THE ROAD TO RECOVERY

A letter which recently appeared in the London Times points out in a straightforward way the road to recovery from the effects of the war. The writer, J. A. R. Marriott, is inclined to take a whack at some of those in authority who are inclined to show lack of courage. Here is what he says:

"There are, however, three expedients which could and should be resorted to at once:

"(1) The state, which is penniless, should refrain from spending what it has not got, except upon absolute necessities. This does not sound difficult but it calls for high courage in those who initiate and control policy and for unselfishness among departmental administrators, some of whom must see their jobs disappear.

"(2) Individuals who have money to spend must refrain from spending it except on necessities. This sounds hard, especially upon those who have practiced voluntary abstinence during the last five years, but nothing would do more to reduce prices. Can any reasonable person be expected to follow this counsel of perfection? Only on condition, that there is a restoration of economic confidence, and that irresponsible financiers refrain from advocating schemes which will penalize thrift and put a premium upon personal extravagance. The 'taxation of war profits,' for instance, is an attractive cry, and I should cordially support the project provided a scheme could be devised which would not penalize the thrifty and allow the selfish and the extravagant to go free.

"(3) Above all, some responsible statesman who is willing to risk place and popularity and has both (to lose) must have the courage to tell the manual workers the blunt truth, that if they want to see a reduction in the price (as distinct from the value) of commodities they must be prepared to face a reduction in money (as distinct from real) wages. Such a warning may have been issued, but I have not seen or heard of it. It is a word that needs to be spoken, and spoken now."

The increase in the discount rate of the Bank of England and of the Federal Reserve Bank in United States is the first indication that financial corporations are taking notice of the vast amount of speculation which is being indulged in everywhere. It is a symptom of what may be expected in the future when all propositions put before bankers will be more closely scrutinized than hitherto.

New York Herald: New York presents to the Prince of Wales the assurances of its distinguished consideration and hope that the city will impress him as favorably as he is bound to impress it. That he will have as good a time while he is here as his grandfather had before him there is no reason to doubt. On many occasions while he was in Canada our visitor expressed keen interest in what he was to see in the London of the New World. One thing, we think, is certain—when he sails away on the Recon he will carry with him a keen sense of the fact that the busy people of this metropolis are not so self-centred as some persons seem to imagine, and that hospitality is with us a very easy and very pleasant occupation when it has the right sort of an object.

With an ordinary jackknife, Dominique Pelletier, of Providence, R. I., has made a wooden model of a sedan touring car 14 inches high and 2 feet long, with the equipment inside and out complete in every detail. A four-cylinder engine of wood has small copper wires running from the "spark plugs" to the "distributor." The removable hood has carved ventilating flanges on the side, and a wooden bumper in front with a spare wheel in the rear marks the vehicle as one "fully equipped for touring." The car is also equipped with lighting facilities, a small battery concealed in under the floor furnishing lights for the headlights and the special tonneau light that is built into the top. A dust pan is included in the construction of the car.

The American Senate made three unsuccessful attempts yesterday to ratify the Peace Treaty, and failing to do so, ended the special session and returned home. The first vote on the resolution stood 39 for and 55 against. A resolution declaring that a state of peace exists will come up next session and is expected to promote a stubborn fight.

It is said that the new farmers' government of Ontario is bent on abolishing Government House. This costly structure was built by the Hearst government and contributed not a little to the defeat of that administration. The fuel bill alone amounts to $10,000 a year. New Brunswick is the only province in Canada which gets along without a government house.

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

Sometimes it is what a man doesn't say that is most interesting.

Man's devotion to woman frequently arouses her feelings—of the tired sort.

Some people never change their minds because they are like the man with only one shirt.

Too many women look upon a marriage certificate as a license to operate a hold-up game.

Love may still make the world go round, but nothing else can be run as cheaply.

Always remember, that a good joke can be made much better by a few nudges with the point of the elbow.

Many a man who howls that he is a victim of a "conspiracy of silence," says Old Ivorydome, "would sue the papers for libel if they published the facts about him."

Eat rice, raw oats and olive oil and you'll live for four hundred years, yelps a diet enthusiast. But we wouldn't want to live four weeks on that sort of provender.

The day before the wedding the girl lets the man think that she doesn't care if she never sees any of her family again, she loves him so much; but a week after the wedding she begins to invite them to visit her, or begins to plan a trip home.

LITTLE PROSPECTS OF GAME

Acadia Refuses to Meet Request of U. N. B. With Regard to Date.

There now is little prospect of U. N. B. and Acadia replaying the match at Wolfville as ordered by the Western Intercollegiate Rugby League Dr. C. C. Jones this morning received from Wolfville a telegram asking if the U.N.B. manager's statement that the U.N.B. team could not play after this week was correct. Dr. Jones replied that it was. A second message was received from Acadia stating that the game could be played Monday or afterward. This almost looks as if Acadia is selecting a date on which U. N. B. cannot play. The matter now is under consideration by the U. N. B. athletic association. If the Acadia proposal is accepted the U. N. B. faculty must reconsider its decision that the team cannot play after this week. Another factor in the situation is that the ground here froze hard last night and practise cannot be carried on safely.

No Announcement Yet

Mr. N. M. Jones of St. John, managing director of the Nashwaak Pulp & Paper Company, who is here today stated that he was not yet in a position to make any announcement concerning the erection of a pulp mill by the company at Marysville or Devon. The property inspected for the company some weeks ago by an expert from the United States with a view to purchase, as mentioned in the Mail at the time, is to be bought from Mr. Albert J. Miles of Devon. Negotiations are still incomplete. With the purchase of the land the erection of a pulp mill at Devon is considered assured, to be operated by power from the dam being built at Marysville.

Relief Committee Met

The Relief Committee of the Fredericton Patriotic Fund met last evening at the Board of Trade rooms. One post-discharge relief cheque was granted to a returned soldier's family which was greatly in need of it to pay hospital and doctor's bills.

Examined the Ink

St. John Times: In King Street this morning a car owned by a company operating in one of the suburbs stopped outside a bank building. One of the office staff went into the bank, the driver remained in the car. An oblong parcel lay on the seat beside him in shape not unlike a "long-neck" and attracted the eye of a liquor inspector passing, who promptly demanded to know the contents. The package was opened and found to contain a large sized bottle of ink, whereupon the inspector somewhat abashed before several people standing by, excused himself and hastily withdrew, though not without a wag on the sidewalk asking how chances were for "a wee drop from his fountain pen."
