PROHIBITION IN THE U. S.

Poor old John Barleycorn has been given some hard knocks in recent years, but the most severe blow of all has been administered in the United States, which country it is announced will become "bone dry" on July 1st next. It will be recalled that when the great republic entered the war an amendment to the Federal Constitution was adopted by both houses of Congress and submitted to the various State governments for ratification. The full text of this amendment was as follows:

Section 1.—After one year from the ratification of this article, the manufacture, sale or transportation of intoxicating liquors within, the importation thereof into, or the exportation thereof from the United States and all territories subject to the jurisdiction thereof for beverage purposes, are hereby prohibited.

Section 2.—The Congress and the several States shall have concurrent power to enforce this article by appropriate legislation.

Section 3.—This article shall be inoperative unless it shall have been ratified as an amendment to the Constitution by the Legislatures of the several States, as provided in the Constitution, within seven years from the date of the submission hereof to the States by the Congress.

Advices from Washington state that thirty-five States have thus far ratified the amendments, which is more than the three-fourths required to make it effective.

While the amendment does not become operative until one year after the ratification, the special war-time legislation enacted by Congress goes into effect next July, when the country will become permanently "dry." This law prevents the manufacture and sale of intoxicants for beverage purposes, and remains in force until the demobilization of the nation's war armies is completed.

The brewers, distillers and hotel men of the great republic have raised a fund of $1,000,000,000 and have organized to prevent the amendment from becoming operative. They will no doubt put up a strenuous fight, but the chances are it will avail them nothing. In California courts action has already been taken and an order restraining the governor from signing the ratification of the amendment has been obtained. It is intimated that similar action will be taken in other States, where it is held that Federal constitutional amendments must be submitted to a referendum. The prohibitionists in the United States have certainly achieved in a peaceful manner the greatest moral victory in the history of the world.

THE HUN STILL BUSY.

The New York Herald is authority for the statement that a campaign of calumny has been started in the United States by Hun agents, which if not checked, promises to become as virulent and dangerous in its way as influenza and bolshevism are in theirs. It says that attacks on great organizations such as the Y. M. C. A. are part of the insidious campaign, and that attempts are being made to pit the armies and navies of one nation against those of another. The Herald does not hesitate to place the blame at the door of the Hun, and in this connection it says:

"We know full well whence some of these attacks emanate and what is behind them. Germany, although she may be very busily occupied settling with her own revolutionists and in evading as well as complying with the terms of the armistice and in trying to make trouble among the nations represented at the peace conference, is not too busy to give the American continent a share of her attentions. She is represented on this side of the water by a number of persons who, during the war, succeeded in evading the Department of Justice and who, posing as Americans, are still doing their best to undermine the ideals and principles by which this country is governed. These persons are very busy now, sneaking back into society, into journalism, into clubs and public resorts, and are poisoning the public mind by their carefully prepared statements and innuendoes."

"The greatest harm is being done among the returning soldiers, especially by making the most of any personal grievances and seeking to prove that they are due to deliberate disregard of their interests by highly placed officers. Therefore it is desirable to warn all and sundry to turn a deaf ear to gossip and tittle-tattle directed against our leaders during the war, against such institutions as the Y. M. C. A., whose splendid work far outweighs any small defects of organization or individual laxities, and against our sister nations who fought and bled with us in the greatest of all causes."

THROUGH OUR SIEVE

Sometimes it looks like the bucolic life is fuller of colic than anything else.

Some men think it is necessary to make fools of themselves every time they have the opportunity.

As John Barleycorn sways dizzily in the balance, the clove business shows signs of panic.

As Old Ivorydome might say: "Most every feller would visit his old home town oftener if it wa'n't for an old livery bill."

Hazel Knutt says that when people make silk purses out of sows' ears it will be easy to get cheap hams from expensive pigs.

We are just beginning to discover that goo droast beef is an excellent substitute for war-time carrot soup.

The girl who reads Freud, Schnitzler, Shaw and Ellen Key may know how to interest and dazzle a man, but it appears to be the girl who reads Robert W. Chambers, The Duchess and Fluffy Stories who knows how to marry him.

A village philosopher says that even fashion's decrees have no terrors for him since he has discovered that he can get a suit of clothes out of his wife's and daughter's last year's skirts and that they can each get a new skirt out of a pair of his last year's trousers.

HAD SEVERE COLD AND TICKLING SENSATION IN THE THROAT.

This trouble is most distressing, and is caused from a cold that has settled in the throat.

How many people have lost a good night's sleep by that nasty, tickling irritating sensation in the throat?

The dry, hard cough keeps you awake, and when you get up in the morning you feel as if you had had no rest at all.

Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which is composed of the most soothing and healing expectorant herbs and barks, combined with the lung healing virtues of the world-famous Norway pine tree, will give almost instant relief in all cases of this nature.

Mrs. G. C. Routley, Bright, Ont., writes: "I take great pleasure in writing you of Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup."

For several weeks I was troubled with a severe cold, and a tickling in the throat. I tried numerous remedies but found no relief until I used Dr. Wood's Norway Pine Syrup, which I had heard so much about, and on taking one bottle got instant relief. I highly recommend it to those who need a quick cure."

So great has been the success of "Dr. Wood's" in curing coughs, colds, bronchitis, etc., it is only natural that many imitations have been placed on the market. The genuine is put up in a yellow wrapper, three pine trees, the trade mark. Price 25c and 50c. Manufactured by the T. Milburn Co., Ltd., Toronto, Ont.

R. Fletcher, New York. Her mother Mrs. L. C. Macnutt is with her.

An Open Winter

Fort Fairfield Review: An observant farmer says that he knows the coming winter to be an open one, from the fact that hornets' nests are found in the ground and not on the bushes, indicating as he thinks, that the hornets know that there would not be snow enough to protect their nests if they were placed on the bushes.

Lieut. W. L. Bonnell and Lieut. W. Budd, of St. Stephen are at the Barker House today.
