A BIG STRIKE WAS AVERTED

New York, Feb. 4.—By signing a two year agreement embodying union demands the Associated Fur Manufacturers today averted a strike called for tomorrow by six thousand workers employed in this city. The settlement, however, does not affect two thousand workers in independent shops.

The agreement signed with the Associated Fur Manufacturers provides for a 44 hour week, elimination of the slack season wage and introduction of a minimum scale throughout the year which is an increase of 4 per cent. over the old scale for all branches of the trade, and a division of work in June, November and December.

The hard part about an easy job is the getting thereof.

A man gets lots of things he doesn't want in this world, and a woman wants a lot of things she doesn't get. No matter how positive a woman may be of anything, she is seldom willing to bet money on it.

A "Mother" Sent This

If the sweetest little kiddies
Act like old and crabbed Biddies,
From the pain that's in their middies—
Cascarets!

When the child begins to ail,
Coated tongue and looking pale,
Spend two jitneys of your kale—
Cascarets!

You'd relieve your kiddie if you could
Of course you will—I knew you would.
Any druggist in your neighborhood—
Cascarets! 10 cents!

This wise mother knows that the best and safest way to relieve a bilious, sick or constipated child is by giving candy Cascarets at the first sign of a white tongue, a feverish breath or a sour stomach.

Children love Cascarets because of the candy taste. Nothing else "works" the nasty bile, sour fermentations and poisons from the little liver and bowels so gently—yet so thoroughly. Each 10 cent box of Cascarets has directions for children aged one year old and upwards.

Action on Vocational Educational Deferred

City Council Will Confer With Director F. Peacock—Motion to Have Civic Election in January Defeated—Claim Against Exhibition Property to be Discharged if Agreement Now Being Prepared is Carried Out.

The City Council held a lengthy session last night at which many matters were discussed. The greater part of the time was devoted to Vocational Education. Ald. Reid wanted some action taken in the matter and moved to produce that result but the majority of the Council was against immediate action and decided to defer action until a conference with Mr. F. Peacock, Director of Vocational Training, could be held and definite information concerning the working of the vocational education act obtained.

By unanimous vote the Council decided to discharge the claim of the city against the Fredericton Exhibition property on the completion and carrying into effect of the agreement between the city and Agricultural Society No. 34 which now is in course of preparation. This claim has long been a bone of contention between city and Agricultural Society. Ald. McKay injected a little ginger into the proceedings at that stage by stating that as president of the Agricultural Society he did not recognize any claim of the city on the property, also that the agreement of 1903 had been made illegally by officers of the Society and that one officer since deceased had been guilty of perjury.

The proposition to change the date of the civic election to January in order to permit of an earlier preparation of the assessment and an earlier collection of taxes was defeated.

Municipal Home

Ald. Baxter reported for the municipal Home Committee. On his motion a cheque for $600 was ordered to issue in favor of Commissioner Niles.

Tax Collections

Ald. Reid reported as follows on tax collections. January 1919, $2,706.65; January 1918, $2,116.90.

The annual statement of City receipts and expenditures for 1918 was presented by Ald. Reid.

Mayor Hanson said that the financial position of the city was good, when it was considered that there had been certain heavy expenditures such as City Hall heating, extra school expenditure, Union Street extension, etc. On motion the report was adopted.

Ald. Wilkinson presented the annual report of Fire Chief H. C. Rutter.

In pursuance of a suggestion contained in the report 500 feet of cotton rubber-lined hose will be purchased.

Ald. Shea reported for the special committee on the memorial of Licensured Livery Stable Keepers re fares and license-fees. He moved the adoption of the report and the motion was carried.

Building Inspector's Report

The Building and Fire Inspector George W. Ross, presented his annual report. During the year he discovered but one case of violation of the law. Four new buildings were erected, three wooden and one brick. Eight were remodelled and twenty-five fire-proof roofs added, also twenty new shingle roofs outside the fire district. The estimated cost was $171,450. The law relating to the removal of old buildings was enforced and eighteen were removed. Others will be removed in the spring.

Mayor Hanson commented favorably on the report.

Date of Election

Ald. Reid moved that the City Clerk be authorized to prepare a bill for presentation to the legislature to change the date of the annual civic election from its present date to the third Monday of January.

Ald. Walker seconded the motion. Ald. Baxter said that organized labor in the city was opposed to such a change because the majority of its members would be out of the city in January.

Ald. Wilkinson stated that the date of election was not as important as the matter of saving interest. Another point was that it was easier for the majority of working men to pay taxes in the summer than early in the year.

Ald. Reid said that what was wanted was to make people pay taxes early and not to give them more time. It was the men who were out of the city part of the year whose taxes were difficult to collect.

Ald. Davidson was opposed to making the date of paying taxes earlier in the year.

The motion was lost.Vocational Education

Ald. Reid brought up the matter of Vocational Education. He stated that he had furnished each member of the City Council with a copy of the Vocational Education Act.

He moved the following resolution: Whereas the City of Fredericton has in the past gone on record in favor of Vocational Education to fit our pupils who do not wish to enter the professions, to enter industry,

And whereas the need of such practical training of the youth is today universally recognized,

Therefore let it be resolved that this Council renew its expression of confidence in the value of Vocational training and recommend that the local School Board appoint a local Vocational Education Committee as provided under the New Brunswick Vocational Education Act, and that this committee when appointed formulate a Vocational Education program for this city, and submit the same to the Council for consideration.

Mayor Hanson

The mayor said that he had looked into the act and had found it less dangerous than he had thought. The amount of any expenditure on Vocational Education rested entirely with the City Council as far as he could see.

Delegations had waited upon him and placed their views before him. Their ideas were moderate, practically a continuation and extension of the night schools. He believed that the underlying principle could be reaffirmed and a start on a moderate scale made.

Ald. Reid Nettled

Ald. Reid spoke strongly in favor of the resolution. It appeared as if the proposal was to be damned with faint praise. The matter either should have been carried through or not touched.

The Night Schools

Ald. Shea asked Ald. Reid for data concerning the night schools.

Ald. Reid said he could not do so. He knew of many persons who had been benefited by the night classes. Ex-Ald. Weddall, a member of the School Board was asked. He said that the first year the night schools were a grand success. The second year they fell down badly through lack of pupils and the third year the School Board did not attempt them.

Ald. McKay asked if School Board was as a whole in favor of Vocational Education.

Ex-Ald. Weddall said that it was.Ald. McKay Opposed

Ald. McKay said that with a $60,000 apportionment, the School Board could attempt the project. He was opposed to further expenditure on education. A halt must be called somewhere. Every new fangled thing could not be taken up. The street expenditure would be a sufficiently heavy burden.

Ald. Shea's Views

Ald. Shea said that Vocational and Industrial Education were of great importance. However he was doubtful of the provisions of the act. He believed that too great powers were placed in the hands of the Vocational Education Boards. Ald. Shea gave personal reminiscences of the apprenticeship system which had been successful. That had broken down, however, and now it was practically impossible to get boys to learn trades. In Toronto students were being paid to attend the technical schools. That was in accordance with the spirit of the age. Night schools in Fredericton had succeeded only when a novelty. Technical schools could succeed only in large centres of population. He doubted if they would succeed in Fredericton. As a matter of fact the province would pay nothing for supplies and material to be used in such schools.

Ald. Walker pointed out that the record furnished by Ald. Reid showing expenditures on evening technical schools in Nova Scotia towns did not show that they had been successful in all cases. There would be sufficient time in which to discuss the subject. He favored the suggestion that a committee of the City Council should confer with the School Board, on account of increasing expenditure in other departments the Council should go slowly.

Ald. Reid believed that something should be done. It looked as if the Aldermen were afraid to spend three cents out of every one hundred dollars of assessment.

Ald. Wilkinson said he would support the motion of Ald. Reid if he
