in literary production is equal to that of former years. The College paper can be a great influence in promoting unity and harmony among the students and the faculty or its efforts will be equally injurious if improperly used.

The University Dramatic Society was not dead, we hope,—but only dormant.

The Forestry Association had a fine year of activity, but increased activity would be desired upon the part of the Engineering Society.

The Y. M. C. A. had a fairly successful year, but for so good a cause do not receive the support that is their due from the student body.

The various Ladies' Societies report a very active, interesting and profitable year. The true worth of the Co-ed is not in our opinion, appreciated by their male fellow students.
They display a far greater amount of
