LONG WAS A DESERTER FROM THE C. E. A.

Montpelier, Vt., Oct. 31—George A. Long, convicted of murder in the second degree was born in Big Cove (The Narrows), Queens County, New Brunswick, in 1884 or 1885. He was a lumber camp cook, teamster, farm-hand and occasionally a lumber-jack. Up to the time he was 19 years of age, he lived with his parents, going in 1904 to Providence to live with a brother, Shelton Wrath, by whom he was employed in the ice business. He stayed there a year, returning to the province again and later locating in Woodstock, N. B.

He resided at various times in Green Road, Island Falls, Fort Fairfield, Houlton and other places in Northeastern Maine and New Brunswick. From 1912 to 1914 he resided at Auburn, R. I. He deserted from the Canadian Army on Aug. 9, 1916, after less than three months of service, after which he began using the name of Long.

In 1906 he eloped with Miss Haley E. Dow of Island Falls, Me. They were apprehended and the girl was sent home. Shortly after they eloped a second time, eluding interference and were married Jan. 16, 1906, at Sherman Falls, Me. by Rev. Frederic Parker.

The marriage record gave his age then as 23 and the bride's as 21. His treatment of his wife caused her to leave him, but in 1915, on his promise to do better, she accepted his urgent request to go to Houlton, Me., to live with him. He told her what train to leave Island Falls on. When she arrived at Houlton he had left town. She returned to her home and has not seen him since.

Wrath led a checkered career. He figured in an alleged seduction affair in 1915, at Patten, Me. In Greenville, Me. it is alleged that he robbed Robert C. Moore a lumberman of $140 and his wife of a diamond ring.

Another affair was an alleged forgery of the name of the bookkeeper of Sheriff Bryson at Houlton, Me. Long came to Vermont sometime in 1917 to work in Rochester. Later he appeared at Randolph, where he was employed on a farm and claimed to be a creamery inspector. He was next heard of at Waterbury and later at Montpelier, where he was employed by Charles E. Demmitt, and came to the attention of the police of Montpelier.

CONSTIPATION OR COSTIVENESS

Constipation, although generally described as a disease, can never exist unless some of the organs are deranged, which is generally found to be the liver.

There is nothing more productive of general ill health than constipation of the bowels and a regular action is absolutely essential to general health. One of the most common, painful and troublesome troubles caused by constipation is piles, and unless the bowels are kept open by the use of a good laxative such as Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills the whole system will be poisoned and many different complications of diseases arise, so if you would be well, keep your bowels regular.

Mr. A. Roder, Hastings, St. E., Vancouver, B. C., writes: "I desire to express my thanks for what Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills have done for me. I had been suffering from constipation for two years, and also had a bad cough and headaches. I tried all sorts of cures and remedies, but got no relief until I was advised to try your pills. I got relief after the first few doses."

Get Milburn's Laxa-Liver Pills when you ask for them or send 25c. and they will be sent by return mail by The T. Milburn Co., Limited, Toronto, Ont.

CONFESSIONS OF AN EVERY- DAY WIFE

By IDAH McGLONE GIBSON.

THEO IS MUCH WORRIED.

"You must be very much disturbed," I remarked to Theo when he gave me that cryptic answer, "for you are murdering the English language woefully." I wanted to make him laugh, but somehow I did not know this Theo at all.

"Never mind the English dear, as long as I make you understand," he observed, without a change in his drawn face.

"Suppose the whole world was against me, dear, and I come to you and told you a story that no one else believed, would you believe me?"

"Of course I would. You have no need to ask that question, dear heart," I said, and I bent toward him.

To my surprise he seemed to shrink from my kiss, but presently he put his arms about me and drew me close within his arms. For a long time he held me and I could feel his heart beating tempestuously.

"Margot, whatever comes, dear, you will always believe that I love you."

"Just as much as I am capable of loving, my dear, I love you—have always loved you. Even since we were children I have never thought of a life apart from you. You have been my other self—my better self."

"I may have sinned against you, sweetheart, but when I did I sinned as one sinner against himself."

"No other woman has been in my heart. I have been foolish, I have followed the will-o-wisp of curiosity sometimes further than I intended, but always my other self which is you has unconsciously called me back. Now it looks as though I cannot escape reaping something of that which I have sown and I could do it easier if I were not afraid that you, too, will have to gather some of the harvest of my wild oats—for oh, whatever happens you will stick beside me, won't you, dear heart?"

I felt I already knew what Theo was trying to tell me. It was what I had overheard him telling Robert of his complicity—innocent complicity I was sure—in the escape of Emil Baur.

I could see that he had probably gone to Sallie Saunders and learned from her that Baur—a traitor—was the man they had brought to the chauffeur's rooms over her father's garage. I waited for him to tell me the whole story, but he only held me close to him and said no more.

After a little while the porter came in to make the berths. Even then Theo did not leave the little drawing room. As soon as the man had finished and left Theo immediately began to prepare for bed.

At that it was nearly two o'clock before we were ready for sleep. As Theo was looking through his pockets for something he uttered an exclamation of annoyance.

"Margot," he asked, "did you send the trunks to the station?"

"Yes, Theo early in the afternoon."

"Well, I forgot to get them checked. They were not there when I sent the man for the tickets."

"We can telegraph to have them sent on," I said. "Call in the porter."

"Oh, let us not bother tonight, I am sleepy," he answered. "If we telegraph tomorrow, they will get to our destination soon enough."

"Did you send my electric back in the early evening? If you didn't it will probably have to stand outside the rest of the night as Stanley had gone home and the garage was locked when I came away."

Theo mumbled something which made me think he was nearly asleep and although I did not get his answer I thought I would not disturb him.

But long afterward, when I found I could not sleep, I turned on the light for a minute and found Theo staring at me from the berth across the way with wide open eyes—eyes that startled and shocked me because in them I saw that which I hoped never to see in the eyes of any one I loved. It was fear—deep-seated, despairing fear.

Patriot Wir's Out In Spite of Cynic

A Heated Discussion Results in the Cynical Observer Being Worsted by a Real True Canadian Woman.

"I wonder why the representative figure of this country is a woman, and why we always hear of Miss Canada," asked a girl at a luncheon the other day.

"Because the country is so young and beautiful!" was the gallant answer given her by a man sitting nearby.

The theme being given, conversation buzzed around the table for some minutes. The Cynic was present, and added the acid touch:

"Oh, yes, Canada is always represented by a woman until there is money attached. Then it's a Mr. Canada alright."

The subject was threshed out pro and con without any resultant good being accomplished until the coffee arrived.

"Let's forget it," spoke up a good patriot. "I know where we can all turn the tables. I know a place where every woman can represent Canada by her money."

"I see it's going to be a case of 'heaping coals of fire' whatever it is," said the Cynic. "Let's have it."

"Well, it is Victory Bonds. Why should we all be discussing the matter of getting some money out of the country. None of us want to. We were just talking." The enthusiast waxed eloquent.

"But to be able to lend some money to our country—that's a privilege that will come to all of us very soon. I don't really believe many of us realize just what a fine thing it is to be able to buy stock in our own country. Remember it is our own country now, for this year we have all voted."

"Apropos of Victory Bonds," said the mere man, "I heard a most remarkable thing the other day."

"What was it?" asked feminine curiosity all at once.

"A bond dealer told me that 30 per cent. of the bonds brought them to be sold had never had the coupons detached."

"What coupons?" asked a fair-haired matron. "Tom gave me a Victory Bond, but I didn't know it had coupons."

She looked so tereaching that the business girls hadn't the heart to laugh outright. The mere man looked volumes.

"Well, it's a gold mine you have sure enough," replied Nora. "You get your bond and you'll find the nicest little coupons all around the edge and every one of them is real money."

"Real money?" queried the puzzled one. "I'm sure there is no such thing."

"Don't be silly. I mean what is as good as money," was the answer. "You cut those bonds off and go to any bank and they will give you real money for them."

"My bond is a thousand-dollar one. How much money will I get?"

"When did you get the bond?"

"Just about this time last year—when the campaign was on."

"Then on the first of November you can cash them for a whole year. Cut the ones off you should have last May, and then the ones marked 'November 1st' and you will have $55 all at once."

"What will you do with it?" asked the patriot insinuatingly.

"Don't worry, darling. I'll buy another Victory Bond with it, if you say so. What makes you feel we should all buy bonds?"

"I do feel every woman should buy bonds this time," said the patriotic little woman. "I feel we should more this year than before because now we have the vote we must share some of the responsibilities of the country."

"Is that the only reason?" sniffed an "anti" who was present.

"Oh, goodness, no," she laughed. "There are such a lot of reasons. The fact that the country needs the money is one, and the fact that it is a fine investment for me is another."

"What does the country need the money for?" asked another woman.

"There are three big reasons. One is to defray the cost of demobilization. We were all glad to get our boys back, and now the expense must be met. Then there are the obligations to the soldiers and to the dependents of the fallen. None of us would repudiate that debt of honor. Lastly there is the necessity of Canada having enough money on hand to give credits to Great Britain so that she can buy our surplus food stuffs and keep the factories running."

"Is this the last Victory Loan?" asked a little September bride.

"Yes, the very last one, and the last chance we will have of buying bonds."

"I received some money as wedding presents that I think I will put into bonds," she said. "What interest do they pay?"

"Much more than a bank. They pay 5 1/2 per cent. Isn't that fine?"

"Suppose I wanted my money suddenly, could I ever get it?" said the fair-haired woman, who had evidently been thinking.

"You could get it in short notice. Bonds are selling to-day for more than par, and there is never as many to sell as there are buyers wanting them."

"I know that is true," spoke up a business girl. "I needed some money last winter when I had to go to the hospital with the flu, and I cashed one of my hundred-dollar bonds. Do you know I got one hundred and five dollars for it!"

That argument clinched the affair. There will be several bonds bought as a result of that luncheon, and the little patriot went home feeling a glow of satisfaction over her conversion.

SAID TO PUT NEW LIFE INTO PEOPLE THAT ARE RUN-DOWN.

For years doctors have been searching for a combination that would enable them to inject into thin blood the elements it lacked. This can now be done, and any weak-blooded person can quickly be made strong and well.

Already a small army of ailing people has proved the merit of taking after each meal with a sip or two of water, two chocolate-coated Ferrozone Tablets. This is easily done, and even one week's use of this wonderful blood-food will prove how nourishing and strengthening and flesh-building, the treatment is.

Just think of it—Ferrozone uplifts the entire nervous system, removes the blood, makes it rich and red—gives the sort of aid that's needed in throwing off weakness and languor.

Tens of thousands enjoy the advantages of renewed health through Ferrozone;—if you'll only use it, you'll surely grow strong too; its beneficial action is noticed even in a week. You see it goes right to work, removes the causes of the trouble and then quickly makes a cure.

For those who sleep poorly and have nervous apprehensions, Ferrozone is a boon; it is a specialist in such cases.

Where there is paleness, poor appetite and languor, Ferrozone makes the patient feel like new in a few days.

In tiredness, nerve exhaustion, spring fever and debility, the power of Ferrozone is known from coast to coast and universally used with grand results.

Let Ferrozone build you up, let it win you back to robust health,—it will do so quickly if you give it the chance. Sold by all dealers. 50c. per box or six boxes for $2.50. Remember the name Ferrozone.
