ADMIRAL BERESFORD DIES QUITE SUDDENLY

Noted Naval Expert Succumbs to an Attack of Apoplexy—Was a Native of Ireland and was Seventy-two Years of Age—Had a Brilliant Career in the British Navy—Was Created a Baron in 1915.

London, Sept. 7.—Admiral Baron Beresford died last night while on a visit to the Duke of Portland at Langwell, Caithness, Scotland. Death was due to apoplexy.

Admiral Beresford was created a Baron by King George in the New Year honors announced December 31, 1915. He assumed the title of Baron Beresford of Metemeh and Curraghmore.

Lord Beresford was the second son of the Rev. John, 4th Marquis of Waterford, and was born in Ireland on February 10, 1846. He received his education at Bayford school, at Rev. Mr. Foster's, Stubbington, Hants, and entered the Britannia as a cadet in 1859. He was gazetted sub-lieutenant in 1866, lieutenant, 1868; commander, 1875, and captain, 1882. He was in command of the "Concorde" during the bombardment of Alexandria, 1882, and for services during this action he received a medal with clasp, bronze star 3rd class, Medjidieh, and specially mentioned in the despatches for gallantry. He landed at Alexandria after the bombardment and instituted a regular police system.

Lord Beresford also served on Lord Wolseley's staff during the Nile expedition of 1884 to 1885, and was subsequently in command of the naval brigade at the battles of Abu Klea, Abu Kru, and Metemeh, and was specially mentioned for gallantry. He was also in command of the expedition which rescued Sir Charles Wilson's party in Safia, when the boiler of his vessel was mended under fire; was specially mentioned in the despatches for gallantry, and in the speeches of both houses in the vote of thanks for operations in the Soudan.

Lord Beresford was appointed a Lord Commissioner of the Admiralty in 1886, but resigned in 1888, following the question of the strength of the fleet. While he was captain of the "Undaunted" he rendered assistance on the occasion of the grounding of the "Seugnalay," for which he received the thanks of the French government. From 1883 to 1896 he was in command of the steam reserve at Chatham, and in the following year, 1897 he was created rear admiral and was also naval aide-de-camp to the queen from 1896-97. He visited China on a special mission at the request of the Associated Chambers of Commerce of Great Britain, 1898-99. He was rear admiral of the Mediterranean, 1900-2 and commanded the Channel squadron from 1903-5. In 1906 he was appointed admiral and from 1905-7 he was commander in chief of the Mediterranean fleet, and of the Channel fleet from 1907-9. He retired in 1911.

Lord Beresford was created G.C.B. 1911; K.C.B., 1903; G.C.V.O., 1906, and 1st Baron of Metemeh and Curraghmore, 1916.

Lord Beresford's political career began in 1885 when he was elected M.P. for Waterford, 1875, which seat he represented until 1880. From 1897 to 1900 he was a member of parliament for York, and was later elected to the house in 1910, when until 1916, he represented Portsmouth. Lord Beresford was naturally enough, an authority on naval affairs and a stormy petrel in many of the discussions which arose in the days preceeding the war.
