SHAM HONORS MANUFACTURED TO FLEECE SOLDIERS IN OLD COUNTRY

If you meet a man whose breast is covered with ribbons, you need not jump to the conclusion that it was really he who won the war, says Tit-Bits. He may be a victim of the gentry who vend more or less spurious "honors."

An early sham of this kind was the "silver stripe," which though often worn was never authorized. Similar is the "French wounded ribbon" (blue, orange and white), worn by some men who were wounded in France or Belgium. The British authorities do not recognize it.

Where, again is there any regulation under which the so-called "Italian ribbon" may be sported by men who took part in the operations in Italy? Actually the ribbon of the Independence Medal, it is authorized by the government of that country, but British soldiers are not allowed to wear it.

Perhaps the greatest sham of all is the "Allies Ribbon," which is a much colored product of the real comic opera order. For it is a fictitious "honor"—an honor created by traders for the purpose of fleecing soldiers and ex-soldiers, who buy it (often at a grossly extortionate price) in the honest belief that they are entitled to wear it. In addition to a fine show of decorations of this kind, some men have a brilliant display of ribbons, etc., which though equally objectionable from the military point of view, are merely "unauthorized." When, for instance, it was announced that a silver rosette would be issued as an addition to the 1914 Star, manufacturers rushed out that article immediately. If dealers who flood the market with such wares are not careful, they will soon find themselves in hot water. The authorities now have power to prosecute.

Are You Prepared For Cold Weather

Ask yourself these questions and see if you are: Is your furnace in good trim? Are you contemplating a new one? Is your plumbing in good repair? Do you intend to install a bathroom? Is your stovepipe in good repair? Does the stove need new linings, grate, etc.? Will you be needing a new one? Have you a stove you want to set up? Are your stove and furnace pipes all good?

After you have answered the above questions, don't forget that we have the best staff of mechanics possible to carry out your requirements in any of the above lines.

Better leave your order now and be prepared.

CANADA'S LABOR LAWS DISCUSSED AT THE INDUSTRIAL CONFERENCE

Spokesman for Labour Group Pointed Out Need of Unity in Canada's Labor Laws—Canadians Must Settle Their Own Disputes Before Trying to Settle European Problems—Other Groups Well Represented.

Ottawa, Sept. 16—"There is no use Canadians trying to settle the disputes in Europe if the problems in Canada cannot be settled first, and the labor problem is one of our greatest." This was the message to the National Industrial Conference delivered by John Bruce, of Toronto, spokesman for the labour group when he rose this morning to speak on the need of unity in Canada's labor laws. There was a pressing need for unity in Canada's labor laws. There was a pressing need for unity in solving Canada's labor problem, said Mr. Bruce, and he appealed to every one to drop all feeling of hostility and approach the questions before the conference in a spirit of human good fellowship, that their deliberations might be productive of the greatest good.

"Third group," in the conference, representing agriculture, the civil service, the G. W. V. A. and the public interests generally has been given a voice in the shaping of Committee reports, although the delegates on the committees will have no voting power. This was decided upon when a report of the committee on arrangements was adopted this morning. Instead of the joint committees being composed of three delegates from each of the employees and employers group only, there will also be two delegates from the third group.

Industrial Relations

Another question was decided this morning when a special committee was decided upon to take up "consideration of the recommendations of the Royal Commission on industrial relations: that the finding of the Commission be put into effect in all work controlled by the government where the principles of democratic management can be applied."

This special committee was urged before the adjournment last night by Tom Moore, President of the Dominion Trades and Labor Congress, who pointed out that it's purpose was simply to give civil servants and public employees the same right as those employed by corporations and private arrangements concurred in the suggestion and the amendment to the agenda was carried.

There was a good attendance when the conference opened this morning, and many ladies were among those who had seats outside of the brass railing which enclosed the space reserved for the delegates.

Following the name of Committees Senator Robertson, Chairman of the

RUDDY CHEEKS, SPARKLING EYES, WOMANLY HEALTH

Thousands of Vigorous, Happy Girls and Women Endorse the Treatment.

BRINGS KEEN APPETITE GOOD SPIRITS

Women who are all played out, droopy, pale, nervous, and irritable will certainly be greatly interested. So will folks who are embarrassed with pimples, rashes, and pallid complexion.

The real joy of living is best known to those who keep the blood pure and the system toned by the use of Dr. Hamilton's Pills, a soothing tonic laxative that puts health, vim, and spirits into those who lack these qualities.

You will be stronger, better nourished, in better spirits, and sleep better after using Dr. Hamilton's Pills.

This wonderful medicine will do you good in a hundred ways. It will put spring in your step, an attractive brightness in your eyes, and on your cheeks will be stamped the glow and blush of a June rose. All this is possible because Dr. Hamilton's Pills bring about vigorous digestion, perfect assimilation, pure blood, and a proper working of all the organs.

ABOUT TIME SHE DID

The line at the window in the bank was long, and the Woman perched first on one tired foot and then on another as she waited her turn. Fortunately the wait was enlivened by the conversation of two stout creatures just ahead of her.

One read the headlines in her morning's paper and passed on the information gleaned to a friend. "Thank heaven," said she who read, "this old war isn't given all the space in the papers any more. I got so tired of reading of the mud and the trenches and the cooties."

"I too," agreed Friend. "I wish you'd tell me what the 'cooties' are. I never did have the least idea."

Conference, asked the members of the committees to address the provincial government representatives of the time and place of their meetings so that any matters affecting the Province could be discussed between the Government representatives and the committees.

Hon. N. W. Rowell was among the members of the government in attendance when the meeting opened and several of the provincial officials were provided with seats at the secretary's table.

Too Many Laws

Mr. Bruce in the course of his address on behalf of labor, strongly urged the co-ordination of federal and provincial laws affecting labor. The multiplicity of labor laws in Canada, he said, was a cause of discontent. He suggested the appointment of a committee to consider the matter.

Doubt as to the advisability of co-ordinating labor legislation was expressed by J. R. Shaw, of Woodstock, a representative of the employers' group. He declared that such a task would be impossible for the conference to accomplish.

Mr. Thomas Moore and other labor representatives strongly supported the views expressed by Mr. Bruce.

During consideration of the report of the Royal Commission on hours of labor, J. A. McLelland said the demand for shorter working hours was the growth of years. Reduction in hours of work had increased production and a working man felt he had a right to something else of life beyond eating, sleeping and working.

The committee on the labor features of the peace treaty met immediately after the noon adjournment and this afternoon the question of hours of labor will be brought before the convention in a paper to be delivered by M. P. White, of Toronto.
