THE C. N. R. MAKES APPLI- CATION FOR AIR CHARTER

"The application of the Canadian Pacific for an air charter," said Mr. Grant Hall, Vice-President of the C. P. R., "is only natural when one considers that we are approaching a new epoch in air transport as applied to commerce. Even before the war a dirigible airship maintained a regular passenger service between Frankfurt and Berlin for two years, and during the war the progress in aerial transit has been phenomenal. Much of that progress has been due to the skill and daring of Canadian fliers.

"General Seeley, in the British Parliament recently acknowledged the indebtedness of the Allies to Canada in securing aerial supremacy. "Canada," he said, "gave the largest contribution in numbers and of her services those who know what Canadian air-men did, need not to be reminded—they were second to none."

"The British government has allowed no less than three hundred million dollars in the estimates for the coming year for air service, of which ten million dollars has been set aside for experimental research and civil aviation. Bonar Law owns his own aeroplane, which is used for his frequent visits to Paris, and there is a regular daily service of a 17-passenger Handley-Page machine between London and Paris. Although at present aerial transport is a distinctly expensive matter, the progress being made both in aeroplanes and dirigibles is so rapid that it is quite in order for a company such as the Canadian Pacific to be ready to enter the field as soon as air transportation comes within the range of practical politics.

"Although there are areas in Canada which will for a long time present difficulties, particularly to tero-planists, there are other areas which conform to the requirements of the experts.

"Take, for instance, the western prairies, which offer the conditions described by General Seeley as vital, namely, that they are regions 'where there are wide spaces with almost complete absence of the airman's real enemy, mist and fog, not wind.' It is there where air travelling might be made profitable.

"There are, however many costly features about an air service by means of aeroplanes which will militate against any hope of very low rates—particularly the necessity of suitable landing spaces at frequent intervals in case of engine trouble.

"Orville Wright maintains that to make flying reasonably safe, good landing places should be provided at 10 or at the most 15 miles intervals. A landing space must be about a quarter section in size, and the surface must be level, smooth, hard sod. Then in the case of airships, the cost of sheds is a very considerable item. Thus, for instance a shed to house two of the new rigid R-80 British dirigibles is about $2,000,000—so that anyone who is under the impression that air transportation in the near future will reduce either rail or steamship rates, is likely to be disappointed.

"In a word, the future of commercial air transportation is bound up in the question of cost, but we are of the opinion that with the engineering and operating resources which the Canadian Pacific has always been able to command, we should be able to enter the field with confidence when the time seems ripe."

SCARE LINES IN NEWSPAPERS RAISED PRICES

Ottawa, May 15.—Giving evidence before the committee on agriculture this morning, Mr. J. A. Rydduck, Dominion Dairy Commissioner, stated that there had never been any justification for seventy-five cent butter in Ottawa, Toronto and other eastern cities. The prices had gone up, he said, because of scare lines in the newspapers and talk of no dairy butter, which caused many people to put in large quantities. When butter was being sold by some dealers at 75 cents per pound, it could have been purchased elsewhere for ten cents less.

Dealing with the general question of the effect of cold storage on the cost of product to the consumer, Mr. Rydduck stated that generally speaking the result is to equalize prices which are increased during the period of flush production, but kept down during the periods of non production. Without cold storage, prices during periods of flush production would be so low as to discourage production.

"There is only one cure for the present high price of butter," said Mr. Rydduck "and that is more production."

He added that the world's butter market today is controlled by the demand of continental Europe. Great Britain with the price fixed at 56 cents per pound, cannot get any butter, and the people are still on rations. Butter is being shipped today from Canada to Denmark and Sweden.

THIS OHIO WIZARD

Discovers drug which loosens sore, touchy corns so they lift out

You reckless men and women who are pestered with corns and who have at least once a week invited an awful death from lockjaw or blood poison are now told to use a drug called freezone, which the moment a few drops are applied to any corn, the soreness is relieved and soon the entire corn, root and all, lifts out with the fingers.

This new ether drug is the recent discovery of a noted Cincinnati chemist. It is a sticky substance which dries the moment it is applied and it adds to simply shrivel the corn without inflaming or even irritating the surrounding tissue or skin. It is claimed that a quarter of an ounce of freezone will cost very little at any drug stores, but is sufficient to rid one's feet of every hard or soft corn or callus.

You are further warned that cutting at a corn is a suicidal habit.
