CHINAMAN AT AMHERST SHOT AND WOUNDED

Amherst, N. S., June 14.—A shooting affair with serious termination occurred last evening at the St. Regis Cafe, when James Tom fired a bullet from an automatic revolver and shot his cousin, George Tom, in the abdomen. The victim was immediately rushed to Highland View Hospital, where an operation was at once performed. As the intestines were punctured in four places by the bullet, Geo. Tom's chances for recovery are nil, although he still lived at a late hour last night.

At first it was presumed that George Tom had inflicted the wound himself, but subsequent developments indicated otherwise and James Tom, more familiarly known as "Jimmie," was placed under arrest owing to his cousin's serious condition.

Chief of Police Pickram, on information presented by the crown prosecutor, J. A. Hanway, took charge of the dapper little celestial and he was placed in confinement over night.

Seen by a reporter in jail, James Tom stated emphatically with all the English at his command that the shooting was accidental. He declared that he was sitting alongside the folding doors in the back part of the building examining a new automatic revolver. According to his story there were two cartridges in the clip, one was found lodged in George Tom, the other taken from the automatic by Chief Pickram this morning.

Socialist Deputy Expresses Astonishment That
Allies Should Recognize Him Just at a Time
When He was Being Beaten—Disorders in the Black Sea Fleet a German Plot.

Paris, June 14.—During the debate in the Chamber of Deputies on the alleged mutiny of the seamen of the French Black Sea fleet, Marcel Cachin, Socialist deputy, said in discussing Russian affairs that Admiral Kolchak might be compared to the forces which operated against the French revolution, and he expressed astonishment that the Allies should recognize Kolchak "just at a time when he is being beaten."

George Laygues followed Cachin with a review of the incidents attending disorders of the Black Sea fleet. He said a French squadron had been sent into the Black Sea in carrying out the armistice terms with Turkey. Referring to trouble on the battleship Jean Bart, he said that after there had been manifestations of impatience on the French, "effervescence" was communicated to other ships and the red flag hoisted.

REVOLUTIONARY PROPAGANDA OF RUSSIANS SAID TO HAVE BEEN CAUSE OF THE MUTINY

Officers of all vessels, he said, refused to parley with the men until the red flag was hauled down. The commanding officer of the Jean Bart, who was arrested by his men, said, according to ministers, "Boys, lookout! You are in a state of rebellion and you will haul down the red flag or strike me down at your feet." The commander's desire was not only satisfied, said Laygues, but the sailors themselves tore up the red flag and handed him the shreds, saying, "Keep them in witness of our resolution to become orderly again."

M. Laygues attributed the mutiny to revolutionary propaganda carried on by Russians among the crews of the French, to which he attributed the short rebellion. "It was a criminal plot," he said. "The poison which brought about the collapse of Russia was to destroy France, the press of Germany and of revolutionary Russia announced that the crews of ships in the Baltic had mutinied. Having lost the war, Germany hoped thus to win peace, but the plot failed, the navy remaining faithful in its duty."
