A KENTUCKY COLONEL'S VIEW.

Col. Henry Waterson, the Veteran Kentucky Journalist, now living in retirement in Florida, has been saddened by the prohibition cloud now coming up in the great republic. In an article contributed to the New York Herald on the subject he says:

"I long ago reached an age when the convivialism of life ceased to cut any figure in the question of my desires and habits. I may add that I have no interest, direct or indirect, and never have had in the manufacture and sale of intoxicants. * * * Bigotry is a disease. It begets hypocrisy. When this spreads over a sufficient area and counts a voting majority, it sends its agents abroad, and thus we acquire canting apostles and corrupt legislators. This is a world of sin and death. Permanently nothing can change or cure it. Has not our world reached the top of activity, and, pausing for a moment, may it not be about to take the downward course into another abyss of collapse and oblivion?"

Commenting on Col. Waterson's statement, the Brooklyn Eagle has this to say:

"Oh, venerable Colonel, beloved of the universe, cheer up! The blue grass of Kentucky is as blue as ever. The sky is not less blue. The birds sing undisturbed. Behind the cold, and damp, watery cloud is the sun of warm common sense, and mankind may well shun the sour mash temper of discontent. Kentucky may no longer 'make whiskey so excellent that drunkenness becomes a virtue,' but Ninon de L'Enclos used to get intoxicated with her soup, and the inebriating effects of alphabet soup are always to be depended on."

"Pour out a flagon of foaming rhetoric and drink to the future. Follow it up with a mug of poetry's hot punch and take a nightcap of the best. And when the sunrise wakes you up think on the text slightly modified: 'I have seen the hypocrite in great power and flourishing like a green bay tree, yet was he soon cut off, and that without remedy.'"

IMPORTANT RESOLUTIONS.

A series of resolutions were passed by the Central Ontario Liberal Convention last night, beginning with a declaration of confidence in Sir Wilfrid Laurier and fealty to his leadership and touching on a number of the questions looming up for discussion at the next session of Parliament. Among them was one demanding the immediate repeal of the war time election act, which, according to the resolution, "in passing it Parliament descended to the lowest depths of partisanship." Another resolution was with reference to the proposed league of nations, which the convention pledged itself to support to its utmost. One resolution appealed for harmony between the different races and creeds in the Dominion and referred to "the example of our honored leader, Sir Wilfrid Laurier, whose life had been devoted to promoting Canadian unity" and suggested a "democracy in industry" by the holding of conferences between employers and employed with a view to straightening out any differences which might arise. Another resolution asked for a full investigation into the affairs of the Canadian Northern Railway.

All business men of the community should be interested in the work being carried on by the Fredericton Board of Trade and should therefore make it a point to be present at the annual meeting this evening. There was never greater need for a live Board of Trade than there is at the present time. Great problems are to be faced in the near future and if Fredericton is to have a share in the reconstruction work and development to follow the end of the war, the time to get busy is at hand. Instead of standing off and criticizing the work of the Board of Trade, citizens who have the welfare of the community at heart should unite with it and strive to make its work more effective.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

"Tisn't the initial cost of an armistice, Fritz, but the upkeep, that hurts. What's become of the old-fashioned man who used to call a joke a 'take-off.'"

It's all right to be prepared for the worst, but many a woman is reconciled to her loss long before her husband croaks.

Nothing makes a man's muscles so weak and flabby as to marry a woman who is willing and able to lift things for herself.

Much is expected of the new wool crop in reducing fabric prices, but humanity knows by this time that no dependence can be put in a sheep.
